U. S. DISPENSATORY

Describes the Principal Ingredients Contained in Pe-ru-na.

Are we claiming too much for Pe-runa when we claim it to be an effective remedy for chronic catarrh? Have we abundant proof that Peruna is in reality such a catarrh remedy? Let us see what the United States Dispensatory says of the principal in-gredients of Peruna.

Take, for instance, the ingredient hydrastis canadensis, or golden seal. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of demucous membranes, chronic praved rhinitis (nasal catarrh), atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach). chronic intestinal catarrh, catarrhal jaundice (catarrh of the liver), and in diseased mucous membranes of the pelvic organs. It is also recommended for the treatment of various forms of diseases peculiar to women.

Another ingredient of Pernna, corydalis formosa, is classed in the United States Dispensatory as a tonic. So also is cubebs classed as a stomachic and as a tonic for the mucous membranes.

Cedron seeds is another ingredient of Peruna, an excellent drug that has been very largely overlooked by the medical profession for the past fifty years. The seeds are to be found in very few drug stores. The United States Dispensatory says of the action of cedron that it is used as a bitter tonic and in the treatment of dysentery, and in intermittent diseases as a substitute for quinine.

Oil of copaiba, another ingredient of Peruna, is classed by the United States Dispensatory as a mild stimulant and diuretic. It acts on the stomach and intestinal tract. It acts as a stimulant on the genito-urinary membranes. Useful in chronic cystitis, arm and take a full breath. chronic dysentery and diarrhea, and some chronic diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Not long ago the sole and absorb-ing mission of Edmonton, in a commercial way, was to bilk ignorant

Klondike adventurers—poor fellows who thought that Alaska was per-haps 100 miles west of Winnipeg— into outfitting there for the land of gold. There were Englishmen bound for the Klondike who brought with them as far as Edmonton their own baled hay—a fact, though it seems impossible, even for an Englishman-and others who brought traction engines to carry them thence merrily over the Rockies to the Klondike, and yet others who had barrels rigged with axles and shafts for horse draft, which in transit nicely mingled nails, sugar, baking carrying power of a whistle or a siren, and also to determine the inpowder and other goods into one homogenous fabric, and many other similarly crazed and wholly idiotic men, who thought they knew where the frontier was and how it might be mastered.-Emerson Hough, in Solar Wrinkle. sleep almost impossible at night.

Metropolis.

A robbers' den, presided over by a beautiful woman, and yielding riches in jewels and stik like the fabled cave of "The Forty Thieves," was uncarthed in the Bronx. The police have taken near $10,000 worth of diamonds, sliks and silverware from the house. Some of the silver bears the monogram of the Waldorf-Astoria and Sherry's, while the gens found hidden are so fine that they could have been stolen only from very weathy persons; those that adorned the woman alone were worth several thousand dollars. The de tectives have also captured the lead-er of the band. They say he has confessed, and that when they round up the rest of the band they will have destroyed one of the most gigantic and perfect criminal organizations in the history of New York.

She Rented Wedding Finery.

Mrs. Louis Goldberg was in the Essex Market Police Court on a summons to show why she should not return the gown which she had rented for her wedding.

On February 3 Gussie Klinger was married to Louis Goldberg. She rented her wedding dress of Sol Beir. She says that he was to include fan, gloves - long, white gloves - and white silk stockings. For the entire outfit she agreed to pay $3. Beir sent for the gown on the morning following the wedding. In fact, he told Magistate Finelite that he sent for it many times. The bride demanded a rebate of $1 because the dealer had failed to send the fan, stockings of any shoes; the gloves were little, short, stingy things, the gown was not clean, and she could not wear it, anyway. "I lend a dress by another girl to wear," she told the Magistrate, and turned on Bier, "What didn't you send the stockings and long gloves? 'But I gave her her money's worth," insisted Beir. "I get some-times $10, $15, $18 for renting a dress, I give it to her for $3. What does she want?" Magistrate Finelite decided, how ever, that he had not kept his agree-ment with the woman, and said that he should return the $3, and that she should then give back the dress Whistles With Sweet Sounds, If the present plans of the Board

The subject was discussed at a meeting of the Board. Director Stratton of the Bureau of Standards said that it was possible, by applying exact scientific principles, to measure the tensity of lights carried by vessels at night. Mr. Stratton urged the Board to require the use in New York harbor of whisties giving forth woft, melodious tones, instead of those that shrick out hideous noises and make life miserable by day and

70-Year-Old Man Not Too Old to Accept a Food Pointer.

"For the last 20 years," writes a Maine man, "I've been troubled-with Dyspepsia and liver complaint, and have tried about every known remedy without much in the way of results until I took up the food question. "A friend recommended Grape Nuts food, after I had taken all sorts of medicines with only occasional, temporary relief.

"This was about nine months ago, and I began the Grape-Nuts for breakfast with cream and a little sugar. Since then I have had the food for at least one meal a day, usually for breakfast.

"Words fail to express the benefit I received from the use of Grape-Nuts. My stomach is almost entirely free from pain and my liver com-plaint is about cured. I have gained fleah, sleep well, can cat nearly any kind of food except greasy, starchy things, and am strong and healthy at the age of 70 years.
