William B. Stigers and Frank Ranck, two of Bethel's enthusiastic Good Roads men, were here Tuesday attending the meeting in the Court House.

The needlework guild will have a meeting at the home of Mrs. G. W. Reissner at 3 o'clock next Saturday afternoon, at which a full attendance is requested.

Mr. Job Truax, one of Belfast township's wide-awake supervisors, attended the road meeting at the Court House, Tuesday afternoon, and remained in town over night.

A farmer near Luray, Va., watched his cornfield one night last week for corn thieves. After they got their sacks filled he called for them to halt and surrender, but they ran and he shot. The next morning a doctor was called to a neighbor's house to treat his wife. It proved that she had been after the corn wearing a man's clothing, and is the sister of the owner of the corn. Several shots took effect.

WATCH LOST—Last Sunday, on the Cove road, between Maun's mill and Webster Mills, a lady's gold hunting, cased watch with black leather fob. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at the News office.

Those present at John Keebaugh's barn raising last week were: Harry Aller, Peter McLoft, Harrison Cutchall, John Martz, Walter Taylor, John Sipe, Dennis Hess, Walter Reeder, James DeKalb, Eugene, and Roy Chesnut; Charles Hoover, John, Arthur, and Andrew Woodcock; Samuel Lamberson, Allison Kellar, William, Virgil, W. A., C. S., John, J. C., Mrs. J. C., Mrs. Frances, and Mary B. Keebaugh. John Gunnells, Sr., was the contractor, and the frame work went together without a hitch, and everybody there had a good time.

Dr. G. W. C. James, of Orbisonia, has a record for reading sermons which we do not believe is excelled in Huntingdon county. He has read 4500 published sermons by Charles Spurgeon; and he has read every sermon of Dwight L. Moody's that has been published. He is now reading Gipsy Smith's sermons and regards them as very superior. Dr. James is 78 years old and is as strong, as a young farm hand. It is hoped he may have many years yet of strength and health. Orbisonia Dispatch.

The New England Thanksgiving dates from 1633, when the Massachusetts Bay Colony set apart a day for that purpose, and the first National Thanksgiving proclamation made were by Congress during the Revolutionary War. The first great American Thanksgiving Day was in 1784, for the declaration of peace. There was one more national Thanksgiving in 1789, and no other 'till 1863, when President Lincoln issued a national proclamation for a day of thanksgiving. Since that time the President has issued an annual proclamation.

Our bustling little town Saltillo just across the northern border of Fulton county in Huntingdon county is about to enjoy the advantages of an abundant supply of good water piped through the town. The council has decided to place fifteen fire plugs at different points in the borough, and the water company has consented to furnish the water for the fire plugs free. There is just one thing that the people of that town will be fooled in: They expect that the introduction of water-works will reduce the cost of their insurance 25 per cent. This expectation will not be realized.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
Cures Colds; Prevents Pneumonia

State Highway Commissioner Here.
Hon. Joseph W. Hunter, State Highway Commissioner, in company with Francis M. Taylor, and Charles D. Huber, of Chambersburg, drove over from Chambersburg in an automobile, arriving here about noon Tuesday. At two o'clock, a meeting was called in the Court House, at which about fifty persons were in attendance, among whom were about one-third of the Road Supervisors of the County.

J. Findlay Johnston, of Ayr, presided, and the meeting was addressed by Commissioner Hunter.

Mr. Hunter's object in coming to Fulton county was to meet as many of the road supervisors as he could and, if possible, awaken an interest in the subject of improved road building. The address was full of information, and it is to be regretted that more of the citizens of the County were not there to hear him.

A further meeting of the Supervisors is called for Friday of Institute week, December 11th, for the purpose of forming an organization of the Supervisors of this County, similar to organizations formed in most of the other counties.

The Woman Who Lets a Man Own His Soul is Blessed.
The woman who understands the art of letting a man alone is a wise woman, says Anne Rittenhouse in The Designer for December. She treats him as a rational being, with equal rights to work out his own life as she has. If she thinks he is wrong, she persuades him into another way with more subtle art than many kings use in coercing a prime minister.

If he wishes to walk alone in the afternoon or evening, hammering out some scheme in his own mind or refreshing himself by solitude, apart from things that make him think, she is acquiescent. And, mind you, she does not acquiesce moodily, with a question, spoken or unspoken, as to what she has done that he does not care for her company. She cheerfully nods her perfect understanding of his wishes and desires. She, too, often wants to be alone, although she may love this man more than all the other things in the world combined, and he has always let her be when the mood was upon her.

To sum it all up in a phrase that Americans understand; she treats him as though she were another man. There are moments for love, emotion and sentiment, but she understands that there are thousands of other moments when two humans, who must be together most of the time, must treat each other as if they were of the same sex.

This is the lesson a young wife must learn. It is an art to let a man alone, for it is achieved only through perception, intuition, and careful, hourly study. There is no royal road to it. Some women are born with more or less of a temperamental learning toward this attitude, but even these women must practise with patience and analysis.

And the women who do this have their reward. They will catch the best husbands and keep them throughout decades. Men mourn their absence from hearth and home more than they mourn for any beauty, brilliancy or cookery. They are the women who understand!

Educational Meeting.
SUMMERS.

The fifth educational meeting of Tod township was held at Summers' school, last Friday evening.

The meeting was called to order by the teacher, after which C. C. Rotz, presided. The following topics were very thoroughly discussed:

1. How can we interest and keep younger pupils at work while older ones are reciting?
2. Writing; its importance, and how taught?
3. Irregular attendance; effects of, and how overcome?

The discussions were enlivened by a number of interesting recitations and songs by the school. The teachers present were: Mary Ott, Nell Barmout, Gertrude Hoke, Nora Fisher, Katharine Hoop, B. O. Peck, C. C. Rotz, Amos Peightel, Prof. Emory Thomas and Supt. B. C. Lamberson.

The meeting adjourned without any definite arrangements for future meetings, but the work will be resumed after the County Institute. Blanche O. Peck, Secretary.

CHESNUT.
The fourth local institute of Dublin was held at Chesnut's last Friday evening. The meeting was called to order by the teacher, Miss Naugle, after which President Dashing took charge. The topics:

1. Love as a factor in teaching;
2. The Teacher's Props and Spurs;
3. Duties and Rights of Parents, were well discussed by the teachers present, namely, Miss Baker, Miss Fleming, Miss Henry, Miss Naugle, A. E. Dashing, and L. P. Morton, of Dublin; and Miss Ludig, Miss Stevens, Mr. Ranck, Mr. Wink, Mr. Chesnut, and Mr. Barton of Taylor.

A number of recitations were well rendered by the school. Mr. Jas. Chesnut, a patron of the school, gave a short talk on Duties and Rights of Parents. He seems to think the teacher would have a smooth path to travel, if all patrons fulfilled their duties.

After singing America the institute adjourned.—L. P. Morton, Secretary.
