New Diamond Fields.

At Christiana, a little town in the Transvaal, about 70 miles above Kimberler, an alluvial deposit has been discovered bearing diamonds, and the entire area has been staked out in claims, which are granted by the Government, each 50 yards square. The "digging" for dia-monds, which are found in the surface deposits, is somewhat similar to placer gold-mining. The some 3,-000 diamond miners, representing every nationality, are living in huts and tents with their families. The principal tools and gear of the digger consists of a sleve about six feet two feet, made of galvanized ving, about seven holes to the inch, which is slung on a rough wood frame, dubbed a "baby;" a round sleve of half-inch mesh by 20-inch diameter fixed on the end of the baby near the rocker and a third sieve of seven meshes to the inch. By skillful and dexterous manipula-tion of the screens all the heavy material is concentrated in the center of one of the sieves and upon overturning this upon a rough table, the diamonds, if there are any, are spot-

Wilses-Barre (Special) .- Members of the State Constabulary have given another proof of their efficiency by unraveling a murder case which the county authorities gave up. County detectives recently decided that John Eachor died a natural death. Then the troopers took up the case and unearthed evidence to prove the man died from injuries sustained when he was attacked and beaten by several men.

They learned that these men pur-chased and destroyed their victims clothes as soon as he died, that they threatened to kill two men if they testified and that they made other efforts to hide the crime. The troopers have arrested three suspects and expect to be able to prove a first de-
