The Philosophy Of Hustling, The American moves rapidly, but if you should infer from this that is always in a hurry, you would make a mistake. His fundamental philosophy is that you must be quick sometimes if you do not wish to be hurried always. You must condense, you must eliminate, you must save time on the little things in order that you may have more time the larger things. He systematizes his correspondence, his office-work, all the details of his business, not for the sake of system, but for the sake of getting through with his work. In his office hangs a printed motto, "This is my busy day. does not arrive at the railway station 15 minutes before the departure of his train, because he has something else that he would rather do with hose 15 minutes. He does not like to spend an hour in the barber shop, because he wishes to get out to his eduntry club in good time for a game of golf and a shower bath afterward. He likes to have a full life, in which one thing connects with another promptly and neatly, without unnecessary intervals. His characteristic attitude is not that of a man in a hurry, but that of a man concentra-ted on the thing in hand to save time.—Henry Van Dyke, in Ameri-

"With a somewhat severe winter drawing to a close and with the sub-sidence of excitement in the financial markets, the industrial and trade situation shows improvement, and the outlook for the spring season is promising. It is an easy matter, of course, to pick flaws in the situation, certain aspects of which are unfavorable. Among these may be mentioned the decreasing excess of exports over imports, the balance of trade in favor of this country during the current fiscal year being the smallest since 1896, and but for purchases of the American securities during the recent decline there would probably be heavy exports of gold."

Bradstreet's says: "Trade is still irregular, and spring trade is rather backward in developing at many points. WHAT'S THE USE Sticking to a Habit When It Means Discomfort?

Old King Coffee knocks subjects out tolerably flat at times, and there is no possible doubt of what did it. A Mich, woman gives her experience:

"I used to have liver trouble nearly all of the time and took medicine which relieved me only for a little Then every once in a while I would be suddenly doubled up with an awful agony in my stomach. It seemed as though every time I took a breath I would die. No one could suffer any more and live.

"Finally I got down so sick with catarrh of the stomach that I could not turn over in bed, and my stomach did not digest even milk. The doctor finally told me that if I did not give up drinking coffee I would surely die, but I felt I could not give it up.

"However, Husband brought home a package of Postum and it was made strictly according to directions. It was the only thing that would stay on my stomach, and I soon got so I liked it very much.

"Gradually I began to get better, and week by week gained in strength and health. Now I am in perfect condition, and I am convinced that the whole cause of my trouble was coffee drinking, and my getfing better was due to leaving off coffee and taking "A short time ago I tasted some coffee and found, to my astonishment, Conclusive Proof.

A certain captain in the army was the officer had used him pretty roughly one evening at the gate of the barracks.

A humorous phase of the affair was that the officer apparently had no recollection of the alleged assault. The sentry had made so bold as to declare that the officer was intoxicated Among those questioned was the captain's orderly, an Irishman, who protested vigorously that the allegation of the sentry was a slander— that he was sure the captain was perfectly sober the evening of the alleged assault. Why are you so sure that Captain Blank was sober that evening?" he was asked. "Did he speak to you upon his return to his quarters?"

"He did, sir."
"What did he say?"
"He told me to be sure an' call him early in the mornin' sir."

"And did the captain say why he wished to be called early?"

"Yis, sir, he did, sir. He said he was goin' to be Queen o' the May. sir," responded the orderly with con-
