Insect Stings.

Stings and bites of insects are exremely dangerous at all times, and especially when the system is not in a condition to resist the poison in-jected. In many insects the nature of the poison has not been ascertain-ed; while in most of them it is of an acid, irritant nature; in others it may contain a powerful cardiac sedative and depressant, and in still other organisms in pure or mixed cultures may be introduced with the ting or bite. Apart from the naturson used by insects, it should ot be forgotten that flies and other insects that live on carrion may asily carry contagion and inoculate the persons whom they bite or sting. In the case of ordinary bites and stings the chemical antidote strong alkaline solution, such as a solution of bicarbonate strong of soda or potash, which counteracts the acid of the sting. Suction at the wound in all these varieties of stings

There are a great many methods advertised in various pamphlets and papers stating that, if you will practice this or that method of selecting as laid down in the paper, you will be able to determine the drones from the workers. The writer has tried a few of these so-called certainties, and has come to the conclusion the trap nest is the only accurate test. It is by selection and keeping records that Riv advancement is made along this line. Each hen has her own individualin ity; certain hens lay eggs that are in nine cases out of ten hatchable. Some hens lay well, but although their eggs are usually fertile, they will not hatch, whether set under a hen or placed in the best incubator. The chicks develop to a certain size, in many cases being fully formed, but die in the shell. Again, many hens lay eggs that are seldom fertile. In selecting birds one has several objects. The saying "that the hen that lays is the hen that pays" is often heard. The majority engaged in the poultry business consider egg production the best end of the business. It is often the surest. There is not the same amount of risk attached to it. At the same time, if people are foolish enough to believe that Mr. So-and-So can supply eggs from hens, tested by the so-called new system, which have produced 300 eggs per annum, they have more faith in the advertiser and the hen than the writer has. There is no doubt that certain char-

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

Bradstreet's says: Retail trade has been helped by steady hot weather, holiday preparations and clearance sales, but there are still not lacking reports from many cities that the spring and early summer turnover is below expectations. Jobbing trade is of a midsummer small filling-in-order character. Most confidence and certainly the largest business visible is that reported and being booked for next fall, winter and spring. In this respect the strength of demand for cotgoods at hardening quotations, partly due to the strength of raw cotton and the satisfactory reports as to orders booked by woolen and worsted goods manufacturers for next spring's delivery at very high prices, are by far the notable teat-ures. All Western cities report fall bookings larger than last year by various percentages, and some adnext fall. At large Eastern centers the volume of business done by first hands in dry goods is said to be lit-tle below the best which occurred in the first half of 1907.

"MEMOIRS OF DAN RICE." THE CLOWN OF OUR DADDIES.

At Last, There is on Sale a Book Brimful of American Humor.

Any bookseller will tell you that the constant quest of his customers is for "a book which will make me laugh." The bookman is compelled to reply that the race of American humorists has run out and comic literature is scarcer than funny plays. A wide sale is therefore predicted for the "Memoirs of Dan Rice," Clown of Our Daddies, written by Maria Ward Brown, a book guaranteed to make you roar with laughter. The author presents to the public a volume of the great jester's most pungent jokes, comic harangues, caustic hits upon men and manners, lectures, anecdotes, skotches of adventure, original songs and poetical effusions; wise and witty, serious, satirical, and sentimental sayings of the sawdust arena of other days. These "Memoirs" also contain a series of adventures and incidents alternating from grave to gay; descriptive scenes and thrilling events; the record of half a century of a remarkable life, in the course of which the subject was brought into contact with most of the national celebrities of the day. The book abounds in anecdotes, humorous and otherwise; and it affor's a clearer view of the inside mysteries of show life than any account heretofore published. Old Dan Rice, as the proprietor of the famous "One Horse Show," was more of a national character than Artemus Ward, and this volume contains the humor which made the nation laugh even while the great Civil War raged. This fascinating book of 500 pages beautifully illustrated, will be sent postpaid to you for $1.50. Address Book Publishing House, 134 Leonard street, New York City

ORIGIN Of a Famous Human Food.

The story of great discoveries or inventions is always of interest. An active brain worker who found himself hampered by lack of bodily strength and vigor and could not carry out the plans and enterprises he knew how to conduct, was led to study various foods and their effects apon the human system. In other words, before he could carry out his plans he had to find a food that would carry him along and renew his physical and mental strength.

He knew that a food which was a brain and nerve builder (rather than a more fat maker) was universally needed. He knew that meat with the average man does not accomplish the desired results. He knew that the soft gray substance in brain and herve centres is made from Albumen and Phosphate of Potash obtained from food. The he started to solve the problem.

Careful and extensive experiments evolved Grape-Nuts, the now famous food. It contains the brain and nerve bailding food elements in condition for easy digestion.

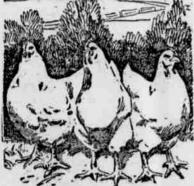

The result of eating Grape-Nuts daily is easily seen in a marked sturdiness and activity of the brain and house needs constant care, too. nervous system, making it a pleasure for one to carry on the daily duties without fatigue or exhaustion.

Grape-Nuts food is in no sense a stimulant, but is simply food which renews and replaces the daily waste of brain and nerves.

Its flavour is charming, and being fully and thoroughly cooked at the factory it is served instantly with Croar

Rye and Alfalfa.

Doors for fowls to go into yards should be so placed that a good yard, sown to rye or alfalfa, is available for each pen. Where ground for yards and raising grain is limited, the same yards may be planted in late corn, then sown in rye; it should be sown very thick, to allow the fowls to have the run of it while it is still small, and yet not destroy it. Corn can be planted early in July, after hatching season is over and all fowls thrown into one yard, if not out on

It's nothing more or less than extrava. BOOK PUB. HOUSE, gauge topay a big price for a safety. 136 Leonard Sc., New York

The only part that counts for anything is the blade. But good blades—even he best of blades—don't warrant the price usually demanded for the razor. The biggest part of what you pay for the regular safety-razor is for the frame and the box—details that don't figure at all in the razor's value. Prove this for yourself Prove this for yourself.
