Relief from Po-ru-na at Once. Read What She Says.

MISS DELLA STROEBE, 719 Rich-mond St., Appleton, Wis., writes; "For several years I was in a rundown condition, and I could find no relief from doctors and medicines. J could not enjoy my meals, and could not sleep at night. I had heavy, dark circles about the eyes.

"My friends were much alarmed. I was advised to give Perona a trial, and to my joy I began to improve with the first bottle. After taking six bottles I felt completely cured. I cannot say too much for Peruna as a medicine for women in a run-down condition."

A Grateful Son-in-Law.

H. H. Rogers, on his return voyage from Bermuda last month said one evening in the smoking room of traveling companion, Mark Twain: 'He is an incorrigible humorist.

Even in his most emotional moments he can't help being funny.

"When he married in Elmira in 1870 his father-in-law made him a present of a fine, well-furnished house in Buffalo.

"The present came as a surprise. Mark Twain knew nothing of it till, amid a party of relatives and friends, he was shown over the luxurious place. Then, when they told him it was his, tears filled his eyes.

"But he was still the humorist, and turning to his father-in-law he said, though in a voice that trembled aviittle:

Langdon, whenever you're in Buffalo, if it's as much as twice a year, you are to come right up here and take tea. You can stay all night, too, if you want to, and it shan't cost you a cent."—Washing-

Germs In Books.

There is no doubt that all books kept for a long time in libraries and other places become the abode of the germ and microbe. To prevent this a French professor has introduc-ed a method of disinfecting the books. They are placed in an oven under pressure, in which the evaporation of a certain liquid causes the breaking up of the aldebydes. It is said that all sorts of books, big and little, can thus be disinfected without harm to the cover, the paper or the binding.

BOY DROWNS IN RESERVOIR.

Easton (Special) .- Joseph Kline aged 6 years, son of Mr. and Mrs Edgar Kline, of No. 640 Mauch Chunk Street, South Side, was drowned in the reservoir of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, on Wilkes-Barre Street, this city.

Kline went to the reservoir with William Vandyke and Harry Gorman. each aged about 8 years, and the three gained an entrance by crawling through a small opening in the fence. The Gorman and Vandyke boys tell conflicting stories concerning the drowning. Young Vandyke says that Gorman was fishing in the reservoir and pushed Kline into the water. Gorman says that Vandyke gave the Kline boy a shove which sent him into the reservoir. After Kline had fallen into the water his two companions hurriedly left through the hole in the fence.

Mrs. Benjamin Pfennig saw the Kline boy fall into the water from an upper window in her home, and she called to John Evans and Edward Smith, who were passing through the lot in the rear of the reservoir. They got the body, but could not resus-citate the child.

CHILD FATALLY BURNED.

Nazareth (Special) .- A fire occurred at the home of Gustave Klefer, on Cedar Street, by which an infant daughter of Mr. Kiefer was fatally burned. Gasoline had been sprinkled on the stairway and floor of the second story in efforts to drive out insects while the house was being cleaned. A match dropped from Mr. Klefer's pocket and he stepped on it. The gasoline ignited and flames shot up on all sides.

Mr. Kiefer picked up little Ruth, his 6-months-old daughter, and dash-ed down the stairway through the flames. The child was frightfully burned about the face and breast, and it is believe she cannot recover.
Mr. Kiefer was burned on the left arm.

Mrs. Klefer grabbed her little son, Edward, and ran to a second-story window. She threw the child out into the arms of Milton Walter and then jumped. Mr. Walter catching her. Neither was much injured. Neighbors extinguished the flames before the firemen arrived.

Weekly Review of Trade and Lates? Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

"Industrial plants gradually enchinery, furnishing more work for wage-earners, which stimulates re-tail trade, while favorable crop pro-gress strengthens confidence in a continuance of recovery in business. New contracts for steel products are being placed with more freedom and colleries resume that were closed by the drouth.

'Outside representatives of jobbing houses are numerous in the primary market for cotton goods, but operations are restricted, as is customary at this season.

"New England footwear shops are still well occupied, but wholesalers have left the Boston market without placing any large volume of business and Western jobbers have not continued to purchase as freely as opening sales promised. Prices are not changed except where increased cost of raw materials has forced shoe manufacturers to advance figures. and little business is done on this basis, because buyers insist that general conditions do not warrant the leather.

Bradstreet's says: "Good crop reports, the advance of the season and growth in con-fidence as to the trade outlook are redected in reports of moderate en-largement of future buying at a few, large centers, notably in the West and Southwest. Industrial lines, too. have been benefited by evidences of revival in demand, and the number of idie operatives has been reduced as a whole.

"Still the progress-making is of a conservative kind, curtailment of industry is still a marked feature and small orders for immediate shipment targely make up the volume of busi-ness doing by jobbers.

"Best reports come from the Cen-tral West, Northwest and Southwest, and the excellent ontlook for the cot-ton crop makes for a better tone of advices from the South."

Henry Bittz, of Fairfield, N. J., is grieving over the death of his old Plymouth Rock hen, noted in the neighborhood as the peacemaker of his barnyard. No fighting among its occupants was allowed, and if any of the young roosters tried to indulge in that pustime, they got a sound thrashing from the old Plymouth Rack Yesterday, however, two snapping turtles, brought to the barnyard by the Bittz boys, began fighting, and the old hen, true to her principles, jumped in between the belligerents to stop them. Seeing they had a common enemy, the combatants both tackled her, and it was not long be-fore each turtle had seized a leg of old Onyx and she had been thrown to the ground.

Tiger's Long Swim For Prev. A correspondent at Penang transmits details of an exciting encounter with a tiger in that island, a cir-cumstance which at the first blush is somewhat curious, since tigers in Penang are austorically in the same category as snakes in Ireland.

It was a Chinaman of Balik Pulau to whom the adventure befell. He heard an uproar in his compound at dawn and rising hurriedly found a tiger creating havoc among his pigs. He fired at the intruder and killed him in one shot at short range. The animal was eight and a half feet long and stood three feet high at the shoulder. Investigation showed that the tiger had swum across from the mainland (Province Wellesley), resting midway at the leper island of Pulau Jerepak.

Says Americans Are Always Talking.

A newspaper controversy has be-gun on the subject of British and American oratory. A Canadian cor-respondent declared that it was notleeable at the Pan-Anglican confer-ence how much better the Americans spoke than the Englishmen, and a British member of Parliament corroborated this statement by declaring that the best of the American speakers at that congress were as good as the best English speakers, and their general average higher.

Sir Charles Wyndham now makes the following contribution to the debate: "It must be remembered that Americans are always talking. They imbibe fluency with their mothers' milk. I do not consider, however, that there is anything like the same proportion of really good public speakers in America as in Engand." Fighting Turtles Kills Peacemaking Hicks' Capudine Cures Nervousness,
