CURES INDIGESTION.

All Distress From Stomach and Indigestion Vanishes in Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or may be you call it, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50 cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak; there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pres sure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Preserving Eggs.

Preserve eggs now while they are cheap, and sell them next fall and winter at 35 to 40 cents per dozen. There is always a time in the spring when eggs get cheap, and they can be bought from 10 to 18 cents per dozen. You can easily make 100 per cent profit on every dozen you preserve. You not only can make big money on the eggs your own hens lay, but you can buy others to put down.

Sodium Silicate or "Water Glass" is the best egg preservative. It will keep eggs fresh, pure and sweet for months. Eggs have been preserved this way for fifteen months and still found good to use. Even for home use, where only a few dozen are put down, it means a great saving to have your own fresh eggs when they get up to 40 cents per dozen.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends this method of preserving eggs and advises all poultrymen to preserve eggs this way. Out of ten different methods experimented with, the water glass method was found to be the best and kept the eggs longest and freshest.

The cost of preserving eggs by the water glass method is less than one cent per dozen.

One gallon of the water glass costing about 70 cents mixed with 9 gallons of water makes 10 gallons of the preserving solution, enough for 100 dozen eggs.

Do You Feel Like This?

Does your head ache or simply feel heavy and uncomfortable? Does your back ache? Does your side ache? Do you feel fagged out? The tonic laxative herb tea known as Lane's Family Medicine will clear your head, remove the pain in side or back and restore your strength. Nothing else is so good for the stomach and bowels. Credo of the Presidents.

Washington was an Episcopalian, and one of his biographers says he was a communicant, while another declares that although he was a regular attendant on the services of that church, he was no more than an adherent and sympathizer. John Adams was a Unitarian, having been brought up in that faith and adhering to it all his life. Thomas Jefferson was repeatedly charged with being a free-thinker, some even said an atheist of the French school, but after his death his friends and family asserted that he was a believer in God and divine revelation, the immorality of the soul and a future life, their statements being sustained by certain letters and documents found among his papers. Madison and Monroe were both members of the Episcopal church, remaining in that connection all their lives. John Quincy Adams was a Unitarian and for most of his life was connected with the same congregation which bore on its rolls the name of his father. For the greater part of his life, General Jackson had no religious affiliation whatever, but in the evening of his days, and mainly through the influence of Mrs. Jackson he attended the Presbyterian church, and after her death became in fact as well as form a member. On his estate he built a Presbyterian church and spent much money in contributing to its support.

Martin Van Buren was not a member of any church, but was a regular attendant on the services of the Dutch Reformed church near his home in Kinderhook, N. Y. William Henry Harrison was a communicant and for a time a vestryman in the Episcopal church. For a long time after his death his pew in Christ church, Cleveland, Ohio, bore the silver plate indicating its ownership. In his inaugural address, he made what he called "a confession of faith," testifying to his religious belief. Tyler, like Harrison, was an Episcopalian, and personally a very devout man. Polk was not a member of any religious denomination, though in deference to Mrs. Polk, he generally attended the services of the Presbyterian church. During his last illness he was baptized by a Methodist clergyman, a friend and neighbor, and formally received as a member of the Methodist church. President Taylor was a regular attendant on the services of the Episcopal church, and although the testimony is somewhat conflicting, it seems probable that he was a member. Millard Fillmore was a Unitarian, born and raised in a family belonging to that denomination. President Pierce was a Trinitarian Congregationalist, and his religion is described as "more of the head than of the heart." Buchanan was a very acceptable member of the Presbyterian church.

President Lincoln, although described by his biographers as a man of deep religious convictions, was not a member of any denomination, although he often attended the Presbyterian church. Andrew Johnson was not a church member, although during his residence in Tennessee he generally attended the Methodist church. General Grant never connected himself with any church; though when he attended services at all, it was generally those of the Methodist. It is said that shortly before his death he became a member. Hayes was for many years a member of the Methodist church. Garfield was the only President who ever officiated as a preacher and pastor. After leaving the pulpit for the platform he remained a member of the Disciples of Christ. President Arthur was prominently connected with one of the leading Episcopal churches of New York City. President Cleveland was a regular attendant and, in later years, it is said, a member, of the Presbyterian church. President Harrison was a Presbyterian and for many years an elder of a church in Indianapolis. President McKinley was a Methodist. President Roosevelt is a member of the Dutch Reformed church. President Taft is a Unitarian.—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

Oliver Hill, one of Bethel township's substantial farmers, was in town attending to business yesterday. Mr. Hill says he found the creek at Needmore pretty high when he crossed coming to town.

Philosophizing.

The average woman is apt to tell all she knows, and then some. Even the charity that begins at home is sometimes wanted.

After all, it may be better to be a spendthrift than a lender-thrift.

Pay compliments, and you won't be forced to eat your own words.

It is hard for a man to practice economy and still be popular.

As a rule marriage either forms a man's character or reforms it.

Don't judge by appearance. A man may wear a diamond pin and still be real wealthy.

It is human nature to feel sorry for the people who are so perverse as not to like us.

A man is sometimes away off when he claims that distance lends enchantment to the view.

Some men are always anxious to do other people good, and some will do them any old way.

DOIT.

La grippe and bad colds seem popular around here. Those wishing to catch the disease, just call in this vicinity.

The Easter snow that came last Saturday left almost as soon as it came.

Preaching at Cedar Grove on the third Sunday in this month at 10:30 a. m.; Sunday school at 9:30. The Sunday school was organized last Sunday. James Truax was chosen Superintendent; Chas. Hess, secretary; Opal Sharpe, Bible class teacher; Maye Carnell, Intermediate teacher; Laura Winters, teacher of the Little Teachers' class; assistants not mentioned.

Our roads seem to be waiting on the supervisors. Nearly all the farmers around here are through plowing, and some have their oats sowed.

Belle Mellott, of Needmore, spent Sunday with Maye Carnell. Alpine school closed last Wednesday. Mt. Airy will close Tuesday.

A Horse's Toe Nails.

Few persons realize that a horse's hoof is really the same thing as the toe nails of human beings or of animals having toes. The horn of a hoof grows just as a toe nail does. The hoof grows more rapidly in unshod horses than in those wearing shoes, and it grows faster in horses which are well groomed and well fed. But on an average the horn grows about a third of an inch a month. Hind hoofs grow faster than fore hoofs. The toe of the hoof being the longest part, it takes longer for the horn to grow down there than at the heel. For instance, the toe will grow entirely down in from eleven to thirteen months, while the heel will grow down in from three to five months. As the new horn grows out any cracks or defects in the old gradually work down to where they can be cut off, just as with human finger nails you can watch the progress of a bruise from the root to the tip.—London Answers.

The Young Lawyer.

General John S. Wise gives some good advice to young lawyers in the Circle Magazine for April.

No man can know, when he starts out, writes Gen. Wise what sort of law he is going to get, and no man without practice ought to refuse any case he can get if it is reputable. The affairs of life are intermingled with each other like crabs in a basket. One may lift out the smallest crab and find it hung to the largest. So of law. Some of the best cases I ever had arose from little matters which, when they came to me, seemed almost too insignificant to bother with. And I have learned as much law from little cases as from large ones.

Soon after I came to the bar a druggist had a fight with man who kicked his dog and I defended him. Out of that ten dollar matter came large business. Not long afterward two men caught an Arctic seal and made money showing him until they quarreled. Then I was called in and I had a receiver appointed for the seal. In that case I learned enough of the office duties of receivers to make me a pretty good lawyer on that subject, and it brought from totally unexpected directions a large amount of business.

So never despise little cases if you have not large ones to occupy you—is my maxim to this day. It would be more emphatically so if I were younger and more dependent.

When a young fellow first appears in court he cannot be too careful in creating the impression that he does not think he knows much. The judges are busy and impatient and the lawyers are hired to throw an adversary down and rub sand in his eyes if they can.

An old lawyer touseling a young one is; as a rule, as merciless as a cat tossing a mouse and enjoys it in much the same way. If he delays in giving the finishing blow it is because he knows he has the victim at his mercy.

So, young fellow, when your time comes go at your business in a gingerly fashion at the start. No matter how much you know or how bright you are remember you are still an amateur, pitted against a professional, and act so modestly and deferentially that the old brutes may have their bowels of compassion stirred toward you. Do not invite assault. You little dream how hard the old fellows can hit. Wait until you are toughened up a bit. You will get tough pretty soon.

An experienced teacher says that pupils who have access to newspapers at home, when compared with those who do not, are better grammarians, better punctuators, and read more understandingly, and obtain a practical knowledge of geography in almost half the time it requires others. The newspaper is decidedly an important factor in modern life. This will not be disputed by any one who has taken the trouble to investigate the matter for himself.
