DAIRY SCREAMER

A DAIRY NECESSITY.

The Principle on Which the Separator Does Its Work.

As most readers know-but possibly some do not-the cream separator is a machine for quickly separating the cream from the other part of the milk while it is still warm and fresh. Or to state the case more accurately, it is a machine for separating the other parts of the milk from the cream. That a machine can do this may, to many, seem remarkable, but in doing It the separator merely takes advantage of the fact that the other portions of milk are heavier than the cream. For illustration, if one end of a string be tied to a ball or other object, the other end of the string held in the hand and the object smung rapidly around in a circle, it will exert a force outward as if trying to get away. The heavier the object at the outer end of the string and the faster it is swung around in a circle, the greater will be this outward pulling (centrifugal) force. In the closed and peculiarly constructed bowl of the separator the milk is swung around rapidly-3,000 to 6,000 times a minute. The skinned milk-water, casein, etc.-being heavier than the fat, is mostly thrown to the outside of the circular bowl and escapes through openings into a separate vessel. The butter fat, being lighter, remains near the center of the bowl and through a separate opening at that point escapes along with some of the other parts of the milk, as cream. There is only a trace of butter fat-about one-tenth of 1 per cent, or 1 part of butter fat in 1.000 parts of skimmed milk-left in the skimmed milk when a good separator is properly managed. The cream is usually from 15 to 35 per cent, butter fat; that is, there is 65 to 85 per cent. of other portions of the milk in ordinary cream from a separator.

Short Story of Two Cows.

The Agricultural College of Illinois gives some interesting figures in regard to a three-year test of two cows. They were born and brought up as calves on the same farm and got their early education from the same instruc-

Later, when taken to the univertor. sity, they were treated alike, so far as possible. All the feed consumed was weighed and valued, and all the milk credited. The average return from one cow was 11,390 pounds of milk per year, containing 405 pounds of butter fat, while the milk of the other weighed only 3.830 pounds and and contained 138 pounds of butter fat. Each cow was given all she could eat, but the cow that produced the most milk used more feed to make it out of, which is natural enough. The final figures show that the best cow made a profit of $34.59, while the other lacked $5.62 of paying for her board. The figures were made up at
