Letter to Prof. Lamberson, McConnellsburg Pa.

Dear Sir: Will you give your Arithmetic class—and Algebra class—this problem?
 If average paint is worth $1.60 a gallon, and goes two thirds as far as Devos, and wears half as long, what is Devos worth as far as a painter's wages being $3.50 a day and a day's work a gallon of paint.
 The answer is $11.80 a gallon; but don't tell 'em that.
 Yours truly
 F. W. Devos & Co.
 P. S. J. A. Boyd, Mercersburg and Norman O. Huber Chambersburg, sell our paint.

 The newly wedded couple left on Thursday morning for Chambersburg, the home of the groom, and after spending a few days among friends, they will settle down to housekeeping.

Editors Don't Like It.

If it should enter the mind of any subscriber, that newspaper publishers are behind the order of the postoffice department to cut off from their lists on the first of April, all subscribers who are in arrears more than a year, we publish for their benefit a resolution passed by the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association at their winter meeting at Harrisburg. The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association in annual convention assembled, on Tuesday, January 21, 1908, at Harrisburg, Pa., hereby enters its earnest protest against the enforcement of this unjust and iniquitous ruling for the reason that it will entail a serious and heavy loss upon the publishers of Pennsylvania owing to the short period of time allowed to make collections, and further for the reason that it will deprive the newspapers of hundreds of responsible subscribers in the rural districts who have been accustomed to paying subscription at more or less irregular periods.

The Association also by resolution calls this an "Obnoxious Order of the post office department," and urges "every publisher in the State to communicate at once with the Hon. Bruce Penrose and Hon. P. C. Knox, United States Senators representing this Commonwealth, and also with their respective Congressmen, urging them to use their utmost endeavors to have this obnoxious order of the Post Office Department revoked."

Wasted Men!

"The best men, the business men, the men of character, the men of thought and action, the professional men, in the church," are wanted in the Sunday school of the various congregations of which they are members. "These," says Rev. F. N. Peloubet in "The Front Line of Sunday School Work," help to give character to the Sunday School, as not an institution merely for the children and the uneducated, but one worthy of the best talent and best men. It is the presence of these men as teachers and scholars that furnish the strongest attractions for keeping the young men in the Sunday School. The unofficial layman's example can do what the pastor himself cannot do. It is a sad thing for the church when its leading men ignore the Sunday School.

The classes of men here mentioned are busy men—men who live strenuously during the six week days, and many of them give this as an excuse for absenting themselves from the Bible study service of the church. It is, however, a question worthy of serious consideration as to whether or not it is a valid reason for such manifestation of indifference.

Men say they are too tired to go to Sunday School; must rest so as to be able for the week-day duties awaiting them. "Let those who are not so heavily burdened take care of that work," they say. But where are the men whose service and influence in the Sunday School are worth anything who are not busy during the week? What estimate shall be placed upon the value of the Sunday School in the church? Shall this work be left in the hands of men and women who are of little or no force in secular matters? What right has any man, having the use of his mental faculties and his physical powers to absent himself from the service of that department of the church of Christ which represents the church at work? As long as a man is able to work for himself he ought not to quit working for the Lord.

Yes, there are other ways of doing work for God besides working in the Sunday School. All that we do ought to be done as unto the Lord, and one ought not to take unto himself special credit for doing an act of kindness or of benevolence whenever the opportunity is at hand; but the duty and privilege of Bible study and teaching is of supreme importance. It need not be explained to intelligent men why.

Church history reveals the fact that as the study of the Bible was neglected the church suffered; and that increase of power came with the return to the study and the teaching of the Book. The growth of spiritual power is dependent upon the knowledge of and living the Bible. Without nourishment growth is impossible, and the Bible is the source of spiritual food. Yes, one may study the Bible at home, and this every Christian ought to do every day; and if it is physically impossible for one to go to Sunday School on Sunday, the next best thing is to study at home. If the Bible were taught in every home as it ought to be taught there, the Sunday School would not be so necessary, but how many "busy men" do this? Even if this were done the Sunday School would still be a real necessity to the highest development of the Christian life.

Who, as a Christian man, is not interested in the spiritual welfare of his own boys, or any other boys who are near and dear to his heart? How to keep the "big boy" in the Sunday School has been a very common topic for discussion in Sunday School conventions.

What is it, really, that hinders the non-Sunday School going men from attending this service? Is it the "cares" or the "don't cares"? In relation to their business and their professions all successful men are up to date; but so many of them, when it comes to being about the Father's business in God's house are up-to-date. It has been demonstrated that where the men—such men as are herein designated—are regular attendants in the Sunday School, the boy problem is comparatively easy of solution. The responsibility; where does it rest? In proportion to a man's strength of character so is his influence over others, especially over boys. If Sunday School is not the power in the church in the "bringing up souls to Christ" that it ought to be, the blame falls on somebody. "Is that some body you?"

How Cough Germs Multiply.

When you have a cold the mucous membrane is inflamed and the disease germs which you breathe find lodgement and multiply, especially the pneumonia germ. Foley's Honey and Tar soothes and heals the inflamed air passage, stops the cough and expels the cold from your system. Refuse substitutes. Trout's drug store.

The Sabbath.

It is a matter of no little gratification to the friends of the Christian Sabbath to note the decided progress of reform on this great question as well as in other moral and economical questions. A test case was recently brought before the Supreme Court of New York to determine whether or not theaters, concerts and other amusements on the first day of the week are forbidden by law. Justice O'Gorman in his decision said "All performances in theaters or other places of amusement and entertainment are prohibited by law." "The law is well established in New York that the Christian Sabbath is one of the civil institutions of the State and that for the purpose of protecting the moral and physical well being of the people and preserving the peace, quiet and good order of society the Legislature has authority to regulate its observance and prevent its desecration by appropriate legislation. Not long since Judge William H. Wallace of Jackson County Criminal Court, Mo., issued a statement of his views on Sabbath laws, from which the following is an extract—"Upon the two doctrines that the constitution of man requires and the Word of God commands one day in seven as a day of rest, are grounded the Sunday statutes of the several States of the Union. With rarest exceptions our judicial decisions, whose name is legion, rest on precisely the same foundation. Ministers and priests could not have pronounced the Sabbath more sacred than have the judges. Sunday laws have been declared constitutional by practically every State in the Union.

The Supreme Court of the United States, Justice Brewer rendering the opinion, has decided that we are a religious people and that Christianity is part of our law." These authoritative utterances in their far reaching application serve to remind us of the trend of public sentiment on this vital question and are quite assuring to those who are seeking to promote the Sabbath cause. Fulton County Sabbath Association has reason to congratulate its members that they are engaged in no dying cause. And though in our isolation we may not be able to see as much fruit from our efforts and contributions as would be desirable, it is none the less real and the cause is being advanced with our part in it. At its last annual meeting the Association asked the various churches of the county to take up an offering to help in this work. Only one church has as yet responded to this appeal. Dear friends the Association is dependent upon your liberality for what it can do in assisting the State Association in the great cause.

Will you not let us have your help promptly. Be it ever so small do not fail to give us your offering.

Many people have a narrow escape from pneumonia and consumption as a result of a cold that hangs on. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds no matter how deep seated and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Refuse substitutes. Trout's drug store.

LOCUST GROVE.

La Grippe has the middle of the road; Calvin Morgret is not improving very fast. Mrs. Mary Winters, Mrs. Rebecca Diehl, Mr. Abraham Plessinger, Mr. Levi Smith, Mr. W. C. Martin, and Miss Ada Hoopengardner are all on the sick list at this writing.

Mr. Price Stern, of New Castle, Pa., was visiting his father-in-law, Mr. Denton Hoopengardner a few days last week.
 Miss Lillie Wink attended the funeral of her uncle William J. Layton and then returned to her work at Akersville where she is teaching school and seems to have a good school.

Mr. D. D. Garland has returned from Cumberland where his son Howard is ill with measles. Mr. Garland reports that he is getting along nicely.

The Institute at Oak Grove school, Friday night, was well attended but there were only three teachers present. The program was all performed nicely by the teacher Albert G. Garland.

Mr. E. A. Hoopengardner has a public sale the 10th of March, after which he expects to leave the Cove. Miss Pearl Boor, of Hancock, is visiting friends and relatives in the Cove this week.

IT DOES THE BUSINESS.

Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklin's Arnica Salve. "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c. at Trout's drug store.

A day long to be remembered by Miss Marion Dixon Hessler and her little friends at Salvia, was Friday afternoon, February 28th. It was her sixth birthday and six of her little friends were invited to help celebrate it. The time was spent in playing games and singing. Marion received many beautiful presents. After refreshments the little folks departed all having had a very enjoyable time. Those present were Misses Catherine Austin, Elgors Betz, Nella Bair, Panthea Hann, and Esta Deshong.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Knoble, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."
