Concerning Wallpaper. Each room needs special consideration, the tastes of the family must be regarded.

A green room is usually the most restful, and has the advantage of being a color of which we do not get tired of living with.

A red room is stimulating, and a little goes a long way, as it is somewhat of an overpowering color used in a mass.

Blue is a cheerful color and therefore most useful in furnishing summer cottages. There are blue and blues, the gray and green blues do not have the cold appearance of delft.

Yellow is a cheerful color and especially pleasing at night, in a room with a north aspect it atones for the lack of sunshine.

Browns and tans being neutral almost as useful as green, and are good to live with. Now as all these points have to be considered before even the color of a room can be decided upon.

The color of a room having been decided a paper must be duly considered. If the room will have many pictures and possesses many openings in the way of doors and windows, a plain surface will be best.

MAGNIFICENT GIBSON DRAWING FEER. A series of ten articles on pen and ink drawing, illustrated with pictures by Charles Dana Gibson.

The Gibson drawings which illustrate them will be issued in the form of special supplements. Each picture will be printed on fine, heavy paper, in half-tone black on a delicate buff background.

There will be ten articles, each carrying a Gibson supplement to illustrate it. The first subject is "The Weaker Sex Under the Microscope." This picture shows Gibson at his best.

The demand for the Gibson pictures is certain to be unusually strong, and the reader who wants all the picture supplements and articles should subscribe for ten weeks and secure them.

The publishers report an advance demand unannounced by that created by the announcement of any special feature.

TRAIN THROUGH CUMBERLAND.

First Trip Over Western Maryland Extension. Special Carried Officials.

The Advocate, Hancock, says that on the 8th inst., a passenger train completed its first trip over the Western Maryland extension from Big Pool to Cumberland.

The special carrying the officials arrived here, Monday morning, on the return trip.

The new extension is about 65 miles long, and extends from Cherry Run to Cumberland.

There are a number of tunnels on the road, the construction of which tended to make it one of the most expensive links of railroad built in recent years.

Work on the extension was started July 21, 1903, and the first 10 miles from Cherry Run to Hancock were finished in 1904 and put into operation.

The End of the World of troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters.

Two years ago kidney trouble caused me great suffering, which I never would have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of general debility.

It is even well to make notes of any points as they come up, so that when you go to buy, the brain has not to be taxed for remembrance of each detail under consideration.
