Blue and White Canton China

There seems to be a peculiar fascination for this product of the city of Canton, in China. How long the Chinese have made the Blue and White ware with its never varying decoration, we shall probably never know, but we may rest assured that it has been made and made exactly the same way it is made to-day, for a great many centuries. The ware is all made by hand which accounts for the great irregularity in shapes, sizes and finish. Our stock of this quaint, beautiful china includes three sizes of Coffee Cups and Saucers, Plates, etc. Odd pieces ranging in price from $1.00 and upwards, Bowls, Platters, Soup and Vegetable Dishes, A. D. Cups and Saucers, etc.

What About a Cook-Stove.
Learn To Do Things Well.

Now that summer time and "dog days" are just ahead, every body who "summers" at home, is considering how to simplify things and get the most comfort out of an uncomfortable situation.

We interview the ice man; order thin clothes; plan to ease up here and relax there; but more than likely forget the one most important item in the whole hot-weather scheme—some means of doing the family cooking without the insufferable heat of a coal fire in the kitchen.

Everyone with experience knows how tiresome it is to stay in a stuffy room to prepare a meal, let alone the doing of a big baking. But everyone doesn't know how very easy it is to change a hot kitchen to a cool one, and do better cooking at the same time. Just add to your list of summer conveniences a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove and you've done all that any one can do to lessen hot weather discomfort.

Wouldn't it be fine of a summer morning to step in the kitchen, put on the kettle, broil the steak, bake the muffins, filter the coffee and give the breakfast call in one fourth the time you'd take to do it all on a coal stove?

And wouldn't it be fine to be as cool when the breakfast was prepared as when you first entered the kitchen?

People who have tried it say that the New Perfection Oil Stove actually does everything in the line of cooking and domestic service without overheating the room or the worker.

Undoubtedly the reason is to be found in the blue flame principle on which the stove works.

A cylindrical chimney concentrates the heat at the stove top and in this way prevents surface radiation as in a coal or wood stove.

It is easy to see that this lesson very much the matter of personal discomfort in summer housekeeping.

So don't forget the New Perfection Oil Stove in your summer plans and you will have a comfortable kitchen and the best cook-stove in the world.

The children before going to bed should have their "hour." The intercourse with mother and father, in which should be sweet communion, the giving of childish confidences, and the exchange of views, is more than beneficial to the child. These moments they will carry through life with them. It seems a hard matter to establish upon the proper footing the confidential relations which should obtain between parent and child, and which are so important to the child later. I have seen the grief of many a mother who finds that her daughter will confide to the veriest stranger matters that she will not speak of to her mother, because "Mother will make such a fuss about it." "Mother cannot understand it." You mothers, whom your daughters need as confidants, whom your sons grow away from, and who grieves in secret over this, analyze the case. You have, perhaps, been too busy looking after the material welfare of your children, or have left them too much to others. Begin at the very beginning to be with your children at bedtime. Go over with them the events of the day as if you were one of them. It is thus that you will come to the secrets of their young lives; it is thus that you will win their confidences, which will form a habit from which they will not depart in after life.—"The Care of Children," in The Ladies' World for March.
