The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and nervous debility is the Peruna is not a nervine nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion.

Peruna frees the stomach of catarrhal ongestions and normal digestion is the In other words, Peruna goes to the bot-tom of the whole difficulty, when the dis-sgreeable symptoms disappear. Mrs. J. C. Jamison, Wallace, Cal.,

writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. Was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsis. I was put on a liquid diet for three months. "I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and com-menced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured."

How A Cat Caught Two Rats.

I once had a cat who did a rather remarkable ratting feat. He stalked two young rats on the eaves of a low, flat stable roof, and caught one in the usual way. The other jumped onto an elderberry tree just below.

Bob, however, not satisfied with the one, grasped it firmly in his mouth, and then jumped headlong for the other. Either he was very ucky or extraordinarily agile, for h fell to the ground with one rat still in his mouth and the other in his paws, and promptly killed them both Georgia's Great Peach Crop.

"Down in my State," said Mr. M. R. Campbell, of Valdosta, Ga., "the owners of peach orchards are happy. The prospects of a good yield of peaches are fine, and one of our railroads expects to employ over 2,000 refrigerator cars this season, as against 950 last year. When I was a youngster nobody in Georgia ever thought of selling peaches. The farmer who had them gave them away to every passing traveler. "Today Georgia has 18,000,000 peach trees planted, and the average worth of the crop to the State is about $8,000,000 annually. Pearl Farm Is The Latest.

R. Jefferson, of Duluth, has devised a scheme for treating clams so each may prove a pearl bearer. He made a study of the pearl question as applied to bivalves and ascertained the scientific theory of the origin of the pearl in shellfish. Then ie figured the cultivation of the gems was possibly a practical venture. Mr. Jefferson actually has grown some pearls, although they are small. It remains to be seen, with lapse of time, if large ones cannot be culti-

Several years ago Jefferson secured a number of clams, and, after in-closing a space on a lake shore, planted them in the water. Before doing so he bored a tiny hole in the shell and lodged a grain of sand in each.
As a result he succeeded in getting a number of small pearls.

A Truly Modest Poet.

A man in America who writes the best Scotch poetry earns his daily bread in a composing room in New York, and for amusement publisher a newspaper in a suburban city. His chief peculiarity is this: He never dares publish in his own paper one of his poems, but allows the latter to drift around among his friends until some one takes a fancy to it and inserts it in a prominent publication. He then clips it, and re-publishes it in his paper as an extract from so-and-so, with his ini-tials signed. This modesty is duly appreciated.—N. Y. Press.

been sent Mr. Vrooman has gathered about him his philosophy and issued something like a sermon, his bereavement serving as the text.

The essence of his reflections on the tragic event is that the young woman perished, by divine will, in order that he might be purified by fire and proceed further upon the road to regeneration by being given a perception of his own worldlinoss. The statement, or sermon, reads:

"To-day was to have been the day of my marriage to Alice C. Loud.

Conditions had changed during the last hundred years, Dr. Edward Jackson, of Denver, asserted, and women should be allowed to change their habits and occupations.

Better Servants Than Shop Girls. Dr. Otto Juettner, of Cincinnati, said: "The lack of housewives and domestic servants is disrupting so-clety and home life. I have no sym-pathy with women who work in stores or other industrial institutions should be focussed either into a destores or other industrial institutions for starvation wages, when there are thousands of homes in which they can get respectable employment better fitting themselves for married life. Women competing with men simply lower the wage scale, cause a lack of support by men and a tendency toward singleness."

When Eleven Days Were Lost.

It is safe to prophesy, one would say that the clock is likely to be say that the clock is likely to be altered to suit the daylight. Fortuantely, the proposed change is only to rob us of eighty minutes in April and restore them later in the year, or there might be a repetition of the scene in 1752, when the ignorant populace were alarmed at the dropping out of the calendar of the days from Sentember 14. from September 4 to September 14. The change was one of tremendous import, and the people, violently indamed against it, raised the cry on the hustings, "Who stole the eleven days? Give us back the eleven days?" But the eleven days never came back, and are not likely to do so. In this respect, as in the classic case in Ingoldsby, "nobody seemed one penny the worse,"
