Miss Edie J. Shute, a teacher at Puritan, entered a charge of assault and battery against Mrs. Harry Dumm, the mother of one of her pupils, and at a hearing the accused woman was held in $300 bail for court. It is alleged that the teacher kept the Dumm boy in after school with another lad because the two had been fighting. Dumm's mother went to the school and attacked the teacher. She scratched her face until the blood flowed freely. Another teacher who went to the rescue was stoned.

A story is told on a Peters township, Franklin county, school teacher, who, it is said, one day last week, when the pupils were dismissed for recess in the afternoon, put on his hat, picked up his dinner pail, went out, locked the door, and in an absent-minded way, was making off toward home, when something seemed to dawn on his mind that it was not four o'clock. He retraced his steps rather sheepishly, took his place behind the desk and finished the afternoon's work without making any explanation as to his peculiar move. The pupils were bright enough to "catch on," however.

Local Institute.

The second local institute of Brush Creek township was held at Emmaville, Oct. 22. The meeting was called to order by the teacher, Miss Grace Lodge, who appointed Mr. A. M. Hixon to act as president.

The subjects were well discussed by the teachers present—Ella Barton, Ada Barton, Esta Akers, Grace Lodge, Lucy Peightel, Chester Spade, Grant Spade and Homer Akers. The teachers were glad to have with them the secretary of the school board, A. M. Hixon, who has been a very successful teacher and was able to give some very helpful suggestions. The literary work, which consisted of recitations, select readings and dialogues, was well rendered by the school. Also several solos on the Mandolin by Carl Hixon was very much enjoyed by those present. The institute adjourned to meet at Akersville, Friday evening, Nov. 5th. All friends of education are invited to attend.—Lucy Peightel, secretary.

The second local institute in Belfast township was held at Pleasant Grove, Oct. 22nd. The meeting was called to order by the teacher Miss Bessie Morton, after which Prof. Don Morton was elected president. The subjects for discussion were: "Duties of patron, teacher, and directors," and "Geography and how taught." The following teachers were present and took part in the discussions: Daisy Strait, Pearl Hill, Blanche Smith, Bessie Morton, and Eva Bedford, of Belfast; Sherman Barnhart and Albert Garland, of Bethel, and Thomas Truax, of Union. The discussions were interspersed by a number of songs and recitations by the school, given in a manner that speaks well of both teacher and pupils.

Supt. B. C. Lamberson and Prof. W. Don Morton were present and gave some very valuable instruction on the subjects to be discussed. The next institute will be held at Sipes Hill, Nov. 5th. All friends of education are invited.—Eva Bedford, secretary.

The second local institute of Lacking Creek township was held at Vallence school house Oct. 22. The meeting was called to order by the teacher Miss Kathryn Hoop, after which H. O. Wible took charge. Following topics were discussed: 1, Simplicity in teaching. 2, What are teachers props and spurs? 3, Methods of disciplining. Teachers present: Ada Decker, Kathryn Hoop, Ally Deshong, H. O. Wible and Maude Deshong, of Lacking Creek, and Prof. Emory Thomas, of McConnellsburg who gave a very interesting talk on each of the subjects which will be of a great value to those teachers present. The discussions were enlivened by several good recitations which speaks well for both teacher and pupils. Adjourned to meet at Shanes school in two weeks.—Maude Deshong, secretary.

The second local institute of Taylor was held Friday, Oct. 22d, at Hiram. The topics discussed were: 1, Algebra. 2, Grammar and Composition. 3, The Spelling Class. Discussions were thorough and practical, interspersed by excellent literary work by pupils of school. Teachers present were: Jno. Woodcock, D. K. Chesnut, Dean Berkstresser, U. G. Wink, Nell Curran, W. H. Ranck, Russell Gracy, Ruth Strait, Levi P. Morton, Myrtle Stevens, Robert Cromer, Dotte Deshong, Elsa Baker, Amos Peightel, and Mr. Rohrer. Directors present: E. H. Kirk and Geo. Heefner. Many of the patrons were also present. Messrs. E. H. Kirk, Grant Hoover, and Leslie Shaw took part in the discussion. The next institute will be at Gracey, Nov. 12th.—W. H. Ranck, secretary.

The second local institute of Todd township was held last Friday evening at Scott's school. The meeting was called to order by the teacher, Miss Mary Ott, after which Mr. Peightel presided.

How do you teach advanced geography? and how do you teach pupils to think? were thoroughly discussed by the teachers and some of the patrons. Some strong points were brought out in the

How to Serve Foods Shot from Guns

Serve them with cream, like other cereals. Or serve them with fruit.

Serve them, like crackers, in a bowl of milk. Or serve them as they are in the package.

However you serve them, you'll find them the most enticing foods that you know.

Think of whole wheat or rice kernels puffed to eight times natural size. Made four times as porous as bread.

Puffed Wheat—10c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Unbroken kernels, crisp and nut-like, ready to melt in the mouth.

Digestible kernels, with every starch granule literally blasted to pieces.

Do you wonder that such foods have jumped into such popularity?

Can you wonder that seventeen million dishes were consumed by people last month?

See if your folks like them.

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.

arguments which followed.

The following teachers were present: Mary Ott, Nell Barton, Kathryn Hoop, A. D. Peightel, Levi P. Morton, Robt. Cromer, D. K. Chesnut, Dotte Deshong, Blanche O. Peck and Blanche Brant.

Some very good literary work was done by the school. The meeting adjourned to meet at Knobsville, Friday evening, Nov. 19, 1909.—Blanche O. Peck, secretary.

The third local institute of Bethel township was held at May's Chapel last Friday evening. The meeting was opened by the president A. C. Garland. The teachers, viz: Miss Katharine Kirk, Miss Otthe Hill, Miss Kathryn Yonker; Mr. Garland, Thomas Truax and Mr. Stable from Union township, were present and thoroughly discussed the following questions: Number work—how conducted? How may we improve ourselves as teachers? and How do you conduct an object lesson in the chart class? The literary program was well rendered by the school. Institute adjourned to meet in two weeks at Gordon's school.—Lulu Slusher, secretary.

Painting Trunks of Fruit Trees.

A physician, who is interested in fruit culture, wrote to Professor H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, Harrisburg, in reference to painting trees with white lead and linsed oil, as a protection against borers, as follows:

"In the Reading Eagle, I saw a report of your demonstration given at the Poor House grounds at Shillington, showing the advantage of painting trunks of trees with white lead and raw linsed oil for borers. We have done this, but since heard that some Shillington fruit growers lost a great number of trees by this method. I write to you, asking as to the advantage of this treatment, and if there is danger of smothering the trees by painting them."

The answer of State Zoologist Surface follows:

"Replying to your letter of recent date, I beg to say that I am deeply interested in your statement that you have heard that the Shillington fruit growers lost a number of trees by painting them with white lead and linsed oil. I must acknowledge that this is news to me, as I have not been informed concerning such loss.

However, I do know that tens of thousands of trees have been painted with this material in this State without injury to them. Of course, you understand that I recommend painting only apple, pear, and quince trees, as there is no advantage in painting peach trees, and the last named is more delicate than the others. Nevertheless, two years ago I painted my young peach trees, and this year took my most abundant and best crop of peaches from the trees that had been painted.

I cannot believe that painting has hurt the trees to which you refer, unless "boiled" oil or impure material were used. I should like to be informed as to just what persons lost their trees by painting them; how many they lost, and under what conditions. I should then like to trace up this information and see what material was used, and where it was procured. I really think there is no danger when raw oil and pure lead are used.

I have seen tens of thousands of trees painted in Adams county by the extensive fruit growers of that county without any danger to any of the trees. They are continuing it after four or five years of successful practice.

"The advantage of painting the trunks of apple, pear and quince trees is, that the borers are kept out during the summer time, and the rabbits and mice are not nearly so liable to gnaw them in the winter. I think there is no advantage in painting peach and plum trees (unless it be for rabbits and mice), and, therefore, do not recommend it."

Millinery as a Business for Women.

Millinery as a business for women is not an experiment. It has been tried successfully by thousands of woman the world over. Each year sees more women thrown on their own resources opening little millinery parlors in their own residence districts, and succeeding, too, unless per chance they try to do more than they have the means, the strength and the skill to do. The silly viewpoint that "being in trade" lowers a woman's social standing has changed to the modern spirit: "I dignify my work. It cannot dignify me."

Millinery classes are to be found in most of the Young Woman's Christian Associations, in trade and domestic art schools of colleges and universities. I do not believe this course has been introduced into the public schools to any great extent. Unless you are in touch with the Y. W. C. A. and other classes, you will find no direct way toward becoming a milliner save to work in the shop of an established one. I do not advise any girl to try to set up her own shop until she has had this apprenticeship; then you will learn the right way and the quick way of covering frames with net, buckram, velvet, lace, straw; making and arranging bandeaus; shaping hats to suit faces, trimming, judging materials, gauging the cost and selling price of a hat, what to allow for the materials and for your skill and time. Tying ribbon bows has become an art, and girls are employed at ribbon counters to tie bows for customers, "free of charge." This is a hint which may give you similar employment, or which you can use when you set up your own shop.—"Millinery as an Occupation for Women," in The Ladies' World for November.
