Railroad History.

Are you not led to wonder what the next century will unfold when you consider the marvelous development in industrial enterprise of the past hundred years?

The oldest railroad in this country is the Baltimore & Ohio, having been continuously in existence since 1827, the year it received its charter.

Several short railroads were in existence previous to this time, but they were small private enterprises. What may be considered the first railway built in the United States was from the granite quarries of Quincy, Mass., to tidewater, a length of five miles, which was completed in 1827.

The second railroad was begun in January, 1827, and completed in May of the same year, and extended from the coal mines to the Lehigh River at Mauch Chunk, Pa., a distance of nine miles.

In 1828 the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company constructed a railway sixteen miles long from its coal mines at Honesdale, Pa., to the termination of the canal, to transport the anthracite coal to tidewater.

These private roads were followed rapidly by the Baltimore & Ohio, the Mohawk & Hudson, the South Carolina, the Camden & Amboy, the Ithaca & Oswego, and the Lexington & Ohio, which, at the close of the year 1830, had ninety-two miles built and 463 miles projected or under construction.

Ten years after this, in 1840, there were 2816 miles of railroads in the United States, since which time railroad building advanced rapidly, and in 1909 there was in operation in the United States 230,084 miles of railroad, with second tracks and sidings amounting to 103,691 miles additional.

The original design of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad was as a road from tidewater to the Ohio river. The road originally consisted of iron-plated wooden rails and a speed of nine miles an hour was considered very wonderful in those days.

The speed of American express was, fifteen years ago, from thirty to forty miles an hour. It has now been raised to considerably over forty. Less than forty years ago Jules Verne wrote his entertaining romance, "Around the World in Eighty Days."

The first locomotives used were brought from England, and the first locomotive built in the United States was made by the West Point Foundry for the South Carolina Railroad Company, after plans by the chief engineer, Horatio Allen, and was first put upon the road on November 2, 1830.

Rules in Banking.

Do not make memoranda of any kind in your pass book.

Never destroy a certified check. If you lose one, the bank immediately requires you to give bond for the amount of the last check before it can issue a duplicate.

Never introduce any person to a bank to open an account unless you know the person well and know him to be thoroughly reliable.

Never draw your balance down to such a small amount as to cause the teller to make inquiries of the book keeper.

If you offer a note for discount and the bank should refuse, don't ask why it did not discount same, as it need not give reasons for so doing.

Never cash checks for strangers. It is dangerous. Banks are not required to receive deposits from everyone, and may refuse to do so without giving reasons.

If you should lose a signed check, stop payment at once by giving the bank notice of the check number, date, to whom payable and the amount; especially should this be done if the check is payable to bearer.

THOSE PIES OF BOYHOOD.

How delicious were the pies of boyhood. No pies now ever taste so good. What's changed, the pies? No. It's you. You've lost the strong, healthy stomach, the vigorous liver, the active kidneys, the regular bowels of boyhood.

To run; to swim and to carve. To be neat; to make a fire and to be punctual. To do any errand; to cut kindling and to sing if they can.

All Boys Should Learn

To hold their heads erect; to sew on their own buttons and to read aloud when requested.

To wipe their shoes on the mat; to cultivate a cheerful temper, and to speak pleasantly to an old person.

To attend strictly to their own business, a very important point. And finally to be as kind and as helpful to their sisters as to other boys' sisters.—Sel.

WELLS TANNERY.

Many of our people attended the funeral of W. H. Sweet at Saxton, last Sunday. Mr. Sweet was one of Saxton's best citizens—a very liberal supporter of the gospel, both at home and abroad, and always kind to the poor and needy.

He married Sarah Barnett, sister of James W. Barnett, Mrs. A. F. Baker, and Mrs. Catherine Spangler, of this place.

Mrs. Peters, of Cumberland, O., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Baker, near Wells Tannery.

Willie Reeder, of Pittsburg, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Will Harmon.

Mrs. Howard Wishart and daughter Mildred are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wishart.

Miss Mary Salkeid, of Breeze wood, is a guest of Mrs. George Sprawl.

Prof. Geo. W. Alloway, who left this community thirty six years ago, and is now a resident of Ohio, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Horton and attended the picnic last Saturday at which place he met many of his old time friends.

Miss Mary McMeans, of Johnstown, is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Swope.

The picnic held last Saturday under the auspices of the Ladies Temple was a great success in every way from early morning until almost the advent of the Sabbath. The fantastic parade excelled anything ever attempted along that line in this valley.

The speakers in the forenoon were Mrs. George Sprawl, who in a carefully prepared and well delivered address of welcome, held the interested attention of her hearers. The response was given by Mr. G. M. Sipes, of Saxton, who is so earnest in his labors against the strong drink traffic, that after a well directed reply to the address of welcome, he switched off on to the temperance track, and gave such an earnest talk, that if he seed fell upon good ground—as we hope it did it should bring forth a bountiful harvest.

Mr. Sipes was followed by Mr. J. W. Gibson, who very ably and interestingly discussed the "First Crusade, and the Principles of the Knights of the Golden Eagle." This, with instrumental and vocal music completed the morning program.

Then came the regulation picnic dinner, and every Fulton County knows what that means—an abundance of the best things to eat and drink—and you know that things never taste so good, and one's appetite never so keen, as at a picnic.

In the afternoon interesting addresses were delivered by Prof. Alloway, whose name has already been mentioned, and by Rev. Fleegal, of Three Springs, pastor of the Pine Grove Church.

The ladies wish, through the Fulton County News, which is found in nearly every home in the Valley, to express their gratitude to the large crowd, composed not only of our home people, but of many persons from across the mountains, for their presence and lavish financial support.

Work 24 Hours a Day.

The busiest little things ever made are Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globe of health, that chases weakness into strength, languor into energy, brain-fog into mental power; curing constipation, headache, chills, dyspepsia, malaria. 25c at Trout's drug store.

Arrangements have been completed for two speaking tours to be made by former President Roosevelt, one to the West and the other Southward, by special train. The first will begin on August 25th, and the principal points to be Cheyenne, Denver, Osawatimie, Kansas, Omaha, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Fargo, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Freeport, Illinois, Chicago, and Pittsburgh, returning to New York on September 10. The other will leave on October 6, and will take in Atlanta, Hot Springs, Peoria, Illinois, and some point in Indiana, returning on October 14. Many brief speeches will be delivered from the car platform at points where the train will stop for a short time.

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said: 'I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful, comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke of my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was small and smoke from an oil stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give hers up for five times its cost.'"

It has a Cabinet Top with a shelf for keeping plates and food hot. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

CAST OF A DEATH STRUGGLE.

Obtained by Placing a Martyr in a Mass of Soft Concrete.

In the museum of Algiers there is one object which is unique in the world's list of curiosities. It is a plaster cast of the martyr Geronimo in the agony of death. The Algerians put Geronimo alive into a soft mass of concrete which presently hardened into a block and was built into a fort.

This was in 1859 and about forty years later a Spanish writer described the event and told exactly how that particular block could be located. The fort stood for nearly three hundred years. Then in 1863 it was torn down, the block was identified and broken open and an almost perfect mould of the dead martyr was found within.

They filled the mould with plaster and the result, a wonderful cast, lies there in the museum to-day, face down as he died, hands and feet bound and straining, head twisted to one side in the supreme torture of that terrible martyrdom.

"It is a gruesome, fascinating thing," writes Albert Bigelow Paine in "Outing," "and you go back to look at it more than once and you slip out between times for a breath of fresh air. If I lived in Algiers and at any time should sprout a little bud of discontent with the present state of affairs—a little sympathy with the subjugated population—I would go and take a look at Geronimo and forthwith all the discontent and the sympathy would pass away and I would come out glowing in the fact that France can crack the whip and that we of the West can ride them down."

The English actor, Macready, according to Sir Squire and Lady Bancroft's recent book, "The Bancrofts' Recollections of Sixty Years," was once playing "Hamlet" in the United States.

During rehearsals he had found fault so severely with the local favorite, who took the part of the king, that his majesty determined to revenge himself upon the great tragedian at the performance by reeling, when stabbed by Hamlet, to the center of the stage, instead of remaining at the back, and falling dead upon the very spot which Macready had reserved for his own end.

The plan was carried out. Macready, on his part, groaned and prompted: "Die further up the stage, sir! What are you doing down here, sir? Get up and die elsewhere, sir!"

To the amazement of the audience, "Mr. Macready," he said, "you have had your way in rehearsal, but I am king now, and I guess I shall die where I please."

William Terriss accommodated himself to similar conditions with superior grace and humor. In rehearsing the duel in "The Corsican Brothers," he said to Irving: "Don't you think, governor, a few rays of the moon might fall on me? Nature, at least, is impartial."

Descendants of David. The history of the Sassoons is one of the most dramatic in the very dramatic story of the Hebrew race. The original Sassoon was a Bombay merchant, but the family is descended from a group known as Ibn Shoshan, who at one time held the position of noist of Toledo. The name Shoshan, which signifies "illy," in Hebrew, was gradually transformed into Sassoon, signifying "gladness." The family claim Davidic descent, and Abraham Sassoon, who flourished in the seventeenth century, stated that he was a direct descendant of Shephathiah, fifth son of David. Not only are there many references to the name in Hebrew medieval literature, but mention of it is made in the Talmud—London M. A. P.

Worse Than Noah. Mamma (to Willie, who has been playing with Noah's Ark)—"Don't be rude, Willie. I'm sure that Noah wasn't whining and complaining when he put the animals into his ark."

Willie—No; but I'll bet Noah didn't have any baby brother to lick the paint off his animals.

The Man in Need. The director of a matrimonial agency says the young girls ask only: "Who is he?" The young widows: "What is his position?" The old widows: "Where is he?"
