A few years ago it was considered an extraordinary and wonderful feat for a ship to cross the Atlantic inside a week. Now it is done in a trifle over four days. When Chicago erected the Masonic temple, containing twenty-two stories, we thought the limit had been reached. In New York now there are structures twice that height.

HIDES WANTED.—Highest market price paid for beef hides, horse hides, wildcat skins, and all kinds of grease, at Paul Wagner's Tannery, McConnellsburg.

D. H. Patterson & Son, Webster Mills are making special effort to provide a wide selection of the most popular and pleasing holiday goods for their patrons this season.

There was one voter in Tioga county who was bound to vote "the whole ticket." The board noticed that he spent about 20 minutes in the booth. And when he deposited his ballot it was noticed that one corner of the sheet was stained. In counting up the vote this ballot was found to have a cross mark in every square on the sheet—every name in every column of electors marked and every candidate of all parties.

HIDES.—James Sipes & Sons pay the highest market price for beef hides at their butcher shop in McConnellsburg, also highest price paid for calf skins, sheepskins and tallow.

The farmers in this county are looking forward to the approach of cold weather with the gravest concern on account of the scarcity of water. Many of the farmers of this county water their cattle from springs which are exhausted and water has to be carried from house springs or wells which adds greatly to the labor of the farm. On this account all farmers are hoping for rain before cold weather sets in. The extreme drought in the anthracite coal regions has also been a costly matter to some of the coal roads, which have been compelled to place water trains on their lines to keep their coal machinery at work.

SALVIA.
The hunting season of 1908 has closed, and a nice lot of game—deer, turkeys, squirrels and rabbits were captured.
Mrs. John Hann is recovering from a six weeks' spell of sickness.
Mrs. Sarah Deshong and Miss Louise Deshong are on the sick list.

Minnich Mellott was thrown from a horse last Saturday and was badly bruised. When he was found he was unconscious.

Most of our farmers have been taking advantage of the nice weather and are well along with their fall plowing.

Lewis Mann, of Everett, who now owns the old Clifford Manor property near Salvia, or otherwise known as the Mann property, is just completing a fine new frame barn, which adds much to the appearance and value of the farm.

John Kline is having the frame stuff sawed for a barn which he expects to build next summer.

John Minnich, of Hyndman, was visiting among his old time friends and relatives in this neighborhood last week.

Uncle John Hann finds a cane a great help in walking on account of a stubborn attack of rheumatism.

Henry Betz, who has been spending the summer in Clearfield has returned to his home at Greenhill.

How High is the Atmosphere.
One would hardly think of looking to the moon for information about the height of the earth's atmosphere. Yet it is in just that way evidence has been obtained that the atmosphere extends much higher than was for a long time assumed.

Observations of lunar eclipses made at Lord Rosse's observatory in Ireland have shown that the quantity of heat derived from the moon—which heat is, of course, merely reflected sun heat, just as moonlight is only reflected sunlight—begins perceptibly to diminish several minutes before the shadow of the earth reaches the moon.

The inference is that the earth's atmosphere partly cuts off the sun's heat as it comes between the moon and the sun ahead of the edge of the solid earth, and calculations based on the length of time during which the loss of heat from the moon is felt before the eclipse begins, indicate that our atmosphere reaches a height of at least one hundred and ninety miles.

How different this is from the height usually stated may be seen by consulting a popular school book on physical geography, published within a few years, in which it is affirmed that beyond a height of forty miles the amount of air remaining would be too small to affect the sun's rays perceptibly in any way.

FOOTBALL CASUALTIES.

More Numerous This Year Than At Any Time Since Rules Were Revised.

Kendall B. Cressey, the well-known insurance man, who has kept close tab on football for years, says that more injuries have been reported this year than in any season since 1905, when the rules were revised. In that year twenty-four players were killed and 200 injured. There were three deaths among college players this year, two among high school and five among athletic club members, while the injured in college games were 153, against seventy-three among high school players and forty six among athletic club members. All deaths, with one exception, were caused in open play, the exception being the case of a spectator who was run over by the players and so seriously injured that he died two weeks later. Two players died from spinal injuries, one from paralysis caused in an open tackle, one from a broken back, two from concussions of the brain, two from internal injuries caused by strains and kicks in vital parts, and one player fell dead of heart disease.

Anger Wrecks the System.
It is well known that a violent fit of temper affects the heart instantly, and psychophysicists have discovered the presence of poison in the blood immediately after such outburst. This explains why we feel so depressed, exhausted, and nervous after any storm of passion—worry, jealousy, or revenge—has swept through the mind. It is left in its wake vicious mental poison and other harmful secretions in brain and blood.

There is no constitution so strong but it will ultimately succumb to the constant racking and twisting of the nerve centres caused by an uncontrolled temper. Every time you become angry you reverse all of the normal mental and physical processes. Everything in you rebels against passion storms; every mental faculty protests against their abuse.

If people only realized what havoc indulgence in hot temper plays in their delicate nervous structure, if they could only see with the physical eyes the damage done, as they can see what follows in the wake of a tornado, they would not dare to get angry.

When the brain-cells are overheated from a fit of temper their efficiency is seriously impaired if not absolutely ruined. The presence of the anger poison; the shock to the nervous system, is what makes the victim so exhausted and demoralized after loss of self control.—Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine.
