Last Thursday while Rev. A. G. B Powers, of Needmore, was away from home, about thirty-five of the members and friends of his charge gathered at his home to celebrate his 61st birthday. On his return, he found they had gained emrance into his house. They brought with them many useful articles as presents. A well prepared program had been arranged and placed in the hands of A. M. Bivens, The program consisted of prayers, songs, etn , to suit the occasion. The welcome address was given by Rev. T. P. Garland. Response by Rev. Powers, in which he stated that he could remember when he was about two years old, and that his life had been a happy one. The presentation speech was made by George Morgret. Memorial poem by Miss Blanche Smith. The time was spent in pleasant intercourse and all partook of a bountiful dinner. Those from distant neighborhoods were Dr. Fisher and son, of Wartordsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mellott, and daughter, of Laure! Ridge. Smith is as follows :

We greet you to-day, dear Pastor and friend,

On this Memorial Day: This milestone on the shores of time. Which soon will pass away,

We give you joy, love and good will, Which nobly you have earned. By opportunities well employed

And lessons wisely learned. Sixty-one years ago we've heard You started on the unknown way

Where thorns af sorrow and flowers of jox Border your path while here you stay. Walle early in life and your pathway new.

Your life to him you gave, . Who on the cross our she did bear. Who came to earth the lost to save.

Later on when called to work In the ministerial career, In shadowy darkness you did not hait, But labored on, without fear.

For you has been the blessed task Of bringing lost ones in To the fold of Truth and Righteouse

Away from the fields of sin-Oi : iding placins on the Road
