THE DEMON OF THE AIR

is the germ of LaGrippe, that breathed in, brings suffering to thousands. Its after effects are weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the splendid tonic, blood purifier and regulator of Stomach, Liver and Kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthened the nerves, build up the system and restore health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50c. Per fact satisfaction guaranteed by Trout's drug store.

Thanks.

DEAR EDITOR.—We wish, through the columns of your excellent paper, to thank the kind people, who so generously contributed money, clothing, grain, cornfodder, hay, flour, butters, jellies, canned fruit, hardware, glassware, crockery, etc., and especially for help in erecting new buildings.

The burning of our buildings as announced in the columns of the News some time ago, would have left us without a home and in a ruined condition, had not those people come so quickly and without asking, to our support. Anything that we can do in return, will be gladly done.

MR. AND MRS. CHAS. W. HESS.

Worse Than Bullets.

Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than the eczema L. W. Harriman, Burlington, Mo., got in the army, and suffered with, forty years. "But Buckler's Arnica Saive cured me when all else failed," he writes. Greatest healer for Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Burns, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises and Piles. 25c. at Trout's drug store.

Killed By Train.

Meyersdale, April 5.—Jessie Meyers, aged 24, a member of a prominent family, and George Lindaman, aged 23, mine foreman, said to have been sweethearts, while walking on Lover's Path last night, plunged sixty-feet over the embankment to the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio below, where the Duquesne Limited, passing that point at a later hour, completed the work of death and both were killed.

The engineer of the limited was unaware of the accident and continued on his trip, but the bodies were found later by the engineer of a passing engine.

The path overlooks a deep cut of the railroad at that point and it is supposed the girl misstepped or became faint, and falling, pulling her lover with her down the steep embankment. The girl's body is badly mangled.

Mules Vs. Bear.

A big black bear that had been terrorizing the timid residents of Diamond Valley, Huntingdon county, during the winter, and causing no small loss to their domestic animals, and which eluded the efforts of the best hunters in the community for its capture, met its death recently on a Sunday morning from the vigorous punning of an humble mule.

Daniel C. Shawley, a prominent farmer and lumberman, who is one of the heaviest losers from the bear's depredations, was aroused by a commotion in his barn and on investigation found his mule in deadly combat with a black bear. The bear having received several vicious blows from the mule's heels, was lying on its side, able only to use its right paw. Contrary to custom, the mule was playing its fore feet in a vigorous attack on its antagonist, showering its blows on the bear's head and shoulders. In a very short time after Mr. Shawley's arrival the marauding bear expired.

The bear had entered the barn by unlatching the stable door, and in coming in too close proximity to the mule's battery, had received a knockout blow at the first volley. The carcass weighed 262 pounds. The hide showed the marks of eight bullet punctures.
