ANNA GOULD GETS DIVORCE

TRUST HAS BEGUN A Complete Victory For the Countess Caste lane.

Paris (By Cable) .- The Tribunat of First Instance of the Seine, Judge Ditte presiding, at noon Wednesday granted a divorce to the Countess de Castellane (formerly Anna Gould, of New York) and gave her the custody of her children, who, however, will not be allowed to be taken from France without the consent of their father, Count Boni de Castellane. The end of the famous case came suddenly. The court brushed aside the demand of the Count's lawyers for an examination of witnesses, and, as anticipated, the public prosecu-tor did not even ask to be heard.

As soon as the court assembled Judge Ditte handed down the judg ment, which is a sweeping victory the Countess. In granting her petition for divorce the court gave Countess the custody children, the Count being allowed only the usual rights to see them and share in the control of their education, which was not contested The Count is given the right to see the children at stated periods at the home of their grandmether and keep them a month annually during the holidays.

No Alimony for Boni. The Count's demand for an "ali-mentary allowance of $50,000 anto be without foundation in law and was rejected.

The only point decided in the Count's favor was the imposition of the inhibition on the Countess to take the children out of France without their father's consent. The court appointed the president

The judgment was given, with costs, against the Count. The de-cree, the reading of which had hardly nsumed five minutes, was delivered by the judge in a voice so low as to be practically inaudible to the eager crowd filling the courtroom. women climbed the chairs in vair efforts to hear the decision, and when they were aware that a divorce was granted they seemed actually to resent the loss of a public trial, which people in high society would be compelled to testify.

Hanlian and his family are from Vienna, Austria. and are walking around the world on a wager to complete the journey in seven years. They set out on their strange trip on September 12, 1900, and thus far have covered 27,974 miles. New York City is their obfiles. New York City is their ob-jective point, whence they sail for South America and then to Australia. If they complete the journey in the specified time a purse of $10,000 awaits them in Vienna. The town Council of Gettysburg has decided to have the Centre Square and one block running out in each direction from the Square together with one other principal block, paved with vitrified brick, the work to be done at the rate of one square per year. All the other streets and squares in the town are to be constructed in a manner similar to the macadam avenues on the battlefield.
