Awful Humor Eating Away Face-Body a Mass of Sores-Cuticura

Cures in Two Weeks. "My little daughter broke out all over My fifthe daughter broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used every-thing recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was being eaten away. Her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of Soap and box of Ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body were as clear as a new-born habe's. I would not be without it again If it cost five dollars, instead of seventy five cents. Mrs. George J. Steese, 701 Co burn St., Akron. Ohio. Aug. 30, 1905."

An interesting demonstration was given at a recent exhibition of physical instruments in London of the fact that an intimate connection exists between the magnitude of the details visible in a microscope and the color of the light used for illuminating the object. When the shorter light-waves, those toward the blue end of the spectrum, are employed, smaller details can be seen than when the light comes fro mthe region of longer waves, toward the yellow and red end of the spectrum. Microscope manufacturers have taken advantage of this fact by producing an apparatus with which the stage can be illuminated at will by light emanating from any chosen portion of the spectrum.

By-Products of Massachusetts Farms.

New England farmers have found that they can add somewhat to their incomes by the harvesting of rather unusual crops. In Western Massa-chusetts each fall the farmers, who clear their land of brush, supply the local mills with hundreds of tons of witch-hazel branches, from which, in the district about Chester, Mass., 990 barrels of extract were produced last year. The price paid the farm-ers is from $2 to $3 a ton. Black-birch brush is gathered for distil-ling a valuable substitute for oil of wintergreen. For this brush, which the farmers formerly burned in clearing their land, they are now paid $3.50 a ton. Last season 1558 tons were used, from which nearly 6000 pounds of oil were obtained. Only experts, it is said, can distin-guish this product from the genuine oil of wintergreen, and it is in great demand by druggists and confection-ers, the local manufacturers obtain-ing it for $2 a pound wholesale. It is used in rheumatic medicines and as a flavoring extract for birch beer. Medicinal oil is distilled from swee fern, which grows in great abund-ance on the rocky hillsides of Western Massachusetts. Its properties are said to be similar to those of witch-hazel, while its odor is more pleasant.—Leslie's Weekly. ern
