Job L. Garland, Esq., of Bethel township was in town Monday as a witness on the Elliott Akers will.

Insist upon DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. There are substitutes, but there is only one original. It is healing, soothing and cooling and is especially good for piles. Sold at Trout's drug store.

Jere Mason and Thomas Gillette have formed a partnership and will conduct a general store in the Hixson building at Hancock. Jere and Tom know how to sell goods at public sale, and there is no reason why they may not be just as successful behind the counter.

The trouble with most cough cures is that they constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup does not constipate, but on the other hand its laxative principles gently move the bowels. It is pleasant to take and it is especially recommended for children, as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Sold by Trout's drug store.

D. A. Washabaugh, who owns the John B. Hoke farm just west of town, has greatly added to the appearance and value of the dwelling house by having new porches and new windows made, the house repainted, and other improvements that will add much to the comfort of his family. The neat and clean appearance of the barn and other out-buildings makes it altogether one of the nicest farm properties in the neighborhood.

Rats Like Matches.

The insurance companies have little fear of mice; but they know the rats as dangerous enemies. Given the combination of rats and matches, a fire is sure to result. Mice have some discretion; rats have none.

The insurance companies instituted a series of tests with rats and mice in large cages. The mice avoided the dangerous ends of all matches offered them. The rats, on the contrary, chewed every variety of match indiscriminately throughout. Safety matches were the only ones to escape ignition by the mischievous rodents.

Has Started.

Spring trade has started with us now, and we are prepared to give you anything you want in the line of good Tailoring.

GOLDSMITH THE TAILOR.

Making Noodles.

The good old-fashioned chicken noodle soup is hard to beat, if the noodles are home-made. The trouble is too many modern cooks will not take the time for the necessary rolling, without which the paste is worthless.

To make them, mix two well-beaten eggs, with enough flour to make a stiff dough and knead until smooth. If a very white paste is liked, only the whites of the eggs are used.

Divide the mixture into equal parts and roll each into a round ball, which is then put on a well-floured board for rolling. A glass roller by its smoothness of surface is excellent for this part of the process, as the noodles must be rolled until the cakes are almost transparent.

The cutting is likewise important. As the old-fashioned method of having noodles too long for graceful eating is not to be commended.

Before cutting, dry off each sheet of the paste with a napkin; then divide it into halves and quarters and pile them one on top of the other so the edges are even. Cut into narrow strips with sharp knife. The more thread-like the noodles are the better. Set them away to dry and they are ready for soup.

For fancy shapes the paste may be cut with sharp tin cutters.
