Celebrated His 65th Birthday.

On last Saturday morning as the sun rose clear and bright, and the prospects for a beautiful day had come, the friends and neighbors of Rev. Henry Wolf thought they would give him a surprise. And as he was leisurely reading his morning literature, he was accosted by strange voices, and appearing at the windows he saw conveyances and people walking, and on further observation he saw baskets and boxes when it came to him that they were making him a surprise. And so it was for him.

When they had all gathered in about him, they numbered thirty-eight, ranging from five months to 89 years of age, as mother Shaffer was there, and that day she was 89 years old.

All who were there enjoyed a good dinner, and Mr. Wolf received a nice lot of useful presents which he was more than grateful for.

Those present were Sylvester Cunningham and family, Beaver Gress and family, John Raker family, Nick Finiff and family, Ed Croft and daughter, Clyde Gress, Samuel Wible and wife, Adam Oyler and wife, H. W. Ewing and daughter Mary, John Shaffer and family.

The day was spent very pleasantly by social chat and music by graphophone and accordion, and when the time came to go home they only wished for the same occasion to happen often. The evening was spent in making and eating ice cream and cake.

Grows of a Dyspeptic.

A girl may be afraid of mice, but she has no fear of the microbes in kases.

A girl never loved any the less because she has money in her own right.

Woman's rights furnish a topic for conversation more often than men's wrongs.

A woman knows almost as much about a railway time table as a bachelor does about a baby.

It doesn't require any great artistic ability to enable a woman to draw an uncharitable inference.

After a woman succeeds in capturing a husband she doesn't consider marriage the one object in life.

The average girl would rather marry in haste and repent at leisure than to never have a chance at all.
