NEW GRENADA.

Wm. F. Laidig, of Hustontown, was a business visitor in our town last Saturday. He was looking up some work along his line as carpenter and builder.

Mrs. Alice Weaver, who spent part of the summer here and at Saltillo, left for her home in Streator, Ill., during the past week.

Arthur Cunningham's wife at Mount Union is suffering an attack of typhoid fever.

Gladys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alloway, is on the sick list.

Work has been suspended at the mines at North Point on account of there being a scarcity of water for running the engine.

C. H E Plummer and wife, of NorthPoint, visited Jacob Black's last Sunday.

Prof. and Mrs. Harry E Gress of Monessen, Pa., were guests in the home of the former's sister Mrs. Harry Gaster a few days.

Mrs. Alice McClain, of Pittsburg, spent a few days at the home of her parents in this place.

Maud Alice Neal and sonGeorge of Orbisonia, have been visiting in the home of Mrs. Neal's parents, Mr. and Mrs L. L. Cunningham, during the past two weeks.

On account of the dusty condi tion of the roads last Sunday, the Walnut Grove campmeeting did not attract very many of our peo ple.

A. J. Bolinger, of Hustontown, made a business trip to our town last Monday.

Mrs. Harvey Price, of Wood vale, spenta few days here recently. She was looking at several properties with a view to beng a resident of our town.

Responsibility a Benefit.

Responsibility is a great power developer. Where there is responsibility there is growth.

People who are never thrust into responsible positions never develop their real strength.

This is one reason why it is so rare to find very strong men and women among those who have spent their lives in subordinate positions, in the service of others They go through life comparative weakings because their pow ers have never been tested or developed by having great responsi bility thrust upon them.

Their thinking has been done for them.

They have simply curried out somebody else's program.

They have never learned to stand alone, to think for themselves, to act independently.

Because they have never been obliged to plan for themselves, they have never developed the best thing in them-their power of originality, inventiveness. initiative, independence, self-reli ance, their possible grit and stam 108.

The power to create, to make combinations, to meet emergencies, the power which comes from continuous marshalling of one's forces to meet difficult situations, to adjust means to ends, that great crisis in the life of a nation, is only developed by years of practical training under great re sponsionlity. There is nothing more mislead ing than the philosophy that if there is anything in a youth it will come out.-O. S. Marden.

On Trial.

A Scotchman stood beside the bed of his dying wife, and in tearful accents asked was there anything he could do for her.

"Yes, Sandle," she said; "I'm hoping you'll bury me in Craeburn kirkyard."

"But, my lass," he cried, "only think of the awful expense! Would ye no be comfortable here in Aberdeen?" "No. Sandle: I'd no rest in my grave unless I was buried in Craeburn." "It's too much you're askin'," said the loving husband, "and I cannot promise ye ony such thing." "Then, Sandie, I'll no give you ony peace until my bones are at rest in my native parish." "Ah, weel, Maggie," said he, "T'll just gie ye a three months' trial in Aberdeen, an' see how ye get along."

The Wells Valley Picnic.

know how their boys and girls are doing in the world, and to impress upon the minds of the young people that though a young person may make many mistakes and have a "hard row to hoe," yet by sincerity, honesty, perseverance, and courage it is possible for him to succeed.

Thirty-six years roll by, each bear ing its burdens of sorrow and joy. when there comes to my cars the an nouncement of a picnic to be held in the grove near Wells Tannery by the Ladies of the Golden Eagle. Oh, how my ears tingle with the news! How my heart bounds with delight at the thought of being there! How recollection opens memory's store house of treasured thoughts and events so that down the dim vistas of these receding years I see the stage of long ago and the actors thereon, and determine to attend this 1910 plenic.

In company with Mr. J. M. Sipe and daughter, I went to Hopewell by train and thence by surrey to Wells Tannery. The picnic was to be Saturday, July 23, but, being anxious to they might the more appreciate the be at the picnic in good time, we started Friday morning. Mr. Sipe real meaning of the K G. E. and daughter spent the night with the formers sister, Mrs. Newton Edwards and I was entertained at the home of til the afternoon. It is beyond my my cousin, James B. Horton. (Cherry power to describe the noon-day mea Jim.)

Saturday morning, at an hour which seemed very early to a city chap, I was informed that it was time to get up, if I wanted any breakfast. True to my early training, I obeyed prompt ly and thus began the day of the picnic. From that moment until about and plentiful. It is no exaggeration ten o'clock, a. m., I saw some of the most unique and mysterious objects that have ever appeared on earth. I might have thought I was in Borneo, the wilds of Africa, the jungles of India, or almost any other haunts of the "terrible terrors," if I had not been previously informed to prepare for the worst. The last two sentences refer to the fantastic parade which moved promptly at 9:30 a. m.-the line of march being from Wells Tannery to the picnic grounds and return. This parade was a credit to all who took part in it and was greatly enjoyed by all who had the pleasure of witnessing it. I cannot describe this parade as it deserves to be because I did not know at the time that I was going to early days in the Valley and events write this letter, but, being a lover of music, I remember quite distinctly the orchestra composed of an organ representing a calliope not so loud as Barnum and Bailey's: a violin possi- of love and affection, and tried to imbly used by Noah to quiet the snakes in the ark: an accordion played by the right living. Norsemen when they landed on the cost of Labrador in the year 1001; a banjo used by the first negro brought from Africa to Virginia about 1620, and other instruments equally as ancient and out of tune. By way of explanation, I might remark that these same instruments later in the day in the hands of the Sprowl Orchestra and other good players produced excellent music. Surowl Orchestra rendered many selections during the day and evening. and the music was enjoyed by all

Address of Welcome-Lady Templar Bessie Sprowl. Response-Sir Knight J. M. Sipe.

Paper - 'The first Crusade and the Principles of the K. G. E.," Sir Knight John W. Gibson. The address of welcome was well prepared and delivered in a pleasing and effectual manner. It showed much care in its preparation and was full of warm-hearted words of welcome, and was an honor to Mrs. Sprowl. The response was extemporaneous and was in keeping with the speakers' reputa tion as one who speaks out of the fullness of his heart. Brother Sine was in the home of his boyhood and spoke eloquently of those who, had been his advisers and urged all present to be faithful in the discharge of all life's duties.

The paper on the "First Crusade. etc." showld that the speaker fully understood the meaning of the crusades not only in their original sense but as applied to the Knights of the Golden Eagle. Brother Gibson's paper should be read by every one that brave Knights of old and learn the Noon having arrived, the remainder of the program was postponed unand the evening meal as well, but let it be known unto all that I and everybody else did full justice to both meals and I have not been very hungry since. Some brought their food in wagons, some in buggies, and some in wheelbarrows, but all was equally good to say that at least two hundred more people could have been fed. But eating was not all that the nicknicker did, for the ice cream and pop stand took in $130 in good U. S. money, and the merry-go-round by Whitehead brothers was in full swing all the time except during the program. After everybody had eaten to his heart's con tent and his stomach's discontent, the program was completed. Sir Knight Geo. W. Alloway, principal of schools Youngstown, Ohio, was introduced and spoke a few minutes relative to his great pleasure in meeting so many former acquaintances and hoping to shake hands with everybody present. He sooke in a reminiscent way of his connected therewith. He spoke of the great number of people who formerly lived in the Valley and who are now connected with it by the tender cords press all present with the thought of Rev. Mr. Fleegle was present and made a few very appropriate remarks, expressing his pleasure at being permitted to mingle with the people in their social gatherings and wishing that all might enjoy to the full the events of the day.

The remainder of the day and even ng was spent in such manner as each person desired, many were the groups that gathered together to engage in pleasant conversation and to ruminate upon the days that are gone.

A picnic is not complete in these present. In fact it so worked upon the days without a game of baseball, which is strictly an American institu few minutes to "skip the light fantas- afternoon. To Husband and Wife.

Preserve sacredly the privacies of your own home, your married state, and your heart. Let no fa ther or mother or sister or broth er ever presume to come between you or share the joys or sorrows that belong to you two alone.

With mutual help build your quiet world, not allowing your dearest earthly friends to be the confidants of aught that concerns your domestic peace. Let moments of alienation, if they occur, be healed at once. Never, no nev er, speak of it outside; but to each other confess and all will come out right. Never let the morrow's sun still find you at variance. Renew and renew your vow. It will do you good; and thereby your minds will be truly one .- Heart Throbs

Staggers Skeptics.

But great cures prove it's a wonderful heal er of the worst sores, ulcers, boils felons, eczema, skin eruptions, as also chapped hands, sprains and corns. Try it. 25c at Trout's drug store.

To Clean Parasols.

Do not remove the cover from the frame to launder your para sol. Instead, open it out and wash the covering thoroughly, using brush, cool water and some good white soap. After rinsing, set it in the sun to dry, if the material is white; in the shade, if the material will fade. The wire frame will not rust, and your parasol will be tound beautifully clean and dainty. It is well to wash it again in this manner in the fall, and not put it away in a soiled condition. Wrap in tissue paper and then in newspaper .--From Woman's Home Companion for August.

Mr. Ira Barnhart and Miss Etta Evans, of Thompson attended the Harvest Meeting at the Dunkard church on Pleasant Ridge last Sunday. They took dinner with Mrs. Mollie Bard, supper with Mrs. Sabina E. Roy Mellott, who had been in Illunois for sixteen months, spent the last four weeks in the home of his parents, Mr. aud Mrs. G. Wesley Mellott, in Ayr township. Accompanied by Raymond Paylor he left at noon to-day to return to Illinois.

Her Pa Was a Planter. A Kentucky girl whose father was an undertaker was sent to a fashionable New York boarding-house for a finishing term. One day one of the girls asked what business her father was in, and, fearing she would lose caste if she told the truth, she carelessly answered: "Oh, my father's a Southern planter." A Spark-Making Alloy.

When 70 per cent. of cerium is alloyed with 30 per cent. of iron, the metal thus produced possesses the remarkable property of giving off a shower of sparks when struck lightly by a steel wheel. This substance has been employed for making auto-igniters for gas-burners, miners' acetylene-lamps and clgar lighters. Recently it has been proposed to utilize it for igniting motor headlights, and even as a substitute for electric ignition in the cylinders. Doctor Brill has tried it, for the last-named purpose, but he finds that the efficacy of the alloy falls off with use. The cause of this loss of efficacy is suspected to be the presence of oil and dust.

"I Forbear to State."

Every one will recall the orator who, while declaring that he will not mention this fact, nor make any reference to that one, contrives to include both. The Kansas City Times gives an every-day instance of the same way of at once avoiding and mentioning a subject.

"I rather pride myself on one thing," said the young father. "Although I have the brighest, smartest, cutest, best youngster I ever saw, I never brag about him."

Time Measurement.

Our measurement of time into sixty minutes, each minute into sixty econds, etc., comes from the ancient Babylonians. The system was handed on to the Greeks, and the distinguished philosopher, Hipparchus, who lived about B. C. 150, introduced the Babylonian hour into Europe. Pateny, lived and wrote about A. D. 150, gave still wider currency to the Babyionian way of reckoning time.

Rip VanWinkle had been away twenty years. and we read with great interest of his return; but what can anyone imagine it was to me, who had been away thirty-six years. Schoolmates, chums, and friends whom I had not seen in all these years are now past life's meridian, and have of Ages." They then arose and contheir faces turned toward the evening of life. It seemed strange. We parted as boys and girls; we met as "getting-old" men and women. I never fully appreciated Rip's return until I attended this picnic.

But I would not forget to remark that thirty-six years thins the ranks of the living, and many whom I had known in Wells Valley have crossed the level of time to that undiscovered country from whose limit no traveler gathering. About 10 p. m., in the ever returns.

Space, time, and words fall to even hint at the commingled feeling of glad ness at the meeting, of joy at the greet ing, of lonliness for the absent, of sad ness at the parting, and the ever-shifting scenes of human life, that filled my mind and heart. I paused at one group of people to und someone whom 1 had known, then at another, and still another, throughout the day, and everybody seemed bent on making my visit a real pleasure.

Wells Valley still maintains its record for hospitality, good 'people, and the large number of boys and girls who have gone out into the world to be good and do good unto others. And while many of the older inhabitants have retired from active life, and yet a larger number have crossed the Jordan of life, still 1 am pleased to say that the present generation is tramping in the footsteps of their fathers so far as honesty and morality are concerned and along educational lines they are keeping pace with the progressiveness of the times.
