Two women by name of Daniels, up in West Virginia, were tried before the court for stealing a hog. The evidence was against them but a jury found them not guilty. The judge hearing the jury's verdict, said it reminded him of the verdict rendered by an Irish jury, which to his mind should have been rendered in this case. The verdict of the Irish jury was: "We, the jury, find the prisoner who stole the hog, not guilty."

Seventeen Year Locust.

In his April bulletin Professor H. A. Surface, state economic zoologist, says that the seventeen year locust will make its appearance in Pennsylvania this year and that they may possibly spread all over the state.

Dr. Surface will not say positively that their appearance will be general, but he says they are certain to appear in Columbia, Montour, Northumberland, Snyder, Juniata, Mifflin, Centre, Huntingdon, Blair, Cambria and Clearfield counties.

As we had the locusts in 1902, they will not be due in this county until 1919, so we have thirteen years to prepare for them.

"A Man Who Can Do Things."

Some years ago, a group of New York financiers interested in acquiring entrance for a certain railway system into Pittsburg were in consultation over what seemed some insurmountable legal obstacle in the way of their desires. All but Baer, who was present, had expressed their opinion that the thing was impossible. Morgan finally turned to him and asked:

"What do you think about it?" "I believe it can be done," was the terse reply. "In fact, I have already prepared a brief on the subject, which is in my desk, and if you will give me time to consult it and consider the subject I am certain that I can show you how it can be accomplished."

Mr. Morgan looked at him a moment, and then, with a hearty slap on his back, exclaimed: "You're my man; I want a man who can do things."

The meeting was adjourned, and when reconvened Baer made good his promise, after which the thing was accomplished.

Among those present at the first meeting was President Harris, of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway. Soon after these occurrences, he was succeeded by Mr. Baer.

Far-sight and preparedness are two of his chief characteristics. Seeing, many years ahead, the obvious necessities of the interests with which he was identified. Mr. Baer has frequently, as in the above instance, come prepared beforehand to clear the difficulties from the situations which his colleagues had not anticipated. Thus, without the arts of the courtier, indifferent to personal sympathies or antipathies, without recourse to flattery or cajolery, Mr. Baer relies on a blunt statement of facts, and as the interests he serves usually are bettered by following the lead of his judgment, he has made himself a pre-eminently necessary part of their organization.—From "George F. Baer: Master Spirit of the Anthracite Industry," by Frederic Wm. Unger, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for May.

Wire Fence! Wire Fence! Much Cheaper Than Any Style of Wood Fence

Let us figure together. A stick of timber that will square 6 inches and is 16 1/2 feet in length, will make 8 1/2 feet of lumber, which at $1.50 a hundred, is worth 75 cents. Now, I can sell you a good wire fence for 32c a rod, which is less than half the cost of a board fence.

The style I sell at 32c is a "banker" fence. A witness in court was once asked what kind of fence he had, when he made the reply, "I have a 'banker' fence." "What kind of fence is that, thundered the court." "A 'banker' fence," answered the witness, "is a fence that is horse-high, bull-strong, and pig-tight." That is just the kind of fence I sell. The price ranges from 22c to 60c, a rod depending on the style and height.

I also sell the
