TRIED TO HIDE ELSIE SEGAL'S BODY

Leon Ling Carried Trunk To Newark, N. J.

NEW CLUES FOUND BY POLICE.

Murderer Of Elsie Sigel Took The Trunk Containing Her Dead Body To The Restaurant Of A Friend Of His On The Day Of The Murder—Autopsy Clears Up To Some Extent The Mystery Of How The Murder Occurred

New York (Special).—The New York police confirmed the new phase of the Sigel murder case brought to light in Newark, N. J., that Leon Ling was in Newark early in the afternoon of the day of the murder with a heavy oval-topped trunk, like the one in which the body was found, on his hands, and a pressing anxiety to be rid of it. It had been ascertained that he attempted to leave the trunk in the Newark restaurant of Li Sing, but prudent Li Sing wouldn't hear of having the trunk dumped on him.

James Halstead, the Newark cabbie, who is understood to have driven Leon and his burden of terror back to New York that same day, could not be found. When the police lay hands on him they will take him to the property-room at headquarters and ask him to identify positively the trunk in which the body was found as the one he drove from Newark to New York, with a chauffeur Chinaman as his only living fare.

The mystery of just how Elsie Sigel was killed was cleared up to some extent with the announcement of the result of the coroner's autopsy, supporting in a way the theory that the murder was not premeditated, but was committed on the spur of the moment by the jealousy-crazed Chinaman.

Dr. O'Hanlon, of the coroner's office, said that there had been found no ruptured blood vessels, signs of strangulation, or that on the contrary there was evidence of the congestion of the lungs, such as always goes with death by asphyxiation. The analysis of the contents of the stomach is not yet complete, and on account of the advanced state of decomposition in which the body was found, it has presented many difficulties.

There is absolutely no confirmation of the statement made to the police by a clerical friend of the Sigel family, that Elsie ever quarreled with her rival, who is held under bond as a material witness. Chu Gain protested that he has sorrows enough without being made out a widower.

The District Attorney's office had on account of an English-speaking Chinaman, up for a little quiz on the Chinese tongue and their possible affiliations with the case. Ong Fung told the authorities that nothing was known in Chinatown to connect Leon with either of the tongs, and that apart from his membership in the Chinese Masons (which the Masons deny) the only other society to which he belonged was the Four Brothers, which embraces all the descendants of the four fabled demigods who lived in the cloudy days before the Chinese history began, and who gather now for nothing more violent than to vaunt their descent.

YOUNG GIRL FOUND DEAD IN THE WOODS

Boone County Tragedy Involved In Mystery.

Miss Edna Lamont Swallowed Poison Either With Suicidal Intent Or Through Designs Of A Jealous Lover—Was A Girl Of Striking Beauty And Happy Disposition And Had Many Lovers.

Madison, W. Va. (Special).—Miss Edna Lamont, a pretty girl in her teens, was found dead in a woodland near her home in this county. All indications point to suicide, still the opinion prevails among many of her friends that she was poisoned, possibly by a jealous lover. Her striking beauty and happy disposition won for her many a suitor, and of late rumor had it that she was soon to be married to a popular young man in a nearby village.

That the girl swallowed poison either by mistake or otherwise is a certainty, and a coroner's jury so found. Miss Lamont was the daughter of Clemens Lamont, owner of one of the finest stock farms in the county. She left her home to spend Sunday with a neighbor. Shortly before the noon hour her body was found in a woodland not far from the public highway. No letter was left.

MR. TAFT'S TAX PLAN GOES TO CONGRESS

Senator Aldrich Introduces the Net-Income Amendment.

ALL DATA WILL BE HELD SECRET.

The Act Calls For A Tax Of Two Per Cent. On All Corporations Having An Income Of Over $5,000—Many Provisions Made For The Expenses And Losses—Companies Must Make Annual Report—Revenue Agent May Examine Books To Verify Statements.

Washington, D. C. (Special).—President Taft's corporation tax plan was presented to the Senate by Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the Finance Committee, and was ordered printed as a committee amendment to the tariff bill.

As drafted by Attorney General Wickersham and Senator Root the measure is believed to be amendable, and an effort will be made to put it through Congress unchanged. It will be designated as "the Taft plan," the weight of the President's name being depended upon largely to encompass its enactment.

Briefly stated, the plan imposes a tax of 2 per cent. upon the net earnings of every corporation, joint stock company or association organized for profit and having a capital stock represented by shares, and every insurance company organized under the laws of any United States or of any state, territory or district, or organized under the laws of any foreign country and engaged in business within the United States.

subject to the tax for the exemption of expenses, cost of maintenance, depreciation of property, debts and the interest thereon, other forms of taxation and all expenditures usually taken from earnings accounts. Every corporation is also given an exemption of $5,000 of earnings before the tax shall apply.

All of the machinery relating to the collection, remission and refunding of internal revenue taxes is made applicable to the corporation tax, and the responsibility for the enforcement of the law is placed upon the commissioner of internal revenue in the same manner as other internal revenue taxes.

While the corporations are required to supply information of a most business character relating to their business, it is made to safeguard them against the carrying of data obtained for the purpose of assessing the tax. Penalties are provided in case of false or fraudulent returns.

Practically every character of incorporated institution organized for profit is brought within the provisions of the corporation tax. The provision defining the concerns from which the tax will be collected is as follows:

"That every corporation, joint stock company or association organized for profit and having a capital stock represented by shares, and every insurance company, now or hereafter organized under the laws of the United States or of any state or territory of the United States, or under the laws of any foreign country, or organized under the laws of any foreign country and engaged in business in any state or territory of the United States or in Alaska or in the District of Columbia shall be subject to pay annually a special excise tax with respect to the carrying on or doing business by such corporation, joint stock company or association or insurance company equivalent to 2 per cent. upon the net income over and above $5,000 received by it from all sources during such year, exclusive of amounts received by it as dividends upon stock of other corporations, joint stock companies or associations or insurance companies, subject to the tax hereby imposed."

MAUDE ADAMS AS JOAN OF ARC

Great Pageant Given in the Harvard Stadium.

Fifteen Thousand Persons Witness A Magnificent Rendition Of Schiller's Historical Play—Live Sheep On The Stage, State Militia As Archers, A Great Cathedral Erected And A Forest Specially Created For The Occasion.

Cambridge, Mass. (Special).—The experiment of producing Schiller's "Maid of Orleans" beneath starry skies with close approach to the historic detail surrounding the bright figure of the fifteenth century, was carried out with considerable success here in the extensive area of the Harvard stadium, by Miss Maude Adams in her company, numbering about 2,000 persons. The performance was undertaken for the benefit of the Germania Museum of Harvard, and the greater part of the working force of the Frohman syndicate was actively engaged in the production.

More than 15,000 persons, massed on tiered seats, saw the performance. The beauties of Schiller's lines and the magnitude of the plan of reproduction combined to make the few hours in the stadium this evening a period of intense pleasure. The historic perspective was skillfully maintained throughout, from the little pastoral scene in Johann's father's home with the flocks of living sheep and actual trees of the forest, to the splendor of the French court, the clash of the English and French arms, the coronation pageant and the death scene in the cathedral.

The motley crowd of serfs and valets was made up of Harvard students. Men of the State militia marched as archers and spearmen in the French and English armies. Horsemen from militia batteries clattered into the arena in coats of mail of nearly five centuries ago, while able actors in armor tramped the greensward and clashed in duels in the most realistic manner. And through all the scenes threaded the slim figure of Miss Adams as the French maid, first in a homely peasant's dress in brilliant armor and seated on a milk-white charger, and finally in the knightly costume, which at last became her shroud.

The scale upon which the scenery was prepared was consistent with the proportions of the amphitheatre. A special electric light plant had been installed to supply hundreds of brilliant lights needed, a great cathedral was erected, a background constructed and a realistic forest created.

The performance itself moved with remarkable smoothness considering the nature of the undertaking, and the fact that the opportunity for repeated rehearsals had not been found.

The spoken parts were well played. The words of the actors could be distinctly heard, despite the great distance of the speakers from the audience, and the absence of acoustic devices.

Miss Adams was accorded an ovation at the end of the performance.

IN CYCLONE CELLAR 2 WEEKS.

Texas Lived On Raw Potatoes—No Water For Two Days.

Galveston, Texas (Special).—In removing a cyclone wreck house on the farm of Charles Dilson, in Brown County, the wreckers discovered a storm cellar in which were Dilson and his wife and 12-year-old daughter, more dead than alive. For two weeks they had been prisoners in the cellar with barely a morsel to eat for a week and nothing to drink for two days. Raw potatoes had been their subsistence for six days. They will survive.

After the storm the Dilsons were missed and searchers believed they had deserted their place and moved away. The house had been blown over and covered the storm cellar, which was about 20 yards from the home, and searchers knew nothing about it. The trio of prisoners tried to dig their way to the surface with their hands and succeeded only in cutting a tunnel which afforded them air.

SEVENTEEN GOAL MINERS ARE KILLED

Open Lamp Causes An Explosion Of Gas.

SIXTEEN OTHERS WERE INJURED

Disaster In Lackawanna Coal Company's Mine At Wehrum, Pa.—Women Volunteer For Rescue Work In Face Of Deadly Blast From The Mine's Mouth—The Rescuers Were Overcome By The Fumes And Gas.

Wehrum, Pa. (Special).—As the result of an explosion of gas in mine No. 4, of the Lackawanna Coal and Coke Company, shortly after 1 o'clock A. M., 17 miners were killed and 16 injured. With the exception of one, those killed were foreigners. With few exceptions those injured were Americans.

Twelve of the more seriously injured were taken to Spangler Hospital. It was stated that all would probably recover.

Inspector Joseph Williams, of Altoona, with a party, entered the mine shortly after 8 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of ascertaining whether anyone was yet entombed.

Superintendent A. M. Johnson stated that while the mine has always been regarded as non-gaseous, the explosion was due to the ignition of a pocket of gas by the open lamp of a miner.

"The mine has been so free from gas for the past six years," said the superintendent, "that the State inspectors have permitted the use of open lamps. With 17 dead and 16 injured, I am of the opinion that everyone has been accounted for who entered the mine."

Getting Family Supply.

The mine has only been operating two days each week—Tuesday and Friday. Those in the mine had entered the shaft for their daily allowance of coal for family use.

Grouped about the slope entrance of the mine, a sound of hissing mine gas at the entrance of the mine brought the entire town to the scene.

Superintendent A. M. Johnson, backed by the office force of the company, stood at the mine entrance and held back the frantic women whose relatives were in the mine.

The first man to reach the surface was A. L. Johnson, son of the superintendent. Young Johnson had been in a lower heading. There were burns on his arms, body and neck, and it was stated he had inhaled gas. He is one of the few very seriously injured.

Following the superintendent's son came two Italians, their faces burned to a crisp. They were attended by the mine physician.

Women Are Brave.

Superintendent Johnson called for volunteers to enter the mine. In the volunteer ranks stood several women. These were ordered back. With wet handkerchiefs tied over their faces the first squad of the relief party started down the shaft.

Of the eight who started, four came back with their senses. The others, overcome with black damp, were pulled to the surface with ropes.

A second and third party entered only to be driven back by the deadly gases, hissing and spouting in the lower levels.

Oxygen tanks by the Cambria Steel Works, aided the searchers, and with safety helmets a fourth rescue party succeeded in bringing 12 bodies to the surface. Late in the afternoon five more bodies were recovered. They were found huddled together in the lower level heading.

They had died in an evident effort to reach the main shaft.

In twos and threes the injured were found and lifted to the mouth of the mine and these hastily taken to the temporary hospital established at the company store. The bodies were removed to the Spangler Hospital, 26 miles from Wehrum.
