A man was heard to remark on the street one day last week that he would as soon believe a man evolved from a camel as to believe he sprang from a monkey. We hadn't. The camel will work seven days without drinking, and a man occasionally drinks seven days without working. If one is to be judged by habits, he might be led to believe that a man sprang from goats. They are the only animals that pester tobacco, both wear whiskers and are inclined to butt in.—Ex.

The value of free alcohol to the public can be better appreciated when the many uses of this product are known to the farmers of the country. Uncle Sam is to show the public in the near future how to use denatured alcohol as a fuel for heating and cooking purposes at home and for lighting the houses and country roads. He is to teach the farmers how they may save time and expense by making their fuel and lights at so small a cost that their living expenses will be reduced to a minimum and their conveniences so greatly increased that they will find real luxury in living on a farm.

A sweet breath adds to the joy of a kiss. You wouldn't want to kiss your wife, mother or sweet-heart with a bad breath. You can't have a sweet breath without a healthy stomach. You can't have a healthy stomach without perfect digestion. There is only one remedy that digests what you eat and makes the breath as sweet as a rose—and that remedy is Kodol for Dyspepsia. It is a relief for sour stomach, palpitation of the heart, and other ailments arising from disorder of the stomach and digestion. Take a little Kodol after your meals and see what it will do for you. Sold by Stouteagle & Bro.

We are a restless people. Every thin woman longs to be fat. Every fat woman wants to grow thin. Every town man longs for the quiet of the country, and every farmer longs to quit work and move to town, where he can take life easy. Country newspaper men would like to try their hand on a city daily. The fellows on the daises dream of a time when they can own a paper of their own. In youth we yearn for maturity, in age we yearn for the happy days of childhood. There is no excuse for it other than that we all seem to be built that way. The grass seems to be just a little bit greener and thriflier in many a direction from the place you occupy right now. Contentment is as near to happiness as you can get in this world.

NEEDMORE.

The heaviest storm of wind and rain of the season passed over this section Monday evening.

Prof. B. N. Palmer, of Dunlo, Cambria county, dropped in among his friends here last Saturday evening.

P. N. Runyan went to Three Springs, last Friday to letter and erect some marble he had shipped there.

S. M. Clevenger spent last Saturday evening with the family of his daughter, at Fairplay, on Broadtop.

Our fever patient, Frank Mellett, we are glad to say, is convalescing; and, also, Mrs. Runyan seems somewhat stronger.

N. H. Peck returned from Pittsburgh last Monday, accompanied by his son Walter and family.

Dennis Morgret and wife were the guests of A. Runyan's family last Sunday evening.

Daniel Truax and son, the Nebraska pony people, returned to their home last Monday.

Grant Barnhart and Fred Bryan spent Sunday with friends at Millstone Point and Big Pool, Md.

S. L. Wink and wife, of Sipes Mill, were guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Snyder, last Sunday.

Elijah Wink, who had been working for some time for the Pennsy people, near Pittsburgh, returned home last week.

The Right to Learn a Trade.

President Luther, of Trinity College, in his address to the American Institute of Instructors at New Haven on Wednesday, uttered a serious arraignment of his country when he said that the best workmen in the country today are either old men or are imported from Europe. Whether the actual conditions justify so extreme a statement it is not necessary to inquire, but if the restrictions placed by the labor unions upon apprenticeships do not yield such results the fault will not lie with those bodies. Under the selfish and short sighted policy of the unions the American boy is at present practically denied the right to learn a trade, and if it be true that the standard of American workmanship is steadily and surely deteriorating, as alleged, the cause can be traced directly to the authors of that policy in the trades unions of the country.

The remedy for this lamentable condition of affairs will be found in the acquisition of common sense by those who direct the affairs of the unions. The prospect of any immediate consummation of this sort is unfortunately remote, so the next best thing will be for the State to undertake that which could and should be done in the shops, mills and factories. The establishment of trade schools, in which the boy could learn to use his hands free from the jealous interference of incompetent journeymen on the one hand, and from the greedy exactions of an unprincipled employer on the other, might go a long way toward the solution of the problem and the restoration of a high standard of American workmanship. It may be, as President Luther maintains, that a bright boy could learn more in two years in such a school than in four in the shop under an apprentice system, but such schools would reach only a portion of the boys who ought to have the opportunity to learn a trade, and the shops should not be closed to them.

It is always well to have a box of salve in the house. Sunburn, cuts, bruises, piles and boils yield to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Should keep a box on hand at all times to provide for emergencies.
