

MRS. FRANK STROEBE

A Remarkable Recovery.
Mrs. Frank Stroebel, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis., writes: "I began using Peruna a few months ago, when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck, could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live. Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength."
"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder."

Too Much For The Old Man.
"Good morning, sir," said the artist, politely, "that's a perfect cow of yours down there in the field. I'd like to paint her, if you don't mind."
"By heck!" exclaimed Farmer Kornop; "I reckon ye won't. Git outer hyer! I'm tired o' your 'Perkins' Purple Pills' fellars."—Philadelphia Press.

DOCTOR SAID "USE CUTICURA"
For Bad Case of Eczema on Child—Disease Had Reached a Fearful Stage—Order Resulted in Cure.

"When I was small I was troubled with eczema for about three months. It was all over my face and covered nearly all of my head. It reached such a state that it was just a large scab all over, and the pain and itching were terrible. I doctored with an able physician for some time and was then advised by him to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did and I was entirely cured. I have not been bothered with it since. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, but do not know exactly how much was used to complete the cure. Miss Anabel Wilson, North Branch, Mich., Oct. 20, '07."

What a Poultry Man Says About 20-Mule Team Borax.
As I am in the poultry business, I had ten white chicks to wash and prepare for a show. I used "20-Mule Team" Soap for washing the birds, and I can say from years of experience washing white birds, never before have I found a soap or Borax that cleaned my birds so fine and easy. I had a great deal of comment on my birds being so white. J. A. Dinwiddie, New Market, Tenn.

Throttles Snake Up A Tree.
Rural Mail Carrier Seitz is the hero of a thrilling adventure with a five-foot blacksnake. He was upon his route on a road near Springvale, this county, when his attention was attracted by the frightened cries of two catbirds in a low tree, and he stopped to see what the trouble was.

A short climb brought him in view of an immense blacksnake, with its head poised close to a nest occupied by several young birds. Seitz had not time to climb down again for a stick or a stone, but bravely seized the snake by the neck, and its thrashing about almost caused him to fall; but he carried it to the ground, and brought it home alive. If he fails to make a pet of it he will have a snakeskin belt instead.—Philadelphia Record.

Average Length of Life.
The man who lives till he is more than a century old and the child who dies in infancy are alike included in the law of averages. They balance each other's chances as it were.

Of 100,000 people living at the age of 10, only 95,614 will live to the age of 21, only 82,284 will be living at 40, only 49 will be living at 56, and only 9 at 97. At 30, the average man may take it that he has under 35 years to live; at 40, under 28 years; at 50, under 21 years; at 60, under 14 years.

In each and all of these cases, how he lives will determine whether he will have a longer or a shorter life, but the average will infallibly work out within a space of 90 years.—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Habitual Constipation
May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed, as the best of remedies, when required, are to assist nature and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts and right living generally. To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. ONLY SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS. Our size only, 10¢ per bottle.

PRICE OF MEAT FORCED UP FOR PROFIT ONLY

Beef Trust is Really Reaching Out to Control the Retail Trade of Entire Country, Dealers Declare—High Price of Corn Not Accepted as Excuse—Advance of From 25 to 35 Per Cent. in Meat Forces Fish Dealers to Raise Prices.

New York City.—Without even the justification that the demand has increased or the supply fallen short, the advance in the price of meat by the power combination now reaching out to control the retail trade of the country has reached a point where hundreds of small butchers must be driven into bankruptcy because they are unable to sell at the exorbitant rates forced upon them, with the added burden of the operations of the railroads in freight rates.

In Washington Market, the most famous mart of its kind in the country, trade has been cut almost fifty per cent. in a year. Butchers who needed six or seven big ice boxes last year get along now with two or three. The stalls that handled thirty or forty car-cases now handle from ten to twelve. Veterans in the business like Peter J. Hickey suddenly find themselves confronted with agents of the Beef Trust as rivals in attempting to gain hotel and steamship trade, offering the product at a lower price than it is sold to the butchers themselves.

Deaf Ear Turned to Pleas.
Plea and demands for fair play are futile. No notice of an advance in price is given to any retail dealer not controlled by the Meat Trust. He must pay up once a week or go on the black list, and if unable to meet his obligations on the dot he locks up his ice box and goes out of business.

The only explanation that the trust makes as to why the price of beef should be increased at a season when the demand is smaller than at any other time of the year is that the high price of corn has made it necessary. It has been asserted that in the fatening of what is known in the trade as "finished beef" large quantities of corn are required as fodder, and that when the price of corn goes up the price of beef must advance correspondingly.

It is asserted without qualification by old-time butchers in the Washington Market that there has not been a carcass of a corn-fed bullock in the market for twenty years or more and advanced practically two cents a pound.

that the meat of corn-fed cattle is not sold for general consumption, for the reason that when the price of corn is high the owner can make a greater profit by selling it in the grain market instead of feeding it to stock.

There is not a retail butcher who is able to explain why he has had to pay more for his beef and mutton and pork and charge his customers more. All he knows is that the price is increased. The meat is ready for his inspection and purchase, and he can take it or leave it. The nearest to an explanation of the increase has been the price of corn, and next to that the shortage in supply.

Increase Instead of Shortage.
The organ of the Meat Trust in New York does not bear out the shortage theory. In its last issue the receipts of live stock in Chicago were recorded as "336,180 head for the week, an increase of 60,573. Deliveries of cattle were 8911 in excess of the receipts of the previous week, and 11,372 head greater than the same week last year.

As the demand for the choicest cuts of beef falls off the price of the cheaper parts is increased by the butcher so that he can come somewhere near getting even with the wholesaler. In the populous east side, where a half cent in the price of meat means much, the cut for which there is the greatest demand is the brisket, which is diverted of its bone before it is sold to the customer. One year ago the brisket was sold at from thirteen to fourteen cents a pound. This week the lowest price was twenty cents. Corned beef that sold for sixteen and fifteen cents a pound in June, 1907, now sells for twenty cents. Soup meat has gone up to twelve cents a pound on the east side and fourteen and fifteen cents a pound in Jefferson Market, an increase greater in proportion than any other meat. Last January the price of soup meat was from ten to twelve cents a pound, and a year ago the highest price for the best quality was ten cents.

TEXAS PRICES ARE HIGHEST IN YEARS.
Influx of Population and Occupation of Land Chiefly Responsible.
Fort Worth, Texas.—The present prices of cattle on the hoof in Texas—the highest in twenty years—are due principally to the influx of a million settlers in the past two years, the occupation of ranch lands and the sale of cattle to clear off the big pastures.

COMMERCIAL COLUMN.

Weekly Review of Trade and Latest Market Reports.

New York.—Bradstreet's says: Trade this week has taken on most of the characteristics of a midsummer period. Retail business has been helped by warm weather in most sections and by widespread reduction sales. Jobbing houses have received moderate filling in orders and made the usual clearance sales. Fall buying has been and is cautious, but feeling is conservatively optimistic. Such lines as leather, staple worsted wools, agricultural implements and a few lines of steel products are more active, but the great industries, as a whole, are below normal activity and summer shutdowns promise to be more widely indulged in than for some years past. Shoe shipments since January 1, from Eastern centers are the smallest reported for 17 years past. The railroads of the country are making preparations for crop moving and car repair material is being taken more freely. Coal and lumber are quiet, but coke is quite active. A slight decrease in the number idle in the building trades has been noted. The market plentiful and cheap. Southern cotton yarn mills have apparently decided against running any larger quantity of machinery, pending improved demand and prices. There is reported more doing in the exportation of steel products as low prices are causing a wide distribution of summer wash dress fabrics at retail. Collections are no better than fair at any center and slow, as a rule.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending June 25, aggregated 258, including 103 in 1907, 254 last week, 150 in the five weeks of 1907, 146 in 1906, 186 in 1905 and 204 in 1904.
Wheat, including four exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending June 25, aggregated 1,219,000 bushels, against 1,241,915,000 last week, with 724,100 bushels last year and 3,382,701 in 1902. For 52 weeks the exports are 261,864,272 bushels, against 170,770,940 in 1906-07 and 247,930,897 in 1901-02. Corn exports for the week were 65,213 bushels, against 55,011 last week and 109,000 in 1906-07. For 52 weeks to date the exports are 45,278,377 bushels, against 71,694,742 in 1906-07.

HEALTH BRINGS HAPPINESS.

Invalid Once, a Happy Woman Now.

Mrs. C. R. Shelton, Pleasant street, Covington, Tenn., says: "Once I seemed a helpless invalid, but now I enjoy the best of health. Kidney disease brought me down terribly. Rheumatism and pain made every motion so painful. The excruciating pains were so distracting that I was in a bad condition, but medicines failed to help. I lost ground daily until I began with Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once and soon made me strong and well."

Fought Under Six Flags.
A remarkable soldier has just died at Budapest in the person of Gen. Stephen Turr, one of the bravest revolutionary generals that ever lived. He commenced his military career as a lieutenant in the Austrian army. Then he fought for the Hungarian revolutionary government, helped to quell a German revolution and joined Garibaldi in his great struggle. On the outbreak of the Crimean War he served as a volunteer in Omar Pasha's army against Russia, and finally received a commission in the British transport service. It was while buying horses for the British army at Budapest in 1855 that the general was seized by the Austrians as a deserter and sentenced to death. But both the British and the French governments made such emphatic protests against his banishment that it was commuted to banishment. Finally, the old soldier settled down in Paris.—Tit-Bits.

The Man Who Makes Time.
"They do not run trains so fast in England because the engineers know too much about their engines," said an engineer who has run an engine in that country. "In England a man has to be a competent machinist before he is allowed to run. They say that the man who knows all about how an engine is put together, knows how delicate some of its parts are, knows how many dozen and one things there are liable to break at any minute, hasn't the nerve to run one of them 80 or 90 miles an hour. The best engineers are the ones who don't know much about their engine—just know enough to locate a pounding in a cylinder box, or how to unhook her on one side she breaks a driving rod, or something that way. That's a theory, at any rate, and I believe it's pretty nearly right."—Columbus Dispatch.

New Use For Wedding Rings.
A handsome tabernacle of silver gilt has been erected in the Chapel of the Blessed Sacrament in the new Roman Catholic Cathedral at Westminster. For years past, in anticipation of this event, a lady who has been collecting gold rings on which the inner curtains might hang. She has succeeded in persuading many of her friends and relatives to have at least their wedding rings for this service. At the present moment the curtains of silk inside the tabernacle are supported by about fourteen golden rings, which she has obtained on each of them the name of its donor is inscribed.—London Globe.

Avoid Shower Baths.
One of the reasons now given for the causes of a man's hair falling out so steadily in summer is the constant use of a daily shower bath. The majority of men are given over to this practice. Even if they do not have a set-up shower bath over the tub they have a tube attached to the faucet with a shower nozzle. This they use over the head two or three times a day.
The specialists say that this causes the hair to deteriorate. It produces falling hair and dandruff.
A shower bath should never be allowed to fall on the hair. It is quite easy to slip on an oilskin cap.—N. Y. Times.

Some men are wise enough to try new foods and beverages and then generous enough to give others the benefit of their experience.
A very "conservative" Illinois man, however, let his good wife find out for herself what a blessing Postum is to those who are distressed in many ways, by drinking coffee. The wife writes:
"No slave in chains, it seemed to me, was more helpless than I, a coffee captive. Yet there were innumerable warnings—waking from a troubled sleep with a feeling of suffocation, at times dizzy and out of breath, attack of palpitation of the heart that frightened me.
"Common sense, reason, and my better judgment told me that coffee drinking was the trouble. At last my nervous system was so disarranged that my physician ordered 'no more coffee.'
"He knew he was right and he knew I knew it, too. I capitulated. Prior to this our family had tried Postum but disliked it, because, as we learned later, it was not made right.
"Determined this time to give Postum a fair trial, I prepared it according to directions on the pkg.—that is, boiled it 15 minutes after boiling commenced, obtaining a dark brown liquid with a rich, snappy flavor similar to coffee. When cream and sugar were added it was not only good but delicious.
"Noting its beneficial effects in me the rest of the family adopted it—all except my husband, who would not admit that coffee hurt him. Several weeks elapsed during which I drank Postum two or three times a day, when, to my surprise, my husband said: 'I have decided to drink Postum. Your improvement is so apparent—you have such fine color—that I propose to give credit where credit is due.' And now we are coffee-slaves no longer."

Rode On A Turtle's Back.

Capt. Gabe Edwards, the veteran whalerman, had a fierce battle of Amagasset, Long Island, with a monstrous sea turtle, which took two hours to subdue.
When the captain hauled in his net, which had about 75 pounds of mackerel in it, he also found the turtle snapping at the meshes, and a hole 3 feet square where the net had been chewed.
Capt. Gabe jumped on the turtle's back, but was unable to hold him, and as the turtle was making for the surf Clifton Babcock and Frank Edwards came to the rescue. After a long battle they had the reptile wired up. They shipped him by express to Fulton fish market.
Capt. Edwards thinks Sheridan's ride no comparison to his ride on a 100-pound turtle.—N. Y. World.

KREMER HOE
FOR MEN
If the bottom of your shoe is different from the bottom of your foot, it pushes the bone out of place, strains the nerves, and causes foot-ache and lameness. KREMER shoes are made like human feet, and so they do fit. Look for the label. If you do not find these shoes readily, write us for directions how to secure them. FRED. F. FELD CO., Brockton, Mass.
