Mail Order Houses.
If the mail order house continues to expand their business as they have been doing for the last ten years, there soon will be no room for the home merchant.

It is a notorious fact that the goods they send out are what are known in the trade as "seconds" but their country patrons do not seem to object to that.

There is, however, another side to the case. The mail order house spends immense sums of money in advertising and in sending out catalogs. About half of the home merchants would rather lose trade than to spend money in advertising.

The home merchant is being driven to the wall by these two influences, first his own lack of good business judgment and secondly the country patron's mistaken idea that he can get better bargains abroad than at home.

Rising From the Grave.
A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fertwell, of Locama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience.

"Nothing in the Paper."

Frequently you pick up a local paper, and, after glancing at the headlines, wearily thrust it aside, remarking, "Nothing in the paper to-day."

Some Hints for the Fruit Canner in the Home.

Before putting fruit in glass jars, wash them in soap suds containing a little soda.

If you want the flavor of the fruit to come out well, do not use an excess of sugar.

Never use poor fruit for canning. The best is none too good. Let it be as fresh as possible, and not overripe.

Handle it as little as possible. Have everything in readiness before you begin operations. The woman who has to run to pantry or kitchen every time a thing is wanted, makes herself double the work that is necessary.

Use the best grade of sugar. It may cost a little more than the ordinary, but it will make your fruit enough better to pay the difference in cost.

Do not stir your fruit when it is cooking. If you want to know how it is coming along, take out a piece of it without disturbing the rest.

Give it a brisk boiling. If allowed to stand and simmer it will not retain its shape well.

When the cans are ready for sealing, see that the covers fit perfectly. Never use one that does not hug down tightly to the shoulder of the jar.

To Raise Gold Fish.

M. E. Kefauver, of Middletown, Md., who recently purchased the Devor farm near Fort Loudon, has a force of men at work making a large dam to flood twelve acres of land for the purpose of raising gold fish.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, the Heart or the Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of deeper ailment.
