A Poser. It was at an English election meeting, and an excited man shouted to the candidate:

"Don't beat about the bush; answer my question 'Yes' or 'No'!"

The candidate replied, "But, my dear sir, there are some questions which cannot be answered 'Yes' or 'No.'"

The interrupter replied rudely with the single exclamation "Bosh!"

"Very well," replied the speaker, "I will prove what I say. Now sir, the question I will put to you is this: 'Have you left off beating your wife?'"

Notice. Letter to C. J. Brewer. Dear Sir: A big mill-owner, Spartansburg, S. C., wanted 5,000 gallons of paint, and bought by price; paid 5 cents less than ours; got a "lead-and-zinc" paint; but the lead was sulphate of lead, not carbonate. Sulphate costs about half; and covers about half.

That paint was adulterated about six times as much as the 5 cents paid for. He "saved" 5 cents; and it cost him 30.

Oh no; it cost him more than that; we forgot the labor. Can't work it out exactly; don't know how long it'll wear.

Short-measure besides; that alone was twice as much as his "saving"; 5 cents.

It was thin, too; some loss there; don't know how much.

There was too much dryer in it. The maker made something on that; he didn't.

Taking it altogether, he didn't make much by that 5 cents.

Go by the name: and the name is Devco lead-and-zinc.

Yours truly F. W. DEVOE & Co., New York.

First Told About God.

A village in Mexico of 1,000 souls, not one of whom had heard of a God—such is the story told by Rev. S. G. Inman, a minister of the Christian church at Monterey, says the Mexican Herald.

Nestling in a deep valley 23 miles from Saltillo and shut off from the rest of the world by high and impassable cliffs, the pure Indians have lived for generations still worshipping their stone and wooden images and utterly unlearned in everything pertaining to a Supreme Being, according to Mr. Inman, who has written to friends in the city of Mexico concerning his strange find.

San Domingo is what the town is called, though why and wherefore none of the elders of that village could tell. It had been called that for generations and more and they did not know the insignificance of the words.

It was by accident that Mr. Inman stumbled on the quaint and curious village, hemmed in by precipitous crags. He was riding overland toward Saltillo when he came to a deep cut in the mountain which he followed and which led to the town of Santo Domingo.

White men had been there before and the sight of the missionary was no novelty to the pure Indian descendants that thronged around his horse and offered their hospitality—poor, but the best they had.

After partaking of it and ascertaining through the guide who accompanied him that the Indians knew nothing of a God or a creator of all things, the minister deemed it best to hold some sort of meeting and give spiritual instruction. This could not be accomplished at the first trip and Mr. Inman returned to Monterey, where arrangements are now being made to hold regular meetings there and install some Christianity into the descendants of the aborigines.

A native speaker will lecture in their own tongue, which is pure Indian without admixture of Spanish words, and it is thought that they will soon be familiar with the religion of Christianity as expounded by the ministers of the Christian church.
