Judge Edwards Says Municipal Ad#### ministration Is Dark Spot On Country's History.

Scranton (Special) .--- Judge H. M. Edwards in a remarkable address at the Young Men's Christian Association, advocated a sweeping change in the administration of city affairs. The occasion was a meeting of the Voters' League, and in his address Judge Edwards suggested the abol-shing of councils, the reduction of school board members from twenty-wo to five and the overthrow of al-lermanic and magisterial courts throughout Lackawanna County. change recommended would

Just 106 persons from office and would mean hundreds of thousands of dollars in salaries. In the course of his address Judge Edwards said:

Municipal government is a dark spot on our county's history. Gov-Gramment of cities by large legisla-tive bodies, as select and common council, or a council and board of aldermen, an upper and lower house, is unwieldly and woefully inefficient. It is weak, clumsy and sometimes vicious. To govern a city like Scranton is largely a business proposition, and the agency that gives the best results at least expense is the one we should endorse. I am of the opin ion that in city government the idea of a double body is fundamentally wrong. With a body of five or seven men, the chairman nve or seven men, the chairman as mayor, many thousand dollars could be saved in a year and the taxation would be lowered. The indebtedness of municipalities growing at a stupendous rate. Pennsylvania alone it is increasing millions every year. Municipal extravagance is more a fault of system Minister Grieving For Son Killed In than of men, Judge Edwards thought.

COMMERCIAL COLUMN. Neekly Review of Trade and Latest Market Reports.

Bradstreet's says:

"Business in general has experi-enced a further moderate improvement in jobbing as well as in whole sale lines. Fall trade has reached maximum at some cities, and t out-of-town merchants have the most left the large centers for home, though State fairs and fall carnivals are attracting visitors to various sec-tions, thus enlarging the volume of trade. On the whole, purchases have been confined chiefly to staples, and no more than actual needs have been filled; therefore, sales have been considerably below those of last year at this season. "This conservatism, for which ap-This conservatism, for which ap-proaching elections and the dimin-ished purchasing power of the pub-lic, outside of the agricultural re-gions, are responsible, is looked upon with some degree of satisfaction. It being felt that, inasmuch as retail-ters' stocks are not burdensome, a constantly woold filling in order trade constantly good filling-in order trade should be experienced throughout the fall and winter. Relatively, best reports come from the larger cities of the West and Southwest, but Southern and Pacific Northwestern cities also contribute good returns. Farmers appear to be more disposed to let go of their products, and this fact augurs well for future country trade and some activity in railway traffic, while it will tend toward bet-terment in collections.

Kidneys a la Beurre.

Skin and split some fresh sheep's kidneys. Put them in a cold frying pan over a brisk fire. Cook them for six minutes, turning them to prevent burning. Have ready some squares of hot buttered toast. Place each kidney on a piece, and put a pat of weet butter in the middle of each kidney. Serve very hot. This is an excellent way of cooking kidneys. The chief thing is to have a cold frying pan and no fat .- New York Press

Trout a L'Italienne.

One good-sized trout, two chopped shallots, one teaspoonful chopped parsley, four tablespoonfuls of tomato or brown sauce, salt, pepper and nutmeg.

Clean, wash and trim the fish. Well butter a fireproof dish. Failing that, a pudding dish will do. Lhy in the fish, season it well with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Shake over the paraley and shallot. Put a few small pieces of butter on the top.

While we cannot all afford a roast saddle of venison, there are cheaper cuts that, rightly treated, make a most delicious stew. Cut the meat into small pieces, dredge with flour and fry in pork, drippings, bacon fat or butter, until well browned. Add to the fat in the pan a tablespoonful flour, two small onions, chopped fine; a clove of garlic, and when lightly browned pour in sufficient hot water to cover the contents of the kettle. Simmer gently until the meat is tender-it will take about an hour; then take from the pan, arrange in a hot dish and serve without delay. A half teaspoonful meat sauce is deemed an improvement by some cooks, while others insist upon a few gratings of lemon peel. Serve with an accompaniment of currant or wild grape

Eel a la Vincent.

Skin and clean a good eel, split and bone it, cut it into eight or ten pieces; flatten them out with a knife, occasionally dipping it into cold water. Season the pieces of sel with salt and black pepper. Then stuff them with the following forcemeat: Put one heaping tablespoonful of bread crumbs into a basin, add one table spoonful of finely chopped parsley, one finely chopped shallot, two finely chopped mushrooms, yolks of two eggs, seasoning of salt, pepper and paprika, and a tablespoonful and a half of melted butter.

Mix and spread a portion on the. inside of each piece of eel, roll them up, dip them in flour, then brush over with beaten egg and roll in fine bread crumbs. Fry for five minutes in smoking hot lard .- New York Press.
