A Lock Haven man states that oranges if used plentifully will cure rheumatism. He was confined to his bed with a severe attack of rheumatism sometime ago What is Wrong?

Surely the weather man has gotten twisted in his calculations this spring. Stoves and overcoats have been the rule of the day for some time past when we should have been enjoying the balmy days of Spring.

Are you like the weather man? Have you been doing the opposite of what you should have done, that is, have you been buying elsewhere? We all, as well as the weather man are ilable to get things twisted around once in awhile.

We all hope the weather man will get his bearings and give us good seasonable weather from now on; and we are just as hopeful that you will get your bearings too and trade with us if you haven't been.

May was the best month we have ever had in spite of the fact that it was too cool for Spring goods to sell well. June, with your help, will be even better.

Have you bought that summer dress yet?

We are in a better position now than at any time last season to show you a complete line of Lawns, White Linen, Irish Linen, Dimities; Organdies, Wash Silks, and other summer dress fab.

Such lovely creations of the weaver's art are seldom found in such large variety, and at such reasonable prices as we are offering.

We miss our guess if we cannot please you when it comes to anything in summer dress goods. Try us. Samples forwarded by mail.

Yours for more business.

Every now and then we read of some one who has stepped upon a rusty nail which has penetrated his foot, and that the result was lockjaw, from the effects of which the victim died. If every person were aware of a perfect remedy for such wounds and would apply it, then such reports would cease. The remedy is simple and always at hand; it can be applied by any one, and what is better, it is infallible. It is simply to smoke the wound or any wound that is bruised or inflamed, with a wool en cloth. Twenty minutes in the smoke will remove the pain from the worst case of inflammation, arising from such a wound. People may ridicule this remedy as much as they choose, but when they are afflicted with such wounds let them try the remedy.

Badly Mixed Up. Abraham Brown, of Winterton,

N. and was informed of the medicinal virtue of oranges, so he accordingly purchased an entire box and ate freely of them, with the result that he was soon cured of his troublesome malady. The orange has certain acids which are beneficial to health and as the 'cure'' is not bad to take, it would certainly do no harm to give it a thorough trial.
