

Admiral Hichborn Praises Pe-ru-na

REAL-ADMIRAL HICHBORN.

Admiral's Words Carry Weight.

Rear-Admiral Hichborn is one of the best known officers of our navy. His statements concerning Peru-na will have much weight as they go out in the world. What he says is echoed by many other officers of high standing.

What the Admiral Says.

Philip Hichborn, Rear-Admiral of the U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C., writes: "After the use of Peru-na for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."—Philip Hichborn.

FOUR YEARS OF AGONY.

Whole Foot Nothing But Foul Flesh—Had to Use Cuticles—Cuticura Remedies Best on Earth.

"In the year 1896 the side of my right foot was cut off from the little toe down to the heel, and the physician who had charge of me was trying to sew up the side of my foot, but with no success. At last my whole foot was cut away above my calf was nothing but foul flesh. I suffered untold agonies for four years, and tried different physicians and all kinds of ointments. I could walk only with crutches. In two weeks afterwards I saw a change in my limb. Then I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment often during the day, and kept it up for seven months, when my limb was healed up just the same as if I never had trouble. It is eight months now since I stopped using Cuticura Remedies, the best on God's earth. I am working at the present day, after five years of suffering. The cost of Cuticura Ointment and Soap was only $60, but the doctors' bills were more like $600. John M. Lloyd, 718 S. Arch Ave., Alliance, Ohio, June 27, 1905."

Lots of fun we have wouldn't be if it was cheaper.

Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein is Nature's great remedy—Cures Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all throat and lung troubles. At druggists, 25c., 50c., and $1.00 per bottle.

Upset Clerical Dignity.

The minister who had the reputation of never relaxing from his dignity was trying to prove to a few congenial friends that the reputation was not deserved. "Why, one day I laughed right out in the pulpit," he said, "and I did not get over the disgrace of it for several weeks. But it was one of those times when my sense of humor got the better of my ministerial calm."

"It was one hot summer day, and my church was very close to a house. The windows of the church were open, and we could hear distinctly the murmur of voices next door. I had just offered prayer, and there was the intense silence which always follows an invocation. In the solemn silence a woman's harsh voice screamed: "John, where are the nails?" And a gruff voice answered: "In the coffee pot, you fool. You put them there yourself."

An Ever-Present Fo.

The soldier and the sailor are especially subject to catarrh. In the barracks and on the sea-Peruna is found equally efficacious to overcome this physical enemy. If taken in time it will prevent colds from developing into catarrh. Even after a cold has settled in some organ of the body Peruna can be relied upon as an efficacious remedy to promptly overcome it.

Peruna will relieve catarrh, whether acute or chronic, but a few doses of it taken in the first stages of the disease will be more effective than when the disease has become established.

And Thayer Got The Fox. A member of the Worcester (Mass.) Fur Club once took the Hon. John R. Thayer for a day's hunt. A fox was readily started. Stopping at a cross-road, the host told his guest to ride on to a certain tree at the bend of the road. Mr. Thayer started off, but went to a well known runaway. He and Reynard got there at the same time, and the latter was done for.

Mr. Thayer then drove to the oak tree, and was beginning to skin the fox, when the host came up and said: "Well, well, I never knew a fox to run there before."

"Neither did I," blandly replied Thayer.

EMACIATED BY DIABETES; TORTURED WITH GRAVEL AND KIDNEY PAINS.

Henry Soule, cobbler, of Hammondsport, N. Y., says: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me eight years ago, I've reached 70 and hope to live many years longer. But twenty years ago I had kidney trouble so bad I could not work. Backache was persistent and it was agony to lift anything. Gravel, whirling headaches, dizziness and terrible urinary disorders ran me down from 168 to 100 pounds. Doctors told me I had diabetes and could not live. I was wretched and hopeless when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they cured me eight years ago, and I've been well ever since."

Good for a Year More.

"James," said the principal when that arch mischiefmaker of the high school entered his office in obedience to his request. "I hear too much regarding your class behavior. Miss Shaw says she finds it necessary to provide you during the history period; the supervisor of music complains of your willfully poor singing; Mr. Cowles tells me your attention is usually wandering from class experiments to unscientific demonstrations of your own. Now, James, how long must this lecturing from your different principal severely. "I don't know," replied the truthful James; "but I suppose I have a season ticket."

SOLD HER HUSBAND

The Story of an Australian Woman and Her Troubles.

During the recent hearing of a case at Paddington Police Court, Sydney, New South Wales, it transpired that the plaintiff had sold her husband, against whom she was now proceeding for using threatening language, to a lady with whom she had given an agreement "not to in any way hereafter molest the buyer or take any proceedings against her or join her in any proceedings in any court of law or equity."

The document went on to state: "In the event of any breach of this agreement by me, I do hereby bind myself by heirs, executors and administrators to pay the said purchaser the sum of £500 as and for liquidated damages." Despite this being duly signed and witnessed, the defendant's solicitor alleged that the wife had repented of the transaction and was taking proceedings for a judicial separation. The summons was eventually dismissed.

At Munich recently a woman sold her husband, a good-looking ne'er-do-well to a neighbor for a small sum of money, and was pleased enough with her bargain until, on a distant relative's death, he came into a considerable fortune. Then she attempted to resume her marital rights, but was so effectually resisted by her ex-husband's present possessor that she resolved to have recourse to the law's intervention. To this end she consulted a lawyer, only to find that, through some technical flaw, her own marriage was illegal and her claim on man and fortune consequently invalid.

For 100 francs a Parisian landress sold her husband, whose laziness and intemperance seemed incurable, to the proprietress of a rival establishment. Under the new regime, however, the man was compelled to turn over a new leaf, and soon became such a model helpmate that his legal spouse began to regret the transaction and made advances to regain possession. These the purchaser resented, and, on intercepting a letter from the seller to her husband, repaired to the former's house with a stick, which she wielded with such vigor that the victim's cries reached the ears of a passing policeman, whose authoritative appearance alone imposed peace.

In the early '80s the writer was present at an inn in Crazeau when a woman put up her husband to auction. She herself acted as auctioneer, while the lot to be disposed of—a strapping young fellow of not unimposing appearance, who was evidently not averse to the proceedings—sat on a stool at her feet. Bids came briskly, and the man was ultimately knocked down to a comely, if mature, widow, with whom he left the hostelry, evidently on the best of terms with himself and his purchaser.

Even in our own country similar transactions are on record. The end of the eighteenth century affords more than one example of such illegal barter. In 1774 a Mrs. Crutley, of Leeds, employed the town clerk to make public announcement that she would on a day named sell her husband, described as a good carpenter and a faithful husband, to the highest bidder. Despite the enulogy bestowed upon him, the man must have had grievous faults, for he fetched no more than five shillings and a gallon of gin.

A slightly better price was paid for a Southampton man who in 1801 was sold by his wife, a Mrs. Bruce, at an inn in Hampshire town. He was fastened around the neck with a halter, which was held by his wife, who, having assured those present that her husband was faithful, industrious, and reasonably sober, invited bids. These came briskly, a guinea and a bottle of brandy ultimately placing the husband in the possession of the proprietress of a chandler's shop.

At Manchester a few years previously a man named Price was sold in the market place by his wife, who, to stimulate the bidding, first proclaimed his many accomplishments, whereof the wide range extended from boot-making to flute playing. This Adm. Crichton was the object of a keen contest, and it was not until a guinea, a new dress and a pair of fowls had been bid that he was knocked down.

Tit-Bits.

A Man Who Saved Napoleon's Life.

A writer in a Dublin newspaper has discovered a long forgotten book, published in London in 1820, which contains a series of letters describing a tour in Ireland in 1812 by I. B. Trotter, who was a friend of Charles James Fox. Mr. Trotter relates that the Rev. Father Redmond, who was parish priest of the little town of Ferns on the occasion of his visit, had actually saved Napoleon's life.

"Accident," writes Mr. Trotter, "introduced me to Rev. Mr. Redmond, priest of the place, who related to me a curious little anecdote. When pursuing his studies and finishing his course of education in France he had spent a summer in Bas Poiteau, where General Bonaparte, then a thin, slight young boy, was. He had slept in the same room with him six weeks, and perceived nothing striking or engaging in him. He was generally employed in making machinery, which he placed on a small watercourse. As the party were one day shooting, Bonaparte, who was not very active, fell into a brook five feet deep, which he endeavored to leap across. He was nearly drowned, when Mr. Redmond immediately discharged his piece and presented the end to him, by which he saved his life."

Mr. Trotter inquired whether Napoleon had ever shown him any gratitude for this service, and was thus answered: "No, and I assure you, sir, I do not admire his principles."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Sound That Crows Like a Rooster.

Samuel Riley, a farmer living a few miles from this city, owns a dog that crows like a rooster. Before giving vent to a crow the dog stretches himself on his back and gives a loud yell. Whenever the roosters crow at midnight or at the break of day the dog is quick to get into the contest. Mr. Riley has one rooster for which the dog seems to have a special affinity. When the rooster crows the dog is sure to do likewise.

The crowing dog is an ordinary foxhound, but is worthless for all purposes for which he was bred.—Evanville Correspondence Indianapolis News.

COMMERCIAL

R. G. Day & Co.'s Weekly Trade Review says:

"Wholesale business is becoming more active and the volume of shipments is up to the standard for this time of the year. Clothing manufacturers report sales of light weights slightly ahead of last year's and prices are higher, but collections are not up to expectations. The spring season in dry goods has not fully opened, but salesmen on the road are sending in orders, and reports from the South indicate that conditions in that section are very favorable.

"The week in boots and shoes has been only moderate, but sales of rubber footwear have been large owing to the inclement weather. Manufacturers of straw hats are very busy, and there is a brisk demand for skirts and shirtwaists. (Owing to the holidays, trade in lumber at wholesale has been quiet, though prices are firm and money easy, and prospects for the current year are exceptionally good. Machinery supply dealers report a good volume of business and collections better than for some time past.

"Furniture factories are fairly busy, with prices unchanged and collections improving. Wholesale trade in drugs and chemicals is improving, though collections are unsatisfactory. The leaf tobacco market is inactive, money is tight and prices high. Manufacturers of harness are doing a brisk business, collections are prompt and values strong."
