Show Was About To Open-Cry That The Wild Beasts Were Loose Added To Terror-Great Spread Of Canvass Licked Up In A Jiffy And Big Poles Fall-One Woman Dying From Shock.

Schenectady, N. Y. (Special) .-Barnum and Balley's "Big Top," the main tent of the circus, caught fire here from a cigar stump and burned like an overturned bot-air balloon. Fifteen thousand people, who filled the scats to overflowing, filed out like school children at drill. It was an admirable display of discipline

A powerful negro wrecked a patrol wagon and routed four policemen of Chicago.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt has according to the conduct of the crowd, said:

"I consider the attitute of the people something marvelous. In all my experience of circus life I have my experience of circus life I have never seen anything like it. At least 19,000 of the crowd were women and children, and they all filed out like veteran soldiers. Well, perhaps, a few of the women did faint, and perhaps a few of the children whimpered, but they were taken care of by the others; the crowd never lost its head. There was no danger for one moment of a stampede."

The management attributes the fire to the obstinacy of a careless smok-Employes who saw him carry a ighted cigar to his seat in the top tier, close to the canvass walls, warned him that he must not smoke. Instead of throwing the cigar away they believe he hid it behind his back and in so doing brushed the burning end against the canvass. In event the fire started in his neighborhood and was soon out of control.

Spectators first smelt the smoke and, quickly discovering the fire, began to beat at it with their coats, The fire soon reached above their ends and the next effort to conquer it came from the circus employes, who began tearing out huge patches of canvas. Their efforts met with no better success, for the fire, eating apward and soo worked its way to topmost peak.

Energetic men and cool women in the crowd, aided by employes, had already assumed direction of the audience, and orderly files were soon moving steadily from the exits. When a woman fainted or a child shrieked in terror; shouts of reassurance rose and strong arms were instantly ready for support. Not a soul was hurt not an animal was injured. The damage is es-dent or was due to an act of con-spirators, but the former hypothesis is considered the more probable. Two Terrific Explosions.

The barracks was a massive build-ing of Spanish construction, and occupied an eminence in the outskirts of the city to the north. During the late intervention it was the head-quarters of Colonel Parker's regiment, the Eleventh Calvary. Ad-jacent to the barracks was a long row of officers' quarters. Recently the barracks was occupied by the public works department and four troops of rural cavalry. Probably Accident. The explosion occurred at five o'clock, a few minutes before the men would have quit work, and it is generally believed that the first resulted from the accident of a fall of a box of dynamite, which was being lifted on a wagon. It is impossible, however, to determine absolutely the cause for the reason that all the immediate vicinity was blown to fragments. It is believed that the majority of the wounded are resi-plents of the town, as practically all within the barracks were instantly killed or buried in the ruins. According to reports received here the mangled remains of victims were found in the streets of the city a

Canton, Ohio (Special) .- With a roar that was heard three miles away, a battery of seven boilers at the plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company exploded, killing at least 20 and injuring about 53. Among the injured are a half dozen who, it is said, will probably die before morning. Others, physicians say, cannot recover from their in-

The cause of the explosion is at present unknown. The fireman and engineer who were in the boller-room are dead. No one else about the plant who survived the accident can give an explanation. One workman says that he heard three distinct explosions in quick succession. They came so close, however, that it was all over in a minute. The force of the concussion was terrific. The big plant is in such a state of ruin as to be practically a total loss. A mere eggshell of the building is left.

Identification of the men was difficult because many of them were so mutilated that even the most intimate friends of the dead could not recognize the features. Heads were blown from several bodies. Arms and legs were torn from the trunks. Fragments of bodies were blown several squares from the scene, and bits of human flesh have been picked up on porches and roofs of houses and There were 100 men at labor in the

Blown Through House. Members of the bereaved families rushed frantically to the plant and thence to hospitals and residences near the ruined shows in an effort to find a trace of their loved ones.

The body of one man, unknown, was blown through a house, over 700 feet from the plant. The body entered the house from the east side and continued in a straight line through a bedroom and out the other side of the house on Louis Avenue. The torso of another man was found in the garden of a yard about 500 feet west of the scene. Arms, legs and parts of bodies were strewn about the neighborhood.

The bodies of seven men, mutilated beyond recognition, were found in the north end of the mill. "For God's sake hit me on the head and kill me," cried one work-man to a man who found him. The injured man had an arm torn off and Trade reports from the West note a quiet to fair trade at retail, while jobbing business has been largely confined to fill-in orders, and fall confined to fill-in orders, and (all trade is reported backward, though, perhaps, count to a year ago at this date. Except in the lower Mississippi Valley, Southern trade reports are of fair to good trade for the season of the year. Retail trade in the East is only fair, and wholesale trade is disappointing.

Among the industries, one of the best circumstanced lines is building, which shows a next to largest monthly expenditure for April, second, in-deed, only to May, 1909, and allied lines all show good conditions. In the iron and steel trade, furnace production is still being decreased, and Western reports from the finished lines are of lower quotations being offered.
