It has been but a few years since the cotton gin, the "spinning jenny" and the power floom displaced the hand picker, the spinning wheel and the hand loom; since the reaper and binder, the rake and tedder, the mowing machine took the place of the old cradle, scythe, pitchfork and hand rake; since the friction, match superseded the flint and tinder; since modern paint factory replaced the siab and muller, the paint pot and paddle.

in every case where machinery has been introduced to replace hand labor, the laborers have resisted the change; and as the weavers, the sempstresses, and the farm laborers protested against new-fangled looms, sewing machines and agricultural implements, so in more recent times compositors have protested against typesetting machines, glass blowers against bottle-blowing machines, and painters against ready mixed paints. And as in the case of these shortsighted classes of an earlier day, so with their imitators of to-day, the protest will be in vain. It is a protest against civilization, against the common weal, against their own wel-

The history of all mechanical improvements shows that workmen are the first to be benefited by them. The invention of the sewing machine. instead of throwing thousands of women out of employment, increased the demand to such an extent that thousands of women have been employed, at better wages, for shorter urs and easier work where hundreds before worked in laborious misery to eke out a pitiable exist-It was so with spinning and weaving machinery, with agricultural implements-in fact, it is so with every notable improvement. The multiplication of books in the last decade is a direct result of the invention of linotype machinery and fast presses.

The mixed paint industry, in which carefully designed paints for house painting are prepared on a large scale by special machinery, is another improvement of the same type. The cheapness and general excellence of these products has so stimulated the consumption of paint that the demand for the services of painters has correspondingly multiplied. Before the advent of these goods a well-painted house was noticeable from its rarity, whereas to-day an illpainted house is conspicuous.

Nevertholess the painters, as a rule, following the example set by the weavers, the sempstresses and the farm laborers of old, almost to a man, oppose the improvement. It is a real improvement, however, and simply because of that fact the sale of such products has increased until during the present year it will fall not far short of 90,000,000 or 100 .-000,000 gallons.

Hindeight is always better than foresight, and most of us who de-plore the short-sightedness of our ancestors would do well to see that we do not la turn furnish "terrible examplen" to our posterity.

Precantionary Treatment.

The Dutch peasant lives with canals all about him, and reaches his cottage by way of a drawbridge. Perhaps it is in the blood of the Dutch child, says a writer in M. A. P., not to fall into a canal. At all events, the Dutch mother never appears to anticipate such a possibility.

One can imagine the average Engiish or American mother trying to bring up a family in a house surcounded by canals. She would never have a moment's peace until the children were in bed. But then the mere sight of a canal to the English child suggests the delights of a sudden and unexpected bath.

An Englishman inquired of a Dutch-woman, "Does a Butch child ever by any chance fall into a canal?" " she replied, "cases have been known."

"Don't you do anything for it?" continued the questioner.
"Oh, yes," she answered. "We haul them out again."

But what I mean is," explained the Englishman, "don't you do any thing to prevent their falling in To save them from falling in again? Yes," she answered, "we spank them."

Successful Men Who Were Not Rich. We have fallen under a universal witchcraft, declares Francis Bellamy, in Everybody's Magazine. A sense of the power and luxury in money. beyond all the wonder tales, has suddenly come to us. It has turned our fashionable society into a mater-lalism which is no longer ashamed of its poverty of ideals. It is hard and merciless of heart; it is sceptical of unworthy motives; its smart-est relish is for the strokes and ruses of the manipulators of finance. In times like these, it is good to reer Agassiz, who refused to lecture at $500 a night because he was stoo busy to make money: Charles Sumner, who leclined to lecture at any prise because, he said, as senator, all his time belonged to Massachusets; Spurgeon, who refused to come to America to deliver fifty lectures at $1,000 a night saving he could to America to deliver fifty lectures at $1,000 a night, saying he could do better—he could stay in London and try to save fifty souls; and Emerson, who steadfastly declined to increase his income beyond $1,200 because he wanted his time to think. Such stories of fine haughtiness did not seem quixotic to the young men in college thirty years ago. A generous idealism was abroad, and it was unashamed.

Unconscious Sarcasm

A Scotch visitor to the Carlyles, in A Scotch visitor to the Carlyles, in Cheyne row, was much struck with the sound proof room which the sage had contrived for himself in the attic, lighted from the top, and where no sight or sound from outside could penetrate. "My certes, this is fine!" cried the old friend, with unconscious carcasm. "Here ye may write and study all the rest of your life and no human being be one bit the wiser."

Tiger And Python Battle. The steamer Indrashima, which arrived in port, brought the story of deadly battle at sea between a python and a Bengal tiger. It was dur ing a terrific storm, and the snake broke out of its box and was washed by the waves into the tiger's cage. and the Bengal attacked it. The snake tried vainly to twist its coils around the body of its enemy, but was handicapped by the heavy sea The encounter lasted about five min utes, when, with a sound like the ripping of a piece of calico, the beast tore the serpent asunder. The water around the cage was crimson with Warning Of Meat Tamine.

A dispatch from Washington says that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson stated that New York City was in grave danger of a meat famine be ginning October 1, and that several millions of people may become vegetarians of necessity, unless preparation is unde immediately by nearby packers to act in conformity with the new meat inspection laws. Mr. Wilson announces his intention of closing up these plants unless the packers obey the law.

Car Men's Pay Goes Up.

The conductors and motormen of the New York Railway Company were agreeably surprised when they learned that the Company had increased their pay considerably. The first-year motormen's pay is increased from $2.10 a day to $2.25; second year, $2.25 to $2.35; third, fourth and fifth years, $2.35 to $2.45. and after five years, $2.50 to $2.60 The pay of conductors in their first year's service is raised from $2 to $2.15; second year, $2.15 to $2.25; third, fourth and fifth years, $2.25 to $2.35, and after five years, $2.35 to $2.45.

Seek Auto On Stranded Ship.

Wreckers have recovered nearly $300,000 of cargo from the hold of the freighter Drumelzier, which went ashore Christmas week, 1904, and sank, during the last three weeks. The prize of all the cargo is a $20,-000 auto. It is deep in the hold of the ship. Captain Smalling reported that it undoubtedly would be recovered in a few days.

For Better Street Car Service. A movement for better street railway accommodations has been begun against the New York City Rail-way Company by the Transit Reform Committee, the Merchants' Associa-tion, the West Side Taxpayers' Association and the Downtown Business Men's Association. The course which these organizations will pursue to get better service will be to obtain the passage by the State Legislature of a bill providing for a lo cal railroad commission.

Political and commercial relations with the countries of Latin America will be whatever our people see fit to make them, maintains the New York Sun. Remarks the Milwaukee Journal: The tip is primarily an expression of a feeling of patronizing superiority of the man who gives it over to the man he gives it to. Nobody ever thinks of giving a tip to an equal. It is only to those one considers beneath him that one dares to offer tips, and he gives them less in gratitude for services rendered than in order to indulge his own feeling of superiority.

The Pan-American Conference has agreed on the "Drago doctrine" and will send it to The Hague, where the International Court of Arbitration will not adopt it. The doctrine is, in effect, that a nation may not collect the debts of a citizen from another nation by force. Considering the character of most international claims, such a law would work little injustice. But it will not soon have the chance to work either justice or injustice, says the New York World.

The Albany Journal declares anarchism is not yet a menace to our institutions, but it is time to take the necessary steps effectually to prevent the possibility of its ever becoming a menace. If more men of prominence will take up the subject for public discussion, it should not be long before the Congress would feel itself impelled to enact a law which would be in all respects reasonable and consistent with American principles.

Admiral Fournier was reported by the Petit Parisien to have "proncuneed the death sentence of battleships' as a result of what was learned at the recent manoeuvres off the French coast. To him was attributed the remark that a fleet worth 800,000,000 francs and as big as the British Mediterranean fleet could have been sunk by ten submarines worth a trifle like 15,000,000 francs. And hence, as you could buy twenty-five of these weapons of the poor, and the brave, for the price of one battleship, why not begin laying down whole swarms of submarines?

WOMEN'S NEGLECT

SUFFERINGTHESUREPENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over over again. "I do not feel well; I so tired all the time !"

Miss Hate McDonald More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the fe-male organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, or other female weakness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The never failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Veg-

Miss Kate McDonald of Woodbridge, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Restored health has meant so much to me that I cannot help from telling about it for the sake of other suffering women.

"For a long time I suffered untold agony with a female trouble and irregularities, which made me a physical wreck, and no one thought I would recover, but Lydin E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me, and made me well and strong, and I feel it my duty to tell other suffering women what a spiendid medicine it is."

For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham.

For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham. daughter-in-law of Lydia E Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful. Address, Lynn, Mass.
