Potash For Sale to All.

Farmers who farm on business principles and fertilize their soils as a manufacturer puts money into a plant—for investment—have never needed much argument to be convinced that "Potash Pays," as the German Kali Works puts it. The trouble for the farmer has been not only the price, but the difficulty of getting Potash at any price. The manufacturers have heretofore absorbed it. II.

All this has been changed, and thousands of farmers who farm for predit rather than for mere wages and a living, will now be able to buy all the Potash Salts they need, in any quantity they want it, of local dealers or grywhere. And not only this—but they can get it at lower rates than have eyer before been clarged.

This means that farmers can now invest in plant foods that they themselves can buy and mix—iertilizers without fillers or make-weights—and put the money saved from interest, freight, excessive profits on fillers and mixing charges into so much more actual errop-making fertilizer.

The great German potash mines are now producing enough potash to enable the American selling agency to guarantee delivery of all that is required both by fertilizer manuf theres and is required to the by fertilizer manuf theres and strong your dealer to carry these invaluable salts in stock, Tell bein to write to the German Kali Works. Since 1907 there has been a sharp increase in the cost of living, and a gradual increase for a dozen years. In a special dispatch to The American from Trenton, N. J., it was stated by the State Board of Labor and Statistics that the cost of living in New Jersey has increased in thirteen years 37.13 per cent.

These facts have been brought home to a number of Senators by their constituents. The people want to know whether combinations and price arrangements have raised cost to consumers; what the farmer and the cost of living, and a gradual increase for a dozen years, in a special dispatch to The American is, the price of commodities to-day is within a small fraction of one per cent, of the highest record.

HERE'S THE PERFECT WAITER.

Soup and Culture at Chicago University.

################# There is now a school for waiters at the University of Chicago. Forty young men, who combine a deep knowledge of psychology and ethics with a gift for breaking dishes and spilling soup on professors, are being taught the gentle art of serving food in an ultra-cultured manner at Hutchinson Hall, the University Common. The laboratory method has been chosen to start the new college, Actual experience three times a day will At the Midway youths for their new activities and prepare them for any exigency that may arise after the completion of their education. Thomas L. Barrell, manager of the Commons, is donn of the latest university department.

The Commons manager attacked his subject under six different beads. including the "lest word," in italics, in which the applying waiter is notified that "good scholarship will not make up for a deficiency in efficient and willing service." Mr. Barrell's aim is to obtain artistic service from the kitchen to the customer and then back again with the leavings. The volunteers, who are trying their best to memorize the new rules, will receive three twenty-cent meals a day for their service, which will be two and a half hours in duration. They will be given the extra attention of receiving bread, butter, and a drink with each meal, but they must not "take rolls or gems in place of bread."

Following are some of the rules for the perfect walter laid down by Mr. Barrell:

Do not talk, senfile, or drop your trays.

Avoid, in all cases, eating your meals in sections, part before and part after you work; avoid keeping ice cream or a la mode checks in your pockets.

It is not permitted that you have any one else eat in your place. Avoid in all cases handling bread with your fingers in taking things off your tray. Most customers desire some part of their order first. Where fried eggs or poached are served, care should be taken to keep the yolk of the egg unbroken. A waiter should never leave any customer, after serving an order, till he knows that he has the necessary silverware to eat with and a glass of

If necessary, wipe the bottom of dishes with a napkin,

Be careful not to allow your tray to drip on the floor and do not brush crumbs off the table on the floor,

To be a good watter it is essential that you should be quick, but also that you should not appear to harry. Avoid appearing to slam things down on the table,

Butter should be served one tab on a plate, as this will ald in saving unused taba

Reading newspapers or studying while on duty should be avoided. Do not lean over a chair to talk to a customer at your table, but do your talking standing up. The customers will not be expected to live up to the walters. Some of them do strange things, according to the manager. One graduate student came to breakfast every morning last summer, always ordering simply a cup of hot water Manager Rarrell strained the Biblical example and gave it to him free of charge, until he discovered that the learned young man surreptiously dropped a small tablet of prepared chocolate into it and partook of a warm and savory drink every time. This will no longer be tolerated .- Chicago Record-Her-

HOW TO STOP A MOTOR CAR.

It Isn't Easy to Do It in a Big Hurry Without Skidding.

"Never do anything suddenly with an automobile," writes an experienced driver in Outing. "Only so can wear and tear on the car be minimized, not to mention accidents. Suppose you are confronted with the necessity for a sudden stop. Your amateur impulse will be to jam down the clutch pedal, grip the emergency brake lever and clamp the wheels into cessation of their revolution.

"The motor, thus relieved of its load, will begin to race, the flywbeel will apin around with increasing velocity, and you are lucky if, especially on wet asphalt, your car does not skid around like a top, hit the curb and turn turtle with you underneath. The wear of this sort of stop on the tires should be a sufficient consideration for you to refrain from cultivating it.

"If, on the other hand, you first close the throttle, then throw out the clutch and apply the brake just hard enough to allow the wheels barely to revolve your car will come to a safer and speedier stop without strain. The motions to accomplish this must of course be practically simultaneous. but they are no more difficult than those required for the wrong kind of Once at rest, you open the throttle instantly and advance the spark if necessary to start the engine. The clutch can then be thrown in gradually when you wish to advance."
