CAMPS IN LONDON'S GREAT PARKS.

The Floral Display To Be On A Magnificent Scale—Expected That Fully 700,000 People Will Pass Through Westminster Hall To Look Upon The Coffin—Women Of All Classes Wearing Mourning—A Craze For Black And Purple Manifest.

London (Special).—Court, military and municipal officials working at high pressure for the past few days have completed the details of arrangements for the king's funeral ceremonies Friday. The preliminary obsequies began Saturday when the king's body, after his brother—the Duke of Connaught—took his farewell look, was removed from the simple deathroom to the splendid throneroom of the palace.

On Tuesday it was removed with professional pomp to Westminster Hall, where it will lie publicly in state until Friday. Upon the arrival of the body at Westminster Hall a brief religious service was conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of London.

The services were attended by the members of the House of Lords and House of Commons. The hall was not draped, and the ceremonial was of magnificent simplicity. The coffin was rested on a craped catafalque.

The only sign of decoration in the ancient hall was of a purple cloth covering the platform of the catafalque and the trappings of the bier. The King and Queen, the Queen Mother and the other royal mourners were grouped about the catafalque during the brief service.

OLD EARTH HAS A SPRING SHAKE

Sismographs All Over Country Record It.

Vibrations The Most Universal Ever Recorded At Georgetown University Observatory—First Felt At 8:20 Friday Morning—Disturbance Estimated At Over 2,000 Miles From Baltimore—Hopkins University Instrument Shows A Severe Shock.

Washington, D. C. (Special).—An earthquake, causing tremors lasting 48 minutes, was recorded by 48 instruments at Georgetown University Observatory, at the Weather Bureau and at the Coast and Geodetic Survey Magnetograph Laboratory at Cheltenham, Md. The tremors of the sismographs were accompanied by distinct shocks, it was said, at the Georgetown Observatory. Father Francis Terndorf, who recorded the vibrations of the instrument, said that the tremors were the most unusual ever noted at the observatory on account of their alternating directions. As the motion was principally east and west, it is believed that the disturbance occurred somewhere in the West, probably along the Pacific Coast.

The tremors of the instrument began at 8:20 o'clock. The first electromagnetic instrument recorded the first shock just two minutes after the preliminary movement began. At 8:36 the second shock came, lasting four minutes. The third shock was at 8:45 and lasted two minutes. The first shock was by far the heaviest. It is not believed, however, that the earthquake could have been severe.

The Weather Bureau issued the following bulletin about the quake: "An earthquake of moderate intensity was recorded on the sismograph of the Weather Bureau in the early morning of the most complete record is shown on the instrument recording east and west motion. The preliminary tremors began at 8:15 A. M., seventy-fifth meridian time, and the principal portion of the disturbance began at 8 o'clock, 26 minutes, 40 seconds.

The amplitude of the motion was only moderate during the whole disturbance, but was prolonged over the greater length of time than usual with earthquakes of this degree of intensity. The characteristic phases of earthquake records are not clearly defined in the present case, but it is estimated that the distance was at a distance of from 2,000 to 2,500 miles. No information is at hand as to the direction of the disturbance from Washington or its probable origin."

Boston (Special).—The delicate needle of the Harvard sismograph was agitated for nearly three hours, the record beginning at 3:05.48 A. M. and continuing until after 6 o'clock. The experts estimated the origin of the earthquake at about 5,300 miles south or southwest.

FOUR HUNDRED SHOCKS. Costa Rica's Series Of Shakes Since April 13.

San Jose, Costa Rica (Special).—The earth tremors continue here. In the month since April 13, 400 distinct shocks have been recorded. The volcanoes of the vicinity exhibit no special activities.

It is estimated that a force of 200 men would be required for six months to clear the ruins of Cartago. Half that number of men is engaged under good organization. Samuel T. Lee, the American consul at San Jose, is very active in the work of rescue and the succor of the survivors.

Fort Limon, Costa Rica (Special).—The telephone line between this port and San Jose suddenly failed. It is feared another very heavy earthquake has occurred in the interior. The last reports coming over the wire were that heavy detonations were heard from the volcanoes of Poas and Irazu, and that the eruptions seemed to be increasing in severity.

Great anxiety is felt here.

BANDITS HOLD UP CAR. Get $2,000 And Jewelry From Passengers In Seattle.

Seattle, Wash. (Special).—Between $1,500 and $2,000 in money and jewelry was the booty carried off by three bandits who held up a South Park Street car. Twenty men were on the car, including the three bandits. The highwaymen remained quietly in their seats until the car reached Spokane Avenue. There they lined up the conductor, the motorman and the passengers. While two of the men kept the victims in line by leveling revolvers, the third robber relieved each one in line of his valuables and ordered him to march down the aisle.

When the robbers had completed their work one of them entered the motorman's compartment and ran the car to Edmonds, a small station north of Georgetown, where the men got off and entered the Northern Pacific freight yards. It is thought they boarded a southbound train which left shortly after.

STRUGGLE FOR LIFE IN A POND

Six Girls and Two Boys Drown While Out For a Frolic.

SURVIVORS TELL OF TERRIFIC BATTLE.

Victims Were Members Of The Graduating And Junior Classes Of The Huntington Mills High School, Near Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Boys Rocked Boats, Then All Went Overboard—Struggling Students Pull Over Other Boats That Go To Their Assistance.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa. (Special).—Six girls and two boys, members of the graduating and the junior classes at the Huntington Mills High School, 15 miles from here, were drowned in a mill pond near the school. Four other boys managed to reach shore and save themselves. The drowned were all between 16 and 18 years old, and had been busy during the morning preparing for the graduation exercises.

The pupils came to the school from some distance and carried lunch. After this had been eaten at noon, a party of the older ones, six girls and six boys, proposed going for a row on the old mill pond. They embarked in two boats about 1 o'clock. Fifteen minutes afterward eight of them were dead.

No one on shore saw the party embarking or witnessed the accident. The mill pond is some distance from the school. The old paper mill there is abandoned, and a fringe of trees shuts off the sight of the water from the road. The pond, though deep, is narrow. There are several boats in the pond.

The four survivors, George Dodson, Uriah Weitzel, Jay Koons and Harold Bell, tell a confused story. They and the victims had often been out on the mill pond before. They were doing the work in couples. At the side of the dam they got two small rowboats and three boys and three girls crowded into each. There was much frolicking and laughter as the boats were pushed off side by side. The girls teased each other and the boys about their companions. There was much splashing of water with the oars, and some of the party used their hands and threw water on the others. The boats drifted to the middle of the pond and were several yards apart.

In one boat where the boys and girls were sitting a very jolly time was being had. The boys were whooping and shouting. One boy who it was the survivors do not remember. They have an idea that perhaps two or three of the boys stood up at the same time. The boat rocked some, the girls shrieked and the boys rocked the boat a little more. Those in the water and the girls, thoroughly alarmed, sprang up. The next instant the boat overturned and all six were in the water with a chorus of screams for help.

The other boat, only a few yards away, reached the six struggling in the water with a half dozen strokes of the oars. Those in the boat were apparently as excited as the boys in the water. Every one seemed to be screaming some direction or shrieking for help. Those in the boat reached out to get their playmates, those in the water seized the sides of the boat and tried to scramble in. Their weight on the gunwales pulled the boat beneath the water or they upset it while trying to climb in. Whatever happened, happened quickly, for the second boat was barely among those struggling in the water before its six inmates were also overboard.

137 MINERS PERISH. High Barometric Conditions Cause Explosion In A Mine.

Manchester, Eng. (Special).—One hundred and thirty-seven miners lost their lives in an explosion in the Wellington coal mine, at White Haven. Rescue parties succeeded in saving four men, but fire has broken out in the workings, leaving practically no hope for those who are still entombed.

A curious fact is that a colliery warning was published in many of the newspapers in the mining districts of the kingdom to the effect that unusually high barometric conditions rendered firedamp explosions extremely probable and that all underground workers ought therefore to be on the alert.

The Friar Lands Purchase. Washington, D. C. (Special).—The House passed a series of resolutions calling on the War Department for information as to the actual purchasers of the Philippine friar lands under the guise of the Mindoro Development Company, which Representative Martin, of Colorado, claims was backed by the American Sugar Refining Company.

Bureau Of Mines. Washington, D. C. (Special).—The House adopted the conference report on the bill for the creation of a bureau of mines and it will become law when signed by the President. It makes provision for a study of mining explosions and other accidents with a view to the enactment of scientific methods of avoiding such catastrophes.

FLORENZA GLIDES DOWN THE WAYS

The Newest Dreadnought of the Navy Is Launched.

Daughter Of Late Governor Of Florida Breaks Bottle Of Champagne Upon Bow Of The Big Battleship—Vice President Sherman And Secretary Meyer Among Launching Party—Fully 100,000 Persons See Vessel Sent Into East River—A Notable Gathering.

New York, (Special).—The largest, fastest and most powerful seafighter in the American Navy and in the world, the monster battleship Florida, was launched at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The Florida is the first naval vessel built at a government yard since the Connecticut was constructed at the Brooklyn Yard some years ago. Thousands of spectators witnessed the launching.

Vice-President Sherman was present as the official representative of President Taft.

The launching party was one of the largest and most distinguished that ever witnessed a similar event in this country. The State of Florida was represented by a large official party. Secretary Meyer and several of his assistants were on hand to represent the Navy Department. The Navy itself was represented by officers of the battleships Michigan, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, all of which are now in port here. The contingent was headed by Admiral Dewey and Rear Admiral Schroeder, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet. The workmen of the yard were given a half-holiday that they might witness the launching.

Miss Elizabeth Legere Fleming, daughter of the late ex-Governor F. P. Fleming, of Florida, stood on the launching stand, the christening bottle poised for the first move of the ship. Suddenly there was a rending sound, the weakened beam gave way and the giant hull began to move down the ways. At the same moment Naval Constructor William J. Baxter, who supervised the construction of the vessel, gave the signal to the sponsor. Miss Fleming hurled the bottle of sparkling wine at the prow and exclaimed in a clear voice: "I christen thee Florida."

The Florida is the heaviest warship that has ever been launched in the United States, weighing 3,000 tons as she glided down the ways, which is 1,000 tons more than the Utah. Her keel was laid down March 9, 1909. She is now 68 per cent completed, and is expected to be ready for sea before the summer of 1911. She is 520 feet long, 85 feet 3 inches beam and has a mean draught of 27 feet 3 inches. The armor consists of a belt 11 inches thick amidships and more than 8 feet wide. Above this is a second belt 8 feet wide of an average thickness of 9 inches. The lower water line belt is continuous from stem to stern, while the upper belt reaches from the forward to the after turret.

A single broadside from the Florida will be almost twice as heavy as that of the entire fleet Dewey commanded at Manila Bay.

The boys gave their names as Ernest Woodson, 18 years old, and Oscar Woodson, 17, and say they were raised in Oklahoma City, Okla., and have been in Arizona for a short time. Sheriff De Hayden and posse arrived here with the Marcopa train robbers.

FIVE POLITICIANS AND A BANKER JAILED

SIX CONVICTIONS IN PITTSBURG'S GRAFT SCANDAL.

THEY GET FOUR TO EIGHT MONTHS.

Sentencing Of G. W. Friend, Vice President Of Steel Company And Son Of Multimillionaire, Is Postponed—Two Of Convicted Councilmen Granted Respite On $10,000 Bond, But Others Go To Jail To Begin Terms—Witness Klein Is Accused.

Pittsburg (Special).—Of the six Pittsburgers who pleaded no defense to the graft charges and were sentenced by Judge R. S. Fraser four—A. A. Vilsack, once cashier of the German National bank and a member of one of the oldest and wealthiest families in Pittsburg; Morris Einstein, also wealthy and prominent socially; Dr. W. H. Weber, who got $10,000 in a shoe box for distribution, and P. B. Kearns—were immediately taken to jail, put through the usual search and are in cells.

Two others—Hugh Ferguson, a prominent contractor, and Charles Stewart—secured a stay of sentence through an appeal to the Superior Court.

Though E. H. Jennings, president of the Columbia National Bank; F. A. Griffin, once vice-president of the same bank; Chas. W. Friend, vice president of the Clinton Iron and Steel Company and a business associate of F. N. Hoffstot, of New York, and M. L. Swift, Jr. obtained a postponement of sentence, this does not mean they will escape.

Vilsack drew the heaviest penalty, compared with the others, being sentenced to eight months in jail and to pay a fine of $5,000. Einstein was sentenced to six months in jail and a $2,500 fine. Stewart and Ferguson got each eight months and $500 fine. Dr. Weber got six months and $500 fine and Kearns escaped with a four-month sentence and $250 fine.

The convicted men presented a pitiable spectacle. Einstein appeared pale and shrunk. Ferguson stood with tears in his eyes and was led away, stumbling as if blind. Former Governor Stone, counsel for Stewart, declared that the District Attorney promised immunity to his client, or at least leniency, but Judge Fraser retorted that Stewart had by no means been frank with the District Attorney, but had tried to hold back the facts; that immunity was intended for the "petty puppets" only, not for the big promoters of the "most gigantic conspiracy for municipal corruption" that had ever been uncovered.
