Boys and the Farm.

An old farmer's two sons were anxious to leave the farm and work out their destiny in the city. The farmer wanted to keep the boys on the farm. So he sent them to an agricultural college to learn plant breeding and general agriculture, and the other to take a course in animal husbandry.

The result of this experiment was that each boy took a great fancy to his specialty and a great interest in the knowledge of it. The science of farming is very attractive. It lets one into a knowledge of the beautiful laws of nature, and gives a charm to all his work. This is the way to knock out the drudgery of farm life and give one broad views.

The agricultural college is today our greatest public institution. It takes much of the drudgery out of farm work by putting intelligence in it. The farmer is the real producer, the real benefactor in trade and commerce, and it is more sensible to encourage his development than that of any other class. There is no kinder fortune for a boy than to get him interested in farm experience. He is pretty certain to attain to great worth.—Ohio State Journal.

State Fairs.

"The agricultural fairs are rapidly becoming an active force in the development of agricultural knowledge throughout the State," says Deputy Secretary of Agriculture A. L. Martin, of Lawrence County, in his annual report on the fairs held in Pennsylvania in 1909. He reports that the attendance was 1,449,000, or 110,000 less than in 1908, but that the amount paid in premiums was $125,568.65, or $30,050.74 more than in the year before.

"We note a marked improvement in the manner of conducting fairs," he continues, "in that all games of chance, gambling devices and questionable shows have been practically eliminated."

ALASKA—LAND OF VAST RICHES.

Benjamin B. Hampton, editor of Hampton's Magazine, considers the subject of "Who Shall Own Alaska—The Guggenheims or the People?" of so much importance that he himself has prepared an article on the subject for that periodical. A table of statistics shows Alaska's wealth to be anywhere from fifteen billion dollars to a trillion and a half.

"No man can estimate accurately the wealth of Alaska," says Mr. Hampton, "wealth that is to-day the property of the people of the United States, theirs just as surely as if they were stockholders in a corporation. Nearly one quarter of Alaska has not even been explored. An Alaskan said recently that the only two persons who really know anything about Alaska are the Almighty and Alfred H. Brooks. The latter is a member of the United States Geological Survey, and we have what he knows about Alaska."

"Mr. Brooks says that only twenty per cent. of Alaska has been surveyed at all. That is, only this much has been passed over even in reconnaissance surveys, which barely divide vast stretches according to their geological character. Survey in detail has covered less than one per cent. of the territory. This affords at least some basis for an estimate. What is known of that one per cent. added to what is known of a patch here and there, suggests the possibilities for the rest."

"There is sound reason to believe there is $500,000,000 worth of placer gold in Alaska. There may be a hundred or a thousand times that amount."

"As for lode gold mining, there is practically only one deep gold mine being worked in Alaska, the Treadwell—the Rothschilds are said to control that—and it has produced so far $30,000,000. There may be at least $625,000,000 lode gold in Alaska."

"As for copper, this one item alone will some day make a big crop of Alaskan millionaires. The Government survey experts say, 'It is impossible to estimate the copper reserves.' Others say there is another Montana there, another Arizona."

In coal, the official Government figures can be definitely obtained. The coal areas known at this time aggregate 1228 square miles, three times the area of Pennsylvania's coal-bearing fields—and much of Alaska's coal equals or betters Pennsylvania's in quality. In unsurveyed areas there are some fifty thousand square miles of coal-bearing lands. Mr. Brooks' lowest estimate of Alaska's coal reaches the stupendous total of 15,104,500,000 tons; and, he adds, it would be conservative to multiply this figure by ten, or even a hundred.

"There are thousands of tons of other minerals: silver, quicksilver, tin, lead, iron. There is also petroleum. There may be vast quantities of oil under large areas. Of silver, 1,817,000 ounces have been taken out. Iron abounds."

"One great source of wealth—sealing—has been exhausted already. The total of this single item reaches the amazing figure of $125,000,000. The salmon industry produces a value of $10,000,000 every year."

It is estimated that there are 17,000,000,000 feet of saw timber in Alaska; probably there is twice that much. There are agricultural and grazing lands that may some day support a population of ten million."

Where White People Originated.

Professor Gustav Retzius says the result of an anthropological investigation carried out in Sweden does not leave any possible doubt as to the Swedish nation being the fairest of all investigated nations, unless the inhabitants of Norway and Denmark might compete with the Swedes for that distinction.

From the inquiry the conclusion may be drawn that Sweden was inhabited by the purest population of the North European (Germanic or Teutonic) race branch to be found remaining in our time.

This result has served as a support for the theory that proclaimed Scandinavia and the region adjacent to the southern part of the Baltic as the original home of the Teutons (Germans). In opposition to the dogma, so long accepted as incontrovertible, of their—or rather the Aryans—having originated in Asia, the Indo-Germanic theory of the philologists.

A Statesman's Prophecy.

It is sixty-five years since the first telegraph line, built for commercial purposes, between Washington and Baltimore was opened. After the formal opening Professor Morse and his associates offered to sell the invention to the United States Government for $100,000, but the price was considered too high. The Government had appropriated $30,000 toward the construction of the Washington-Baltimore line, but after a short period of operation the Postmaster-General, to whom President Polk had referred the matter, wrote: "Although the invention is an agent vastly superior to any other devised by the genius of man, yet the operation between Washington and Baltimore has not satisfied me that under any rate of postage that can be adopted its revenues can be made to cover its expenditures."—Washington Star.

Hard Luck, But—

Two young women went to the matinee. They could not get seats together, but were told at the box office that each could have an end seat, centre aisle, in adjoining rows, and most likely somebody who came along and had a chair next to one of them would obligingly change seats. Near the close of the first act one of the young women timidly whispered to a heavy, middle-aged man at her side, who had been sitting stiffly and looking straight ahead:

"Are you alone, sir?"

The man turned one side of his face in his program and breathed: "Shi Wif."—Everybody's Magazine.

Didn't Lose Her.

A young man was timidly courting a pretty girl. One afternoon, in the garden, he scraped up courage enough to ask in a tremulous whisper for a kiss.

"A kiss," she said. "You ask me for a kiss? Now, applied to the hand a kiss signifies respect. On the forehead it denotes friendship. Upon the lips it denotes all things—or nothing." She paused pensively, then went on: "You may, since you wish it, kiss me. You may express yourself in one kiss. Proceed."

The timid young man, red and confused, pondered. "I mustn't lose her!" he muttered to himself. "Where, then, shall I kiss her?" His meditations were interrupted by a pretty whistle. It was his divinity, her red mouth puckered into the shape of a rosebud, her hat pulled down over her eyes, hiding her forehead completely, and her hands were thrust up the wrists in the pockets of her jacket!—Answers.

A GRATEFUL WOMAN.

Has Only One Kidney, But is Sound and Well.

Mrs. L. Wick, 287 Dewey Ave., Pittsfield, Mass., says: "I ran down in health until I only weighed 95 pounds. Finally a consultation of doctors was held. They decided I had a fibroid kidney and said it must be removed. I had the operation and came out of the hospital as sick as ever. At last it was my good fortune to begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. They strengthened the remaining kidney and increased my weight to 121 pounds. I have no more trouble."

Woman's Wrongs.

The frequency and atrocity of crimes against young women and girls in New York cannot escape attention. Conditions revealed almost daily are shocking from every point of view. They can be corrected only by a sterner administration of justice and by a greater care on the part of parents and society in general.

It is plain enough that people presume too much upon the respect for womanhood which was once a national trait. Under cover of that assumption some of those having children in their care have become reckless, many of the young have grown bold, even daring, and vicious scoundrels who must be on the increase have not failed to take advantage of ignorance, folly and helplessness.

In fifty years our industrial, commercial and social life has been almost revolutionized. Hundreds of thousands of young girls are daily exposed to perils which rarely beset the home. A vast growth in population has been accompanied by a more than proportionate increase of men and youths who are criminally inclined. There is a greater protection of womanhood and there must be severer punishment for all those who craftily or savagely make war upon it.—N. Y. World.

A writer in the Lancet mentions lurid incidents at a funeral. A man was supposed to have run danger of being buried alive; for when his coffin was moved a knocking sound was heard within. When it was opened it was found that a hammer had been left in it, and had jolted about so as to cause the noise.

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irasburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irasburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

Will Anyone Believe This?

The wife of a literary man of the Indiana school, who had taken up chicken raising as a side issue, was telling of the poor success that she had with a brood of 11 chickens. They seemed to be doing all right for a few days she said, and then, one after another, they all died in the coop.

"What did you feed them?" asked the wife of a farmer neighbor.

"Feed them?" exclaimed the author's help-mate. "I didn't feed them; I thought a healthy young pullet like that should have milk enough for her chicks."—Everybody's Magazine.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
