Trawlers and Cables.

in connection with the damage which is repeatedly being caused to the cables of the Commercial Cable Company off the Irish coast by British trawlers, a letter written by Mr. Clarence H. Mackay to the United States Secretary of State shows the cost and trouble to which the company is put in order to maintain its service unimpaired. "During the past three months," he says, "our "During the cables have been injured and broken two and three at a time by these fishing trawlers at a distance of about fifty miles from the Irish coast. We have expended over £20,000 already this year in making repairs to our cables off the Irish coast, and each and every one of the interruptions has been due to these fishing trawl-. . The injury to us is not ers. only the enormous expense of repairs. but also the necessity of refusing to accept business from the public for transmission. . . . The trouble is that it is impossible in most instances to find out who the guilty party is, and even after that is found out, it is almost impossible to obtain proof that the injury was wilful."-Engineer.

Old English Slaves.

Before the Conquest, and for a long time after, at least two-thirds of the people of England were denuded of all the substantial attributes of freedom. The lords had the absolute disposal of them; they might be attached to the soil, or transferred by deed, sale or conveyance, from one lord to another; they could not change their place or hold property; in short, they were slaves under their obligation of perpetual servitude, which the consent of the master alone could dissolve. The system was not fairly abolished until the reign of Charles IL, and so late as 1775 men were bought and sold in Scotland with the estates to which they were bound.

COMMERCIAL COLUMN Weekly Review of Trade and Lates! Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Improvement is slow, but there is definite evidence of progress in the right direction. One of the best signs is the agreement upon lower wage scales without a struggle, assuring resumption of much idle machinery that would have been impor sible without adjustment to altered conditions, Current retail trade is of fairly good dimensions for the season and inventories indicate that recovery is not menaced by heavy stocks. Preparation for fall and winter trade is most active in the West, but there is a growing feeling of confidence in the future that is stimulated by good progress on the farms. More business is coming to the steel mills, although operations are still along conservative lines. timent is improving more rapidly than actual conditions, as shown by the rapid rise in prices of securities of this industry, the common stock of the largest producer attaining the highest quotations of 1908 thus far. Sales of pig iron are not large, but numerous small orders aggregate a fair tonnage, the largest contracts coming from Eastern cast iron pipe interests. Moderate orders for struc-tural steel and railway equipment are reported, and the only decreased activity is at the hot mills of the tinplate plants which have run ahead of finishing departments.

Primary markets for cotton goods are extremely quiet, buyers evincing no disposition to operate, and it is probable that concessions would be made to secure business, although no actual sales are recorded at low er prices. Inventories denote that stocks have been reduced to a point which relieves pressure, normal conditions being much nearer than earlier in the season.

BOY NEARLY HANGED.

York (Special) .- Mrs. Rosa Abromson, the proprietor of a grocery store, was arrested on the charge of attempting to hang William Landsman, six yeas old, a son of one of her neighbors. It is alleged that Abromson seized the lad and Mrs. led a rope about his neck and suspended him from a balcony. The boy was almost strangled when he was discovered by Elec. Bair, a passerby, who hurried into the yard and cut the rope. Young Landsman was black in the face and it was sometime before he was re-vived. The father of the boy preforred the charge, and Constable Ginter arrested the woman. Mrs. Abromson says she intended
