This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol For Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach I lost 25 lbs.; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly, and write this hoping that humanity will be benefited. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by Trout's drug store.

In renewing her subscription to the News, Mrs. Chesley Hamilton of 1613 W. Thirty-first St., Minneapolis, Minn., writes that the News is received regularly every week, and no matter what kind of work is going on, the locals must all be looked over before anything more is done. She says that she enjoys the letters in the News from those who have left "Little Fulton" and gone out into other parts of the United States, and into other parts of the world, of which there are not a few—and they all seem to be prospering nicely. Mrs. Hamilton may be better remembered here and in the Cove, as Miss Beckie Hunter.

CHASED BURGLAR.

Last Saturday Night, John W. Snyder, Near Knobsville, Chased Man That Had Attempted to Burglarize His House.

About midnight last Saturday night, the family of John W. Snyder, who live below Hershey's mill, near Knobsville, were aroused by a noise at the sitting room window. Mr. Snyder and other members of the family arose, and sought to find the cause. Upon opening the door, a man was seen to leap from the porch and run away. Further investigation showed that both cellar doors had been opened, and there was every evidence leading them to believe that the midnight visitor meant no good. Soon thereafter they heard the intruder crossing a nearby bridge in a buggy, and then Mr. Snyder hastened to the barn, mounted a fleet horse and started in pursuit. The night was still, and when the robber heard the sound of the horse's feet when crossing the bridge, he whipped up and lit out in great shape. He, however, had too much of a start on Mr. Snyder, and after having gone a distance of a mile darted into the woods on a "blind" road and kept very still while Mr. Snyder passed him. After going a considerable distance further, and not seeing anything of his fugitive, Mr. Snyder concluded that the man had gone into the woods, and returned to keep watch until daylight. The burglar made good his escape, however, and now Mr. Snyder has both eyes open, and expects to be able to make it interesting for somebody yet.
