This Has Reached London.
While spending the winter in Georgia, before his inauguration as President, Mr. Taft went to the city of Athens to deliver an address to the students of the University of Georgia. He met a member of the faculty—a staunch Democrat—who said, "Judge, I voted the Democratic ticket, but wanted to see you win."
"Judge Taft replied, "You remind me of the story of Brer Jasper and Brer Johnson, who were both deacons in the Shilo Baptist Church, although avowed enemies. Brer Jasper died, and the other deacons told Brer Johnson that he must say something good about the deceased on Sunday night. At first he declined, but finally consented. Sunday night, when the time for the eulogy arrived, he arose slowly and said: "Brethren and Sisteren, I promised to say sump'n good 'bout Deacon Jasper tonight, an' I will say we all hopes he's gone whar we knows he ain't."—London Tit-Bits.

Baby's Scalp All Crusted Over.

"Our little daughter, when three months old, began to break out on the head, and we had the best doctors to treat her, but they did not do her any good. They said she had eczema. Her scalp was a solid scale all over. The burning and itching was so severe that she could not rest, day or night. We had about given up all hopes when we read of the Cuticura Remedies. We at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and followed directions carefully. After the first dose of the Cuticura Resolvent, we used the Cuticura Soap freely and applied the Cuticura Ointment. Then she began to improve rapidly and in two weeks the scale came off her head and new hair began to grow. In a very short time she was well. She is now sixteen years of age and a picture of health. We used the Cuticura Remedies about five weeks, regularly, and then we could not tell she had been affected by the disease. We used no other treatments after we found out what the Cuticura Remedies would do for her. J. Fish and Ella M. Fish, Mt. Vernon, Ky., Oct. 12, 1909."

Educating Royalty.

Divinity may or may not hedge a king. If we think it does, it does; if we think it doesn't, it doesn't. The German people hold one opinion; Colonel Roosevelt, a strenuous and aggressive minority, holds another. Between these divergent opinions the German Emperor is having the time of his life.

Europe lives in a hot-house atmosphere of convention. It is Colonel Roosevelt's office to smash a few panes and let in the fresh air. He has smashed a number at Berlin, as at other places, and the stifling grandees so far from resenting it, rather relish it.

To ignore vain ceremonial, to brush aside empty forms, to come down to the bedrock of essential fact and to appraise the value of the reality behind the trappings and the show—all this is a service that only an American could perform for an old society. The German Emperor is as little likely to suffer from this direct approach and clean-cut method as any other man in Europe—a fact which helps explain the friendship which has been struck up within the past few days.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Good Roads

Importance of Good Roads.

We have received a copy of the report by the Senate Committee on Agriculture recommending the enactment of Senate Bill No. 6931, providing for an appropriation of $500,000 for the extension of the work of the U. S. Office of Public Roads in aiding in the improvement of the public highways. Senator J. H. Bankhead, of Alabama, in his speech on the bill said:

"The national Governments of all the principal nations of the world except the United States actively aid and encourage the building and maintenance of public roads. France has the most superb system of roads in the world, completed at a total cost of $612,775,000. The effect of these roads upon the material prosperity of the French people is indicated in the following extract from a report by Francis R. Loomis, commercial agent at St. Etienne, France, dated April 23, 1891:

"The road system of France has been of far greater value to the country as a means of raising the value of lands and of putting the small peasant proprietors in easy communication with their markets than have the railways. It is the opinion of well-informed Frenchmen who have made a practical study of economic problems that the superb roads of France have been one of the most steady and potent contributions to the material development and marvelous financial elasticity of the country. The far-reaching and splendidly maintained road system has distinctly favored the success of the small landed proprietors, and in their prosperity and in the ensuing distribution of wealth lies the key to the secret of the wonderful vitality and solid prosperity of the French nation."

As a result of the improved condition of the roads in these countries, their farmers haul produce to market at an average cost of only ten cents per ton per mile, and in some cases it is as low as seven cents; while, as a result of the bad conditions of American roads, our farmers are forced to pay an average expense of twenty-three cents per ton per mile on every ton of produce hauled to market or shipping point.—Indiana Farmer.

Improving the Roads.

Of New York State's 80,000 miles of public highways, running through her 30,476,800 acres, 3000 are State roads, maintained by the State. The remainder are under the care of county or town. On January 1, 1909, when the new State Highway Commission was created, there were practically 2000 miles of highway macadamized; now 2400 miles are improved. This year the commission hopes to increase the miles improved by perhaps 500, and to increase each year until the total per year will amount to 800 or 1000 miles.

Thus far this year 120 contracts for improved roads have been let by the commission, and more contracts will be awarded. This will be the last until fall or winter, enabling the successful bidders to get ready for work early next spring.

Under the law some work must be done in all counties whose roads are to be improved at the same time. The 120 contracts awarded this year call for the building of 430 miles of highway, at a total cost of $5,600,000. Of this total the State will pay about $4,500,000 and the counties and towns the remainder.

Of the work contracted for 158 miles are State trunk lines and about 272 miles county roads. The State pays the entire cost of the trunk lines, while the State, county and towns share the cost of the county roads. The contracts to be awarded will amount to about $500,000, bringing the total outlay for the season to more than $6,000,000.

The trunk lines will traverse the State from east to west and from south to north. One trunk line will run from New York City to Plattsburgh, on Lake Champlain. From Plattsburgh the trunk line will proceed westerly through Ogdensburg, Watertown and Oswego to Syracuse, where it will join the main artery, extending through the centre of the State from Albany to Buffalo. This central artery will pass through Amsterdam, Utica, Syracuse and Rochester.

A third east and west trunk line will run through the southern tier of counties, and will pass through the cities of Binghamton, Elmira, Corning, Olean and Jamestown. There will be several trunk lines extending north and south, which will connect the trunk lines along the southern tier with that from Albany to Buffalo.—New York Times.

Deacons Stick Together.

Representative Dudley M. Hughes, of the Third Georgia District, is a farmer in addition to being a statesman. Recently, when he was at home, Mr. Hughes received an urgent call to go to the police station in Macon. When he arrived Mr. Hughes found that one of his negro laborers had temporary quarters there.

"The negro was very penitent and very anxious to get out.
"Marse Dud," he said, "youse er deekin in de white church, ain't yer?"
"Yes, Sam."
"An' yer knows I's er deekin in de cullud church, don't yer, Marse Dud?"

"Yes, Sam; but what has this to do with your present trouble?"
"Well, I jis' want'er say dis, Marse Dud, dat hit's time fer us deekins t' stick together!"—Philadelphia Evening Post.

Children Save Bigamist.

At New Orleans, La., Joseph Vauthier was acquitted of the charge of bigamy in St. Bernard's parish after his attorney made the plea for acquittal on the ground that the defendant was the father of nine children. All of the nine children were in court. No attempt was made to controvert the fact that Vauthier had illegally married a second wife. Vauthier claimed that he was intoxicated.

A Bad Lot.
A foreign-looking man was brought before a magistrate for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. When asked what he had to say for himself he gazed pensively at the judge, smoothed down a remnant of gray hair, and said:
"Your honor, Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn. I'm not as debased as Swift, as profligate as Byron, as dissipated as Poe or as debauched as—"
"That will do," thundered the magistrate. "Thirty days! And, officer, take down a list of those names and run 'em in. They're as bad a lot as he is."—Exchange.

When Widows Remarry.

A strange commentary on Dr. Johnson's famous dictum that a second marriage is "the triumph of hope over experience" comes from France. Dr. Jacques Berthillon has been collecting statistics to discover what age is most favorable to second marriages. He has found that the majority of those who remarry are between the ages of 20 and 30, are less inclined to a repetition of the great experiment that those under 20 or over 30.

The more thoughtful widow seems to be less hopeful. It may be that sentiment is powerful to keep her in the bereaved state. Possibly a widow between 20 and 30 is so charming and attractive to such a degree that so many men "pay their court to her as to make it impossible for her to choose between them. But once the widow passes 30 she apparently feels old enough to select a second partner. In the natural course of human life it would seem that the percentage of widows under 20 must be relatively small. Between 20 and 30 the proportion will increase rapidly. Once the boundary line of 30 is past, perhaps the buoyancy of youth has gone and the widow of France mates again for a home and a protector.—Philadelphia Press.

HARD ON CHILDREN

When Teacher Has Coffee Habit.

"Best is best, and best will even out." When a person feels this way about Postum they are glad to give testimony for the benefit of others. A school teacher down in Miss says: "I had been a coffee drinker since my childhood, and the last few years it had injured me seriously. One cup of coffee taken at breakfast would cause me to become so nervous that I could scarcely go through with the day's duties, and this nervousness was often accompanied by deep depression of spirits and heart palpitation.
"I am a teacher by profession, and when under the influence of coffee had to struggle against crossness when in the school room.
"When talking this over with my physician, he suggested that I try Postum, so I purchased a package and made it carefully according to directions; found it excellent of flavour, and nourishing.
"In a short time I noticed very gratifying effects. My nervousness disappeared, I was not irritated by my pupils, I seemed full of sunshine, and my heart troubled me no longer.
"I attribute my change in health and spirits to Postum alone."

INDOOR EXERCISE FOR HEALTH AND DEVELOPMENT.

Dr. W. R. C. Latson has something very interesting to say in The Outing Magazine regarding exercise. He divides the people in general into three classes: trained athletes, those who exercise at random, and those who neglect exercise altogether. In one place Dr. Latson says:
"The ordinary 'professor' knows no more about the principles of bodily development than he does about ancient Coptic. And the poor layman, groping to find some guide to a correct method of physical training, must necessarily fall to obtain from his desultory experiments any real or lasting benefit."
"In the first place, current methods of physical culture aim at factitious results. The man is trained, not to develop a fine physique, powers of endurance, grace, and general bodily efficiency, but to win at some particular event.
"Of course the poor little people who exercise at random or who fall into the net of the wily 'professor,' get little or nothing for their time and money. The men and women who write the articles or who prepare the material for the 'courses' as a rule know but little. If anything, more about the matter than those who are held up for the price of the instruction. The result is failure to realize any great or lasting benefit from the time and effort put forth."
In conclusion, Dr. Latson describes a system of ten simple exercises which will result in an increase of health, strength, endurance, and bodily efficiency which will be a surprise and delight to the student.

Clean-Up Week.
It is interesting to note that, following the worthy example of some smaller cities, it is proposed to have what may be termed a "clean-up week." A recent time, the excellent advice given from time to time by Dr. Neff, director of the department of public health, is full of good, practical suggestions regarding the best methods of sanitation, the removal of rubbish from cellars, the cleaning of dirt and dried leaves from drain pipes and roof gutters, the cleaning of dark and unsightly corners by some disinfectant wash and the admission of sunshine to rooms ordinarily darkened and neglected, the proper care and cleansing of rugs, carpets, bedding and clothing and the draining of all stagnant pools of water in cellars and back yards.—Philadelphia Press.

Hard to Explain Away.

Cham Clark, discussing the latest political scandal, said:
"Some of the testimony was bad, very bad—in fact, unanswerable. You couldn't get around it. It was like the remark of the new parlor maid."

"This girl was a greenhorn. She didn't know the pretty daughter was engaged to be married, and when the pretty daughter's intended called after a week's absence from town this is what the parlor maid said to him:
"Miss Minnie you're wantin'?"
Well, I don't know whether she's in or not. But if you're the young gentleman that was here last night till half-past twelve and got caught hugin' and kisin' her in the parlor why, she ain't in to you no more and never will be."—Washington Star.

Developed Since Then.
"Agustus Saint-Gaudens," said a Cornish novelist, "used to illustrate the development of art in America by a story of the past.
"He said that, in the 40s, a rich Bostonian built a fine house in the Back Bay. He decided to adorn the lawn with statuary, and, having heard of the Venus de Milo, he wrote to Rome for a replica.
"The copy duly arrived. It was in marble. But the Boston man no sooner got it than he used the railroad company for $2500 for mutilation. He won the suit, too."—Minneapolis Journal.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach growl or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?
If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medical forest plants.
