Manufacturing War Relics.

With the approach of the centenary celebrations of the famous Tyrolean fight for freedom a new industry has been created at Tyrol. Every veteran's association and rifle club in the land is preparing some kind of festival at which historic guns and flags and other emblems will be displayed. Unfortunately, these relics have become rather scarce in the hundred years which have elapsed since the war, but undaunted by this trifling circumstance the ingenuous peasantry are setting to work to make their own relics. In this enterprise they have developed remarkable ingenuity. A new flag is used for ometime as a duster, and then after being carefully smeared over with grease on both sides is put up in the garret where the grain is stored. In a few days the mice have made some artistic "builet" holes in the flag, which is then hung out in the garden. The sun does the rest, and a faded and tattered flag of really venerable appearance is the result. The village cksmiths have shown no le erness in making historic cannon, and there's no reason to fear that the centenary celebrations will suffer from any lack of relics from the war. Innsbruck Correspondence of Pall Mall Gazette.

Sight For Elk.

At a country fair out in Kansas a man went up to a tent where some elk were on exhibition, and stared wistfully up at the sign. "I'd like to go in there," he said to the keeper, but it would be mean to go in without my family, and I cannot afford to pay for my wife and 17 children. The keeper stared at him in astonish ment. "Are all those your chil-dren?" he gasped. "Every one," said the man. "You wait a minute," said the keeper. "I'm going to bring the elk out and let them see you all."the keeper. Argonaut.

> THINK HARD It Pays to Think About Food.

The unthinking life some people lead often causes trouble and sickness, illustrated in the experience of a lady in Fond Du Lac, Wis.

"About four years ago I suffered dreadfully from indigestion, always having eaten whatever I liked, not thinking of the digestible qualities. This indigestion caused palpitation of the heart so badly I could not walk up a flight of stairs without sitting down once or twice to regain breath and strength.

"I became alarmed and tried dieting, wore my clothes very loose, and many other remedies, but found no

"Hearing of the virtues of Grape-Nuts and Postum, I commenced using them in place of my usual breakfast of coffee, cakes, or hot biscuit, and in one week's time I was relieved of sour stomach and other ills attending indigestion. In a month's time my heart was performing its functions naturally, and I could climb stairs and hills and walk long distances.

"I gained ten pounds in this short time, and my skin became clear and I ompletely regained my health and strength. I continued to use Grape-Nuts and Postum, for I feel that I owe my good health entirely to their use. "There's a Reason."

DEATH'S CLOSE CALLS.

Child And Miner - Have Miraculous Escapes At Shenandoah.

Shenandoah. - Mamie Sponick aged 5, while playing in the street was run down by a farmer's wagon loaded with hay. One of the front wheels passed over the child's body but she is only slightly injured. The quick action of fellow-work-man and an engineer saved the life of Charles Mockamer. A heavy steam shovel at Kehley Run Colliery about to dive into the earth for load of clay, caught him in its dive and was about to crush his life our when fellow-workmen, seeing the great danger, shouted to the engineer, who stopped the machinery just in time to save Mockamer's life. Both escapes from death were miraculous.

Brandywine Well Stocked By National Fish Commission.

West Chester .- With the placing of 20,000 pike perch in the Brandywine at Lenape a total of 4,000,000 fish will have been placed this season by the National Fish Commission. under the direction of the Chester County Fish and Game Protective Association. The association has begun proceedings against the West Chester Street Railway Company for the draining of a pond at Lenape, re-sulting in the killing of thousands of fish that are now rotting in the sun. Suits are also to be brought against mills that are polluting the stream.

Electric Company Enjoined.

Williamsport.-Alleging that the Citizen's Electric Company, upon being notified by the city of the dangerous condition of its wires in certain sections of the city, cut the wires of the Lycoming Electric Company and placed its own wires in the safe positions formerly held by the wires of the Lycoming Company, the latter company secured a temporary injunc-tion restraining the Citizen's Company from cutting or removing any more of its wires or poles. The trouble follows the campaign that the city has instituted to improve wire conditions, which experts had declared to be positively dangerous.

Fear Of Gallows Drove Him Insanc. Pittston .- For five months Charley Burazzo, of Pittston, languished in fall with the charge of murder hanging over him. Two weeks ago a Luzerne County jury acquitted him and he walked from jail a free man. The thought of a hangman's rope, however, had affected his mind and Pittston police took h'm to Danville Insane Asylum a raving maniac.

Trout For Pottsville Angiers. Pottsville.-Since the State laws have restrained the coal companies from dumping sulphur water and culm deposits into the streams of Schuylkill County, the various fish associations are restocking the creeks with trout fry, to replace the fishes killed off by the poisoned waters.

Virginia in the Campaign. Good roads is the slogan of the people of Virginia. In all parts of the State the matter is being brought to the atention of the voters, who are declaring against the mud tax. Greenville County has, through the board of supervisors, petitioned the judge to order an election for the issue of good road bonds in that county to the value of $80,000. There is good reason to believe that the people will vote for the bond issue.

In Culpeper County, where the road work was held up by some sort of fluke in the election in the county, the people who have seen the benefits of the improvement started, have already raised $4500, the money to be used to complete the work begun some time ago in connection with State aid to the road work.

Augusta County, which was rather slow in augurating the work, has under survey two additional highways one of ten miles and one of four miles—as indicating the interest which the people of that county feel and the benefits they are deriving from improved highways. The people living along the lines of the proposed new roads have already subscribed $1000 a mile to be expended in that work, the money to be used in connection with the road fund from the State.

Roanoke County is also coming to the front. Within the last few days $5000 have been collected on a fund of $15,000 to be expended on the roads in that county, this money to augument that received from the

Who Should Pay For Roads?

In readjusting the cost of roads, the aim should be to shift more of the burden upon the cities. In some of the States more than half the people live in cities, and in these days of automobiles the roads are worn quite as much by people who travel through the country in high power machines as by country people who use ordinary vehicles; yet, except on State roads, the city users pay nothing toward the high cost of building and repairing roads under modern conditions.

In former times when most of the people lived in the country, all people contributed to the construction of highways; in fact, the local supervisor would call on every able-bodied citizen between twenty-one and fortyfive years of age for ten days' manual labor per year on the road. When the labor tax was changed to money it was placed on the same basis and the burden put upon the towns. It was assumed that users would be nearly all residents of the town; but in days of automobile touring the principal users of the roads may reside many miles away.

The remedy suggested by Martin Dodge, the director of the Office of Public Roads Inquiry, is that all the property owners in every city, as well as in every country, shall pay a money tax into a general fund which shall be devoted exclusively to highway improvement in rural districts. In some States the same general reome in Nazareth, Mrs. Eugene Lei-ert, wife of Lev. Eugene Leibert, a tension of the State owned and built tension of the State owned and built roads that the system penetrates in every direction and includes year by year more and more of the leading highways. The road question is no longer a country problem, but applies to all classes, and for that reason all classes should be made to share

Virginia Roads.

Much encouragement for the movement for the improvement of the highways of Virginia is given in the fact that ninety of the 100 counties of that State have complied with the conditions for obtaining a share of the fund appropriated by the General Assembly, the condition being that each county must provide for good roads an amount of money equal to that received from the general fund. It is true that the combined moneys will by no means suffice to give all the improved highways that are needed. But the construction in each county of only a few miles of firstclass up-to-date roads may be surely expected to be an incentive to other appropriations upon a similar basis until the Commonwealth finds certain returns in increased population, advanced prices for real estate and general betterment in a complete network of improved highways.

Notable in this connection is the reported_offer by the Chamber of Commerce, of Petersburg, of $500 a mile for each mile of road to be constructed within a given time in Din-Chesterfield and Prince widdie. George counties, the starting point to he at the city's corporation line .-Manufacturers' Record.

Weekly Review of Trade and Latest Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Further significant improvements have been made in fron and steel, and as they form a great basic trade this goes far toward establishing the long desired readjustment of the whole industrial situation. This, and the better weather for both agricultural and mercantile interests, are the week's most important trade de-velopments. A marked optimistic feeling therefore prevails in most branches of business in spite of the fact that the unsettling tariff debate continues, not having yet reached its last stage—that of the conference committee. The notable event of the week in cotton goods has been the reduction in staple prints, led by the leading producer. The declines prove to be more radical than anticipated, although opinions in the trade vary as to their probable duration.

Bradstreet's mays: Irregularity still characterizes the trade, crop and industrial situation. In industrial lines the consensus of reports is that further improvement has been registered, especially in the iron and steel, coal, coke, woolen manufacturing and leather trades. Building is active and lines of trade catering to this industry are feeling beneficial effects. seasons period in wholesale and jobbing distributive trade; orders from retailers are merely of a filling-in character and hardly equal to expectations.
