Mrs. S. V. Bivens, of the Cove, wants to say through the NEWS, that she very much appreciates the post card shower, that so unexpectedly came a few days ago, upon the occasion of her sixty-seventh birthday anniversary.

HIDES.—James Sipes & Son pay the highest market price for beef hides at their butcher shop in McConnellsburg, also highest price paid for calf skins, sheepskins and tallow.

At the administrators' sale of the personal effects of M. R. Kendall, deceased, two shares of stock of the First National Bank of McConnellsburg sold for $179.25 a share. This is not so bad for an institution a little more than four years old.

D. B. Gallaher of Burnt Cabins cut a large tree recently which netted him 3636 feet of sawed lumber. The sawing was done by G. C. Snyder. There were 20 logs in the tree. Each of these logs ran from 8 to 16 feet. The tree was a monster.

The receiving of 162 beautiful post cards from as many relatives and friends, each card bearing some loving inscription, made brighter the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Emaline L. Daniels of Licking Creek township, which occurred on the 16th day of April.

Mr. Charlie C. Spencer, formerly of Bethel township, has sold his farm and store property at Sylvan, Franklin county, to William E. McCulloh, and has purchased a farm near Hagerstown. We trust that Mr. and Mrs. Spencer may find their new home pleasant.

A dispatch from Washington says: "The sale of envelopes by the Government with return addresses printed upon them has been prohibited by an amendment to the post-office appropriation bill. Advocates of the prohibition against the sale of printed envelopes claimed that the Government had no right to enter into competition with private printers." Get your envelopes printed at the NEWS office.

Jacob S. Zimmerman, of the Little Cove, by his will just probated, in conjunction with his wife Elizabeth, who makes his will hers, appoints his son Martin L. as executor. Martin Luther gets $1000 and all the other children and Mary Lenora, daughter of a dead son, Jesse H., share equally in the residue, after the widow's death. She has the estate for life.

Worse Than Bullets.
Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than the ezema L. W. Harriman, Burlington, Me., got in the army, and suffered with, forty years. "But Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me when all else failed," he writes. Greatest healer for Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Burns, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises and Piles. 25c. at Trout's drug store.

Surprise Party.
Last Friday morning Roy Barber, who had been working on Broad Top, returned to the home of his mother Mrs. Jennie Barber. On Saturday morning he suggested to his mother that it would be nice to go over and spend the day with his sister, Mrs. Richard Pittman. She saw nothing to hinder her accepting the invitation, and the two went over to Richard's. When they arrived at Mr. Pittman's they found Mrs. Gress and Mrs. Kuhn there, but did not think anything of it, until more neighbors began to arrive with baskets filled with good things to eat. It then began to dawn on Mrs. Barber's mind that it was her 49th birthday, and that her son and daughter had put up a job on her. It was all right, however, and she had a very delightful time, and received a nice bunch of presents. Those present were Mrs. Grant Fix, Mrs. Effie Gress, Helen Clugston, Goldie Brant, John Pittman, Maynard Fix, William Pittman, Lottie, Blanche, and Brady Fix; Nettie Barber, Minnie Fix, Sadie and May Fegley, Sarah Barnhart, Jennie Kuhn, Jennie Pittman, Luella Fix, Mary Clugston, Rickie Deshong, Albert Deshong, Mrs. John Lake, Dessie Fix, Rosa Pittman, Roy Barber, Ehas Deshong, Morgan Fisher, Randolph Fegley, Richard Pittman, Lena and Walter Brant.

Ladies' Literary Club.
[The following is a clipping from the "Indian Witness" published in Allahabad, India, where Miss Alice Wishart, of Wells Tanery, is stationed as missionary. While the leading points in the clipping are intended for the elevation of society in India, it is equally applicable to mothers in every land.—Editor.]

A meeting of the Indian Ladies' Art and Literary Club was held at 6, South Road, on the 15th of February, at which Lady Stanley and several other ladies, who are interested and in full sympathy with this progressive movement, were present.

At the business meeting it was suggested that the prizes to be awarded at the coming exhibition of work done by Club members take the form of the lotus flower which was chosen as the emblem of the Club.

The business meeting was followed by a debate on "The Education of India's Daughters" and the grace, dignity, self-possession, and sweet delivery of the Indian ladies who participated, called forth the admiration and hearty congratulations of the English ladies present.

The debate was well sustained by the leaders, the President and the Hon. Secretary, the latter, together with her supporters, speaking against the motion. The proposer and her supporters maintained that—
If the mothers are not educated the men of that nation can never achieve their highest attainment since it has been proved true that no nation rises higher than its mothers.

That a woman is not rightly educated who does not know how to intelligently care for her husband and family.

That India's daughters, as well as her sons, have God-given souls and intellects and therefore they have an equal right to opportunity for culture and development.

Miss Wishart, in summing up the debate, said that it had been proved true that true education makes women healthier, happier and more useful in the world because it qualifies them for the duties and privileges devolving upon them as wives and mothers.

At the close of the meeting, Lady Stanley, by request of the members, was asked by the President to become a patroness of the Club, which her Ladyship in fitting words graciously accepted. Several of the English ladies present also gave in their names much to the delight of the 32 Indian ladies who constitute the Club's active membership.

Mrs. Bannerji, wife of the Hon. Mr. Justice Promoda Charan Bannerji, is also a patroness of the Club, and her daughter-in-law a member of the Literary Committee.

The sweet singing proved that musical talent is not lacking in the daughters of India and added to the pleasure of the occasion. We wish the Club every success.

Notice.
A meeting of stockholders, tent holders, and all other persons interested in the Walnut Grove camping will be held on the campground, near Maddensville, Thursday, May 3, at 2 p. m. Rev. I. A. MacDannald of Shippenburg will represent the East Pennsylvania Eldership in whom the title of ground is vested. As many disquieting rumors have gone forth, a good attendance is desired at this meeting. The object of the Association about to be formed is to secure the rights of all and to deprive no one of their rights.

She Did It for a Joke.
Four months ago a young woman living in Allentown placed a longnecked oil can on the chair of a girl friend. She did it for a joke. The young woman sat down on it, receiving a severe wound in the hip. She said little about it and seemed to recover. But later on blood poisoning set in and she is dead. She never revealed the name of the friend who played the practical joke. The latter is probably suffering quite as much as if she had been haled before the criminal court. This case is another illustration of the great harm that may follow the perpetration of a practical joke. It is a thing that should be avoided by every sensible person. In more than one case life-long sorrow has followed an act of foolishness, meant to provoke a laugh.
