Haying.

Cut clover hay when about half the blossoms are brown; cut timothy just as the bloom is falling. Curing clover: Cut it as soon as the dew is off in the morning. At noon shake out the bunches, rake into windrows before evening dews get on it, and let it lie until next day. Next day shake out the hay as soon as the dew is off. You ought to be ready to haul, on a hot day, by eleven o'clock, or certainly after dinner. It spoils clover hay to get too dry. It should never be put into the barn when wet with rain or dew; but a little sap won't hurt it. Curing timothy: If the crop is not too heavy and rank, cut as soon as the dew is off, let it cure a few hours, rake into windrows, and haul to the barn the same day. If crop is rank, cut it in the afternoon; it will wilt some during the night and dew will not hurt it. Next day's sun will dry it in a few hours, when it can be raked into windrows; haul it to the barn in the early afternoon.—From June Farm Journal.

NO HUMBAG.

No humbug claims have to be made for Foley's Honey and Tar, the well-known remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles. The fact that more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar are used than of any other cough remedy is the best testimonial of its great merit. Why then risk taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar costs you no more and is safe and sure. Trout's drug store.

SALVIA.

One of Harry Austus' mules was bitten by a copperhead the other day. Wm. Martin, of Whips Cove called to see his old friend uncle John Hann, last Sunday. Quite a destructive rain and wind storm passed over this section last Sunday, injuring corn fields and buckwheat ground. John Hann has hauled a good many cherries to Harrisonville this season. Quite a number of people were at the Greenhill Presbyterian church last Sunday to hear the Rev. Robert F. McClain who was pastor of this church about twenty eight years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Speer, of Everett, attended communion services at Greenhill last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Booty and their family came down from Bedford last Saturday and are spending this week among friends in this county and at Foltz. They expect to return to Bedford next Monday and will be accompanied home by Mrs. Booty's mother Mrs. Ruth W. Swope who will remain in Bedford for some time.

When your Watch Stops

You cannot make it go by shaking it. When the bowels are constipated you can disturb them with cathartics but, like the watch, they will not be able to do their allotted work until they are put into proper condition to do it. One cannot mend a delicate piece of mechanism by violent methods, as is the case with the human body. The use of pills, salts, castor-oil and strong cathartic medicines is the violent method. The use of the herb tonic laxative, Lane's Family Medicine is the method adopted by intelligent people. Headache, backache, indigestion, constipation, skin diseases—all are benefited immediately by the use of this medicine. Druggists sell it at 50c. and 1.00.

WELLS FANNERY.

One of the most exciting legal contests ever witnessed in Wells Valley, took place at the Hall in this place last Saturday evening, with Justice of the Peace W. H. Baumgardner on the bench, and it attracted almost all our entire local population.

The circumstances which led to this contest are about as follows: Some time during the latter part of last month, a valuable dog belonging to Mr. V. D. Schenck, was found dead near the residence of Mr. J. B. Horton. Mr. Schenck, believing that Oliver, a son of J. B. Horton, had killed the dog, made information before Justice Baumgardner, had a warrant issued, and Oliver arrested. When Oliver was taken before the Justice, he demanded a hearing, and, consequently, gave bail to appear last Saturday evening.

In preparing for the contest Mr. Schenck got lawyer Henderson from Huntington, and Horton, Squire Tenley from Sixmile Run. Witnesses were subpoenaed, and when Court called at half past six last Saturday evening more people were present than could possibly get into the big K. G. E. Hall that had been pressed into service as a temporary court house. In a moment the fight was on, and for three hours hard and a half the contest waxed hot. Finally the eloquent and convincing arguments ended, and the Justice dismissed the defendant on the grounds that not sufficient evidence had been produced to show that he was guilty. As to the disposition of the costs, he held the matter under advisement, and his decision will be given from "Chambers."

Unlucky Thirteen.

Those who believe that thirteen is an unlucky number should shy of silver quarters. A startling discovery has been made by a writer in the current Harper's Weekly which should give pause to all possessors of quarters. The typical United States quarter, it appears, has thirteen stars, thirteen letters in the scroll held in the eagle's beak, thirteen marginal feathers on each wing, thirteen horizontal bars, thirteen arrow heads and thirteen letters in its name. Who would keep a quarter?

He Was Hot.

A Franklin county man promised to contribute $2 toward the preacher's salary as soon as he sold his calf, but failed to keep his word. He went to church later and the choir sang the beautiful song, "The Half Has Never Been Told." He was a little hard of hearing and went home boiling with rage. He told his wife the choir had insulted him by singing "The Calf Has Never Been Sold."—Hagerstown Mail.

Consumptives Made Comfortable.

Nearly forty of the students attending the Normal School here secured two teams, one from Jno. Shaffer and the other from D. G. Elvey, and last Saturday went over and spent the day picnicking at Buchanan's monument. Of course they had a day of such jollity as can come only to young people on such occasions. The Editor has very pleasant recollections of the picnic the Normal School at McConnellsburg in 1864, in which he was a student, took. They had two wagons and went down the Cove to where Tobias Glazier now lives, and then turned in and went around to Roaring Run. Of course the students had the time of their lives.

J. Wesley Hoop spent the time from Friday until Saturday in a little trip to Saxton, visiting the family of his brother-in-law Dennis B. Sipes, and seeing Will Hoke and other Fulton county people there.

TALK TO MOTHERS.

Mother and Children Often drift Apart Through Misunderstandings and Carelessness.

How true it is that one of the most difficult things for a mother to understand is the existence in her child of characteristics fundamentally different from her own, says Maria Scott in July Designer. A dull, phlegmatic mother sometimes finds herself trying to control a talented, high-strung daughter. Her course is often one of continual faultfinding, for the girl has "nerves," and the mother laughs and scolds and does not understand.

When a cultivated and artistic woman, who has had aspirations for her children from the hour of their birth, finds her swans turn into unmistakable geese she cannot alter them by taunting them with their failures, or by trying to impose upon them the training she desires,—differences, incompatibilities and disappointments are sure to occur; and when strong individual traits appear in a developing child, the mother should try not to put herself in the way and cry, "Stop!"—however great may be her temptation to do so. The result is pretty sure to be only a shattered, saddened parent.

How can a mother establish these sympathetic relations for which she longs, yet which seem attended with so many difficulties.

By example, good humored forbearance, and lack of criticism much may be obtained. There is no influence like example, and a wayward child will respond to a wher argument and coercion are powerless to avail. It is so very hard for a mother to school herself to patience when she daily sees her child committing the most atrocious follies before her eyes, but forbearance at this stage in the child's life will pay better than any other course open for the mother to pursue, and faith in the noble principles she has herself instilled earlier in its life will surely be rewarded.

To avoid actual collision, with all that it brings in its wake of strife and bitterness, is one of the surest ways of attaching the vagrant little heart to herself. A congenial atmosphere in which to unfold its own particular kind of bloom is what the child's nature craves, and the efforts of the mother to impose her own personality upon it are met with very little success. The stronger the child's nature, the greater is the indulgence and leeway necessary, but a few well defined rules, thoroughly understood by all concerned, must be held over it for absolute, unqualified obedience.

On Going to Church.

Go early to church. Not only be punctual, but be in your place before the hour announced to begin. Then you will not disturb other worshippers. Go in a reverent spirit. On the way remember whither you go. Avoid lightness of manner and conversation on worldly topics. Before you enter, and as you enter, the church, breathe a silent prayer of invocation for the influence of the Holy Spirit.

As you take your place, bow your head reverently in prayer for yourself and for all others who enter the sanctuary for the service about to begin. Resolve that you will foster no thought, fix your eyes on no object, utter no word that will tend to divert your mind from the holy purpose for which you have come into this place.

As the minister enters the pulpit, offer an earnest, silent prayer in his behalf. In all the service take an active part; as hearer, as worshiper. At the close of the service, after a moment of prayerful silence, greet with cheerfulness and good will all whom you happen to meet, remembering that Christian fellowship is a part of Christian worship.

SIXMILE RUN.

Two stables were burned in this place last Thursday night between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock. One of them belonged to the Crescent Coal Co., and the other, to C. H. McIntyre. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. Both stables were empty.

H. S. Carmack and wife spent several days visiting friends and relatives on Clear Ridge, the former's father Mr. C. P. Carmack in McConnellsburg, and his brother near Chambersburg. They drove through, and report having had a very pleasant trip.

HE GOT WHAT HE NEEDED.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at Trout's drug store. 50c.

The Demand For Trained Men.

The demand for efficient men trained at our best agricultural colleges exceeds the supply. Organizations of breeders, dairymen, fruit growers and other producers in many of our States solicit special investigation to be undertaken by station scientists. There is public demand for official tests of foods, animal feeding stuffs and commercial fertilizers.

There is continual increase in the number of high schools that give instruction in agriculture scientists as capable teachers. There are also many farms employing agricultural college graduates as superintendents.

The salaries paid to such men exceed those paid to scientists of similar rank in other lines, because there are not enough men to do the work. Our agricultural colleges cannot compete in the matter of salary with commercial concerns that need men trained in agriculture. An illustration is found in the instance of our one agricultural college in Pennsylvania. Within the last year or two one member of the faculty of this school of agriculture has withdrawn to accept a position with a commercial concern producing high grade milk, and he is now getting five thousand dollars a year. A scientist in the Department of Animal Husbandry has been secured by China at a salary three times as great as the Pennsylvania School of Agriculture was able to pay him. He leaves for Mukden, Manchuria, the last of June to assist in establishing an experimental station there. Another member of the agricultural faculty, Prof. John W. Gilmore, has been chosen President of the College of Hawaii at Honolulu and the salary paid him will be nearly double that which he has been receiving at State College. Another young man in this faculty left to become a farm manager at $1600 a year.
