

SHIPPING ANARCHISTS BACK HOME.

DEALING WITH ANARCHY BEGUN

Washington Officials Admit Difficulties—Not Optimistic as to Outcome of the Latest Measures—Effective Measures Too Drastic to Receive Popular Support—Restrictions on Immigration Immediate to Keep Out Anarchists.

Washington, D. C.—It may not be reassuring information, but the Washington officials are none too optimistic about the outcome of the attempt to drive the anarchists from the United States. These officials whose duty it is to deal directly with the anarchists cannot talk for publication. The officials who can issue orders to immigration inspectors telling them to be alive to their duty have talked for publication, but the talk, like much of the work done, is impotent. Some one here has said that anarchists are made, not born. This is largely true, and anarchists will be made as long as there are anarchist teachers who get within touch of receptive pupils. This means that as long as there are anarchists in the country their ranks will grow daily.

Since the shooting of the priest at the altar in Denver and the attempted killing of the chief of police, Shippy, in Chicago, the Senators and Representatives have been busy talking about immigration measures, but they have confined their talking largely to the corridors and cloak rooms. Most of them are just as afraid to-day to pass a restriction bill that means restriction as they were before the shootings gave them an excuse for the passing of an absolutely drastic measure.

One member, who is not more than one generation removed from being a foreigner himself, told your correspondent that it would not do to draw a line part way up the coast of Europe and to say that no one from below the line should come to this country. "What we ought to do," he said, "is to draw a line down the middle of the Atlantic Ocean and another one down the middle of the Pacific Ocean, and to say no one shall cross."

Restriction Problem Difficult. When a New York Representative, on the floor of the House, spoke in advocacy of a really restrictive immigration measure, several Representatives whose constituents are largely Southern Europeans, at once began missionary work. They told the other members what a wrong it would be to punish the many because of the failings of the few, and they did not neglect to touch on the matter of power, the balance of power, of course, which the men coming from some of the European countries hold at the polls in America.

One member, an Illinois man, told a colleague who was urging no action, that it would be far better for him and for his people in the future to have all immigration stopped from their native country. "As a matter of fact," he said, "I have seen a series of years, until the United States had no opportunity to assimilate those that were here to that point of assimilation which means the dropping of hyphens and writing of themselves as

PANAMA CANAL MUST FAIL, SAYS STEVENS.

Former Chief Engineer of Isthmian Waterway Gives Reasons For Prophecy.

New Haven, Conn.—John F. Stevens, a vice-president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, and a former chief engineer of the Panama Canal, has issued a statement regarding the latter enterprise, in which he prophesies a failure of the undertaking.

In this statement Mr. Stevens says that the canal will not help the United States in trade with South America, as practically all the inhabitants of the Southern Continent are on the east of the Andes, so that it would be of no advantage to make use of the canal to reach there. Mr. Stevens also says that in our commercial relations with the islands of the Pacific and the Far East the canal will be of little value. Our coal and wheat centers are inland. Our products have to be started on their way by rail. When loaded on cars it would be cheaper to ship to the Atlantic and then ship to the East by the way of the canal than it would be to send directly to the ports on our Pacific coast and then get on board ship.

Furthermore, Mr. Stevens believes that our coal supply is fast diminishing and that China will be the coal country for the future. Siberia, he says, will be the wheat country of the future, with India a close second. Mr. Stevens maintains that the Panama Canal cannot hope to become anything more than an expense. It will not meet expenses and it will cost more than is expected. It will be an expensive mistake. It is an advantage to Europe, but not to the United States. The idea of the canal being of great value to us in times of warfare, since our naval forces can be quickly sent from one coast to the other, he says, is utterly absurd. It would take two years to get our ships to Europe during that time hostile shells could have done their work. Mr. Stevens believes that it would be a far wiser plan of defense to put the money that the canal will cost into a greater navy.

Mr. Stevens is not unique, however, as a prophet of evil for ship canals. Forty odd years ago many British and other mercantile economists were convinced that the Suez Canal could never pay expenses. Yet for years the directors of the work have had periodically to reduce their tolls on shipping in order to keep their net yearly profits from exceeding the twenty-five per cent. permitted by the charter, and the $20,000,000 worth of shares which the British Government purchased in 1875 are now estimated to be worth fully $15,000,000. There is no objection to Mr. Stevens keeping company with those who went so wide of the Suez mark.

Halls of Congress. Advocates of woman suffrage made arguments before Senate and House committees. The bill increasing the pay of officers and enlisted men in the army was passed. The Lodge bill to reorganize the consular service of the United States passed the Senate. The House Committee on Naval Affairs voted for the construction of two battleships, rejecting the President's recommendation that four be built.

Weekly Review of Trade and Latest Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade says:

"Favorable symptoms are more numerous in the commercial outlook, especially in respect to the growth of confidence. Jobbers note more pressure to replenish depleted stocks of staple merchandise, orders in many cases being for delivery next fall. The advancing season has also contributed to the better feeling by accelerating the distribution of spring goods and stimulating interest in building operations. Industrial plants are more active, pigiron production rising to the best weekly average in three months. Credits are still closely scanned and mercantile collections are by no means satisfactory, yet payments are more prompt and the volume of business is distinctly heavier. "There is a suggestion of a decline in the steady improvement in the iron and steel industry that would be lacking were recovery more sensational. Each week brings a few more mills and furnaces into the active list, while specifications on old contracts constantly call for a larger tonnage. New business appears in many departments, warmer weather being especially helpful in restoring postponed building operations that will call for much structural steel. "Dry goods jobbers have done more business than expected, but thus far there is little improvement in the primary market and few mills have extended activity. Jobbers will not undertake road operations as early as usual, so that sales will be closer to actual retail distribution and the season's aggregate business will be much less speculative than in any recent year.

Animals and Music.

Experiments have proved on numerous occasions that animals, both domestic and wild, are susceptible to music. Who has not heard a dog howling when touched by sweet strains? Among animals in captivity it was found that all were more or less affected by the sound of a violin. The lions were evidently pleased, opening their eyes to a lively measure, and closing them again when the tune was soft and slow. The bears swung their unwieldy heads in time with the melody, and seemed to be soothed thereby.

The kangaroos and deer both showed much active pleasure, the former jumping and skipping about when a Scotch reel was played. The monkeys, on the other hand displayed curiosity as to how the violinist made such a noise. Once this was satisfied, they paid no further heed to the matter. When the wolves were visited, it was found that low, soft music caused them to relax their restive movements. They lay down in evident content, but when the music became more lively and boisterous they got up and resumed their nervous pacing to and fro.

HOW TO KNOW PURE PAINT.

A Way in Which It May Be Identified Before Using. After a building has been painted long enough for a weather test, it is easy to tell if the paint used was made of pure White Lead or not. But such belated knowledge comes like locking the barn after the colt is stolen. What one wants is a test that will tell the quality of the paint before it and the labor of putting it on are paid for.

Nature has provided a way in which genuine White Lead may be positively distinguished from adulterated or fake White Lead before you spend a cent on your paint. Pure White Lead is made from metallic lead, and under intense heat, such as is produced by a blow-pipe, pure White Lead will resolve itself back into metallic lead. If, however, it is not genuine White Lead, or if it contains the slightest trace of adulteration, the change will not take place. Therefore the "blow-pipe" test is an absolute and final one.

The National Lead Company are urging every one interested in painting to make this test of paint before using it, and they guarantee that the pure White Lead sold under their "Dutch Boy Painter" trade-mark will always prove absolutely pure under the "blow-pipe" or any other test. To make it easy for you to perform the experiment they will send you free upon request a blow-pipe and everything necessary for you to make the test, together with a valuable booklet on paint. Address, National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York City.

Consul Frank W. Mahan writes from Nottingham, England, that the secretary of the Highways Protection League reports that, according to accounts in the press, 982 automobile accidents occurred in Great Britain in 1907, killing 215 persons and injuring 875. For these accidents and other motor car offenses 3,270 persons were summoned, of whom 2,994 were convicted. As the number of automobiles in use is estimated at 45,000, it would seem that one in about every twenty-two did something illegal last year.—Kansas City Journal.

Postage Overpaid. One day a wire basket fell off the top of a clerk's desk and scratched his head. Not having any ointment plaster, he slipped on three or four stamps and continued his work. A few minutes later he had occasion to take over a paper to his employer's private office. When he entered, the "old man," observing the postage stamps on his cheek, fixed him with an astonished stare. "Look here, Jenkins," he said, "you are carrying too much postage; for a second class matter!"—Indianapolis News.

MUSIC STUDENTS Should Have Steady Nerves. The nervous system of the musician is often very sensitive, and any habit like coffee drinking may so upset the nerves as to make regular and necessary daily practice next to impossible. "I practice from seven to eight hours a day and study Harmony 'four hours,'" writes a Mich. music student. "Last September I was so nervous I could only practice a few minutes at a time and mother said I would have to drop my music for a year. "This was terribly discouraging, as I couldn't bear the thought of losing a whole year of study. Becoming convinced that my nervousness was caused largely by coffee, and seeing Postum so highly spoken of, I decided I would test it for a while. "Mother followed the directions carefully and I thought I had never tasted such a delicious drink. We drank Postum every morning instead of coffee, and by November I felt more like myself than for years, and was ready to resume my music. "Now practice as usual, do my studying and when my day's work is finished I am not any more nervous than when I began. "I cannot too highly recommend Postum to musicians who practice half a day. My father is a physician and recommends Postum to his patients. Words cannot express my appreciation for this most valuable health beverage, and experience has proven its superiority over all others. "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in page.
