CENTER OF POPULATION.

In the predictions as to the show ing which the census figures would make there was one virtually agreed spon-that the center of population would be shifted some distance westward from its location in 1890, which was six miles southeast of Columbus, Ind., says Toledo Blade. But this pre ediction was one of the kind which goes wrong. The census people have tentalively announced that the mark will have to be moved but slightly. The west has flourished tremendous by in ten years. It has gained not anly new railroads, but the old rail roads have been renewed. Irrigation has caused new lands to be cultivated nud new cities and towns to be build ed. Such cities as Scattle have profited in wealth and population by the opening of new territory, the development of new resources, the filling in of the once deserted spaces between town and fown. But in these same ten years an immense immigration has been distributing Itself in the eastern cities-among the coal mines and steel plants of Pennsylvania, in the industrial districts of Lake Erie It has offset the settlement of the far west.

Enforcing health regulations against ignorance and prejudice frequently is accompanied by difficulties. Cholera prevails in parts of Italy, and the officials have taken wise precautions against the spread of the disease. And one result has been a riot, accompanied by the wrecking of the health whice in the town of Barletta. Of course the rioters are taking the precise course that opens the way for inwasion by the deadly ailment. This is an age of enlightenment, but there are regions where there has been little advancement in ideas since the time when plagues swept away victims by wholesale because there was not sufficient knowledge to ward off the danger.

Those who have been able to hold back their vacations until now are to be congratulated. October is one of the finest months of the year for vacations, as any one who has been fortunate enough to have two weeks free at this time will tell you. The country lies before you. There is no bet ter exercise than walking. Nature. in the full beauty of her late summer foliage, is at her best, and the crisp air of the approaching fall is notice able mornings. Soon it will be on tap all day. Why not keep up your open-air vacation habits all winter?

The world's wheat crop this year is estimated at a little under 3,500,000, 960 bushels, which will make it, with one exception, the largest ever gathered. The largest wheat crop ever gathered was that of last year, which was approximately 150,000,000 bushels more than the estimate of 1910. More than half of the shortage is figured in the crop of the United States. Although here as in Russia the crop is shorter than last year, the reserve of ald wheat held over from the previous year is larger in both countries than it was in 1909.

The United States government has ordered another large installment of the rifle "silencers," by which the noise of firing is done away with. A FINAL GOOD-BY FROM WELLMAN

Messages Picked Uy By the Wireless Station At Siasconsett, Mass., and Conveyed To the Wife and Friends Of the Expedition Leader - Still Cut Off From View By the Fog-Next Messages Likely To Be Received From Sable Island. Mak ing An Average Progress of 11 Miles An Hour.

Siasconsett, Mass. (Special). --Somewhere east of Nantucket Island. off the coast of Massachusetts and approximately 300 miles from Atlantic City, the starting point, Walter Wellman's airship America, signalled wireless "all's well" and a good-by at 12.45 o'clock Sunday afternoon and swung on up the coast through the fog. This message, the last of the day's wireless conversations, was received here by A. H. Ginman, the Marconi operator, who had been on the alert since dawn.

At 9 e'clock A. M. Siasconsett first came in touch with the giant dirig-Then, although the wireless range of the craft is comparatively short, owing to necessarily limited power and attense, the station was surprised to hear its call, "M. S. C." -clear and strong - followed by 'W," the code signature of the airship. Judging from the strength of the signals, it was assumed that the America was in close proximity to Nantucket, and immediately all the life-saving stations and lighthouses on the island were notified by telephone to keep a sharp lookout.

But the fog, which had enshrouded the America since her departure, still hung over the ocean, shutting off the view. The Marconi station, however began a rapid-fire of interrogations and learned from Jack Irwin, the America's operator, that the ship's motors had been stopped and that the dirigible was heading east-northeast and making 25 miles an hour with the wind. Nantucket's excitement was acute, but with motors idle the airship sailed along as si lently as a phantom in the sky, where ordinarily the engine's exhausts would have reverberated along the coast.

However, the electric voice of the Marconi station filled in at times what the eye and ear were denied and intermittently the operators here exchanged greetings with their late associate, who, it will be recalled, received at this station the dramatic C. Q. D." from the ill-fated steamship Republic. From that time on the signals from the airship grew steadily weaker until finally at 12.45 a message was flashed from here asking if everything aboard was O. K. Faintly came the reply "Yes." then fainter still the two letters "G. B.," good-

Unable to take observations in the fog, the America's exact position remained unknown throughout the day as has been the case since she set sail. Her course, however, has been along the steamship lines and as no word to the contrary has been received the assumption is that Mr Wellman, with 50 days' fuel and 50 days' provisions aboard, is adhering to his plan of crossing the Atlantic and landing on the British Isles. It is likely that no further wireless word from the airship will be received here.

When last heard from during the day-12.45 P. M.-the America had been in the air just 18 minutes less than 29 hours, and having covered approximately 300 miles, must have averaged in forward progress between 10 and 11 miles an hour. At this rate the craft would not pass Sable Island, 450 miles distant from Nantucket, until 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, and Cane Race. 350 miles farther, 7 o'clock Wednesday even-

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "The industrial and mercantile outlook is better than statistics of ac-
