To Change Primary Date.

If the present plans of the political leaders are carried to completion, a bill will be introduced into the coming Legislature changing the primary election from June to the following September.

Wants to Help Some One.

For thirty years J. F. Boyer, of Fertile, Mo., needed help and couldn't find it. That's why he wants to help some one now.

Mice and matches are supposed to be responsible for a fire at Shellsburg a few days ago on the mill property of Samuel Whetstone which destroyed a feed mill, sawmill, and cider press.

PENNSYLVANIA 7,665,111.

1,227 square miles; the smallest is Philadelphia county with 130. Fulton county is sometime spoken of as "little" Fulton; but it may be well enough to remember in this connection that there are seventeen counties in Pennsylvania, that in point of area, are smaller than Fulton, and two Forest and Cameron—are smaller in population.

POPULATION BY COUNTIES.

The population of counties in Pennsylvania is:

FARM TOPICS.

The farmer should have sufficient education to enable him to intelligently fill the office of school director, tax collector, supervisor, commissioner, or any other county office.

The farmer should read more; he should take a daily newspaper.

Education originates from the farm; the boys and girls are in the open air, and are close to nature.

The farm is where all the great men came from. Eighty-five per cent, came from the farm, where they received their strength and ability.

TUESDAY MORNING SESSION.

Corn Breeding by Prof. Menges. The average yield of corn in Pennsylvania is less than 35 bushels per acre. There are 224,000 farms in the State. The average cost for feed for each farm amounts to $404.

Corn ears should average ten inches in length in this section of the county.

To test seed corn, select and number the best ears. Take five or six grains from the middle of each ear, place in a box of two inches of good earth marked off in squares with cord, two inches square, place one or two grains in each square and cover with a damp cloth for one week.

All that have germinated in that time are good ears and should be used for seed corn.

An acre of corn properly planted should contain 8,000 stalks.

Winter Eggs, or How to Make Hens Lay in January by W. Theo. Whittman.

Use your brains. Study your chickens as you would your horses.

Feed young chickens oats, wheat, and some corn.

Don't keep too many roosters. Don't trade roosters; it is better to in-breed.

Get rid of chickens that go to roost at 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon, or stay on the roost late in the morning.

Don't have roosters running around this time of year.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

A good paper full of common sense and solid facts "The Farmer as a citizen" was read by J. L. Patterson.

Exhaustion and Restoration of the Soil by Henry W. Northup.

The soil is the farmer's bank.

It is not what you have but what you take care of that makes the farmer.

Plough and harrow to hold moisture.

To hold moisture is to succeed in farming.

TUESDAY EVENING SESSION.

The Old Orchard by D. K. Murray.

The old orchard is profitable. It is at its prime at thirty-five years. Trim the center of the tree out, so the sun and air can get in.

Farm the old orchard. Manure it. Lime and Sulphur boiled together will kill the San Jose Scale, or any fungus disease.

Proportion of 63 lbs. of lime to 125 of sulphur.

In starting an orchard in new ground, sow in rye and plant early in spring.

After the session Mr. Murray gave a demonstration of pruning in W. F. Hart's orchard.

TUESDAY EVENING SESSION.

Song—My Old Kentucky Home. Recitation by Miss Blanche Smith.

Necessity of Education for the Farmer, by D. K. Murray.

The noblest pursuit of the man is the farmer.

The farmers are the foundations of our country. Give the boys a chance; don't keep them too close. Give them money to spend when they go on an outing. Give them musical instruments.

Nothing too good for the boys on the farm.

Daily papers are a necessity as are magazines and rural delivery.

We cannot arrive at our best work or attain our highest standard without education.

Duett by Misses Emmer Palmer and Esta Hart.

Desirable Country Homes and How to Enjoy them.

Plenty of cellar room, kitchen and pantry close together.

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

Is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. Apply a match and it is immediately at work. It will burn for nine hours without refilling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. It has a damper top and a cool handle. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font.

It has an automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be quickly unscrewed for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

Desires Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Local Institutes.

The fifth local institute of Bethel township was held at Gordon's school, December 2, 1910. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Edgar Hann. The following questions: 1 Self government, to what extent. 2 Value of good English in school; how obtained. 3 School-room freedom, were well discussed by the teachers present, viz. Mr. Hann, Miss Yonker from Bethel, also, Mr. S. L. Bernhard, a former Fulton county teacher, but who is teaching in Maryland at present. The manner in which the literary work was rendered reflects much credit on both teacher and pupils.—Kathryn E. Yonker, Sec'y.

An Educational meeting was held at McGovern's school December 2, 1910. The meeting was called to order by the teacher Miss Brant. Questions discussed were as follows: Libraries, value of; how obtained; and how conducted? 2 Physiology, importance of. 3 Written work, value of, to what extent given. A number of excellent recitations were rendered by the school. Teachers present: Blanche Peck, Blanche Brant, Mary Ott, John Kelso and Edgar Alexander.—Mary Ott, Sec'y.
