To Stir Up Trouble.

The report which they have sent Tokio, it is alleged, will form basis of a systematic campaign to bring about anti-American demonns in Japan and to force Foreign Minister Hayashi, if possible, to Iron demand indemnity and an apology on account of the Japanese disturbances in San Francisco.

These facts became known for the first time when it was learned that T. Takahashi, representative of the Seattle Japanese Society; O. Noda, representative of the San Francisco Japanese Society, and K. Kawakami, staff representative of the Yorozu
(daily newspaper) of Tokio, came to Washington on April 21 and re-mained until May 12, during which time they were negotiating with the Japanese Ambassador looking to the annulment of the Japanese Immigration Limitation Law

This delegation falled in its purpose, and, it is stated, after charging Ambassador Aoki with treachery to Japanese of the Pacific Coast and with misrepresenting conditions to for the Republican nomination for his home government, they tele-graphed to Ototaka Yamaoka, the personal representative of Count Okuma, who was awaiting their report in Seattle, Wash., with the request that he communicate with the anti-administration leaders in Tokio.

Forcing the Fight. Messrs. Takahashi, Noda and Kawakami had an interview with Assistant Secretary of the State Bacon They then telegraphed Yamaoka that they were dissatisfied with the attitude of the State Deparment and the Japanese Embassy, and urged the necessity of carrying the fight to Japan. Acting upon this suggestion, Yamaoka sailed for Japan on May 14 on the steamship Aki, and it was pointed out the renewal of the anti-American agitation in the

With the pleas of guilty and the surrender of all lottery material, the Honduras National Lottery Company, which is the successor of the old Louisiana State Lottery Company, passed out of existence, ending a long struggle of the federal authorities.

The government first attempted to break up the 'ottery business on the passage of the act of 1877 for-bidding the transmission of lottery matter by mail. In 1895 this was supplemented by the act forbidding matter. In 1903 the Supreme Court, by a vote of 5 to 4, upheld the con-stitutionality of the latter enactment.
