Maxims for Teachers.

The following suggestions given to the pupils in Ipswich Seminary, where Mary Lyon was teacher sixty years ago, may be helpful to the teachers of today: Convince children that they have done wrong before you tell them that they have.

Convince the scholars by your conduct that you are their friend. Cultivate in children a love for truth and honesty. Deficiency in interest in a class may generally be traced to deficiency of interest in the teacher.

Deserve the confidence of your scholars. Do not frequently mention particular faults. Execute all your good plans, if possible.

Govern more by kindness than by precept. Govern the large and small scholars alike. Have as few conflicts as possible with those under your direction, even if you are sure of victory.

Have general exercises for the whole school daily which will secure the attention of every scholar. By this means you will cultivate social interest.

If a child is fretful, take special pains to save him from irritation, and in some indirect manner commend him for having been pleasant.

If a child is indolent, exercise your ingenuity to occupy him pleasantly in some useful employment, and then commend him for his industry.

If a pupil should be peculiarly deficient, never expose her even to the members of her class, but in recitations propose to her such questions as she can answer.

If you have a dull scholar, endeavor to gain his attention even to some neglect of the others.—Pennsylvania School Journal.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces.

Another point of etiquette lay in the gloves. A soiled pair was good enough for the country dance, but an absolutely new pair had to adorn the fair hands which graced the minuet.

The Eskimos and the Telephone. "One of the most amusing incidents in all my experience with Eskimos was when I first showed them a telephone," Gen. A. W. Greeley, the Arctic explorer, says.

The Carnegie Cactus. The big cactus of Arizona, which attains a height of 50 to 60 feet, and which has heretofore been known as the Cereus giganteus, has been found by Doctors Britton and Rose to be the type of a new and hitherto undescribed genus.

A girl may be as poor as a church mouse, but if her name is Rose you can't say she hasn't a scent to her name.

PLEASANT RIDGE.

Our school is progressing nicely under the care of C. W. Meilott. Quite a large crowd attended preaching at Ebenezer last Sunday.

Meeting began at Green Hill Monday night. Norman Meilott spent last Saturday night at E. V. Meilott's and on returning home had the luck to kill a coon that dressed sixteen pounds.

Harry Meilott spent Sunday helping Norman eat his coon. Miss Fannie Strait has returned home after having visited friends in Johnstown, Bedford, Pittsburg and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morton from McConnellsburg, spent Saturday night in the home of Henry Strait and attended preaching at Siding Hill Christian church Sunday.

McCauley Peck and family, of Tiffin, Ohio, are spending some time with friends and relatives in this neighborhood.

We were shocked to learn of the death of Mrs. Jane Ann Snyder of Needmore.

Thomas Meilott and wife of South Fork, Cambria county, were visiting Logue tiess's recently.

Logue Hess who has been quite poorly, is able to be about again. Chester Plessinger has gone to Nebraska to spend an indefinite time with relatives.

Silas Holly and wife of Whips Cove were visiting friends on this side of the mountain.

The Lady Who Danced the Minuet. The minuet was ever the aristocrat of dances. Before the lady of the eighteenth century elected to step the dainty measure she had many points to master, for to dance the minuet was to court criticism.

Another point of etiquette lay in the gloves. A soiled pair was good enough for the country dance, but an absolutely new pair had to adorn the fair hands which graced the minuet.

And so the lady of the eighteenth century on dancing bent set out with two pairs in her satchel.—London Chronicle.

Kansas newspapers are getting a lot of pleasure out of this incident, which is said to have actually happened in an eastern Kansas county. A farmer received a note from a young man who had been "going with" his daughter. It read: "Dear Sir: Wood like your daughters hand in marriage. She and me are in love. I think I need a wife. Yures trooly." The farmer replied by letter saying, "Friend you don't need a wife. You need a spelling book. Then write me again."

A Pennsylvania man has bought a wife for $75. That is another instance of the high cost of living. In the old days a few pounds of tobacco or just a little taffy was the regular price.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Somewhere a man has a valise packed with female lingerie and other wearing apparel and a young lady has his grip containing garments she cannot possibly wear. It all happened in a hurry when the young lady who went to Hagerstown from Chambersburg last Saturday, grabbed up a valise at the trolley waiting room and boarded a car for Williamsport. She did not discover that she had a valise belonging to a strange man until she opened it at her home. The owner of the valise, who was bound in another direction had to take the valise the young lady left and, if he is a married man, it will be up to him to explain some things at home. How they will ever get the tangle untangled and their own clothing back is puzzling the young lady.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all dealers.
