Sedentary habits, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient mastication of food, constipation, a torpid liver, worry and anxiety, are the most common causes of stomach troubles. Correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be well again. For sale by all dealers.

Mr. George W. Paylor, tenant farmer on the Sanner Ray farm near Webster Mills had the misfortune a few days ago to have one of his legs badly fractured. It happened in the kitchen, when in a little friendly "tussle" with his farm hand Clark Wright, he got his body in a twist and snapped the bones off.

You are probably aware that pneumonia always results from a cold, but you never heard of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. Why take the risk when this remedy may be had for a trifle? For sale by all dealers.

Osterburg, Bedford county and vicinity are now in the throes of a genuine oil excitement. The belief of the people of that community that there is oil in that territory received fresh confirmation during the past two weeks, all due to the fact that oil has been discovered in a well on the farm of George Deffenbaugh who lives about half way between Osterburg and Imbler.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pains in the side or chest give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Sold by all dealers.

John Yeager, well known in this community but now a resident of Franklin county is in trouble again. It may be remembered that about a year ago he made an unmerciful attack on his wife and almost killed her. About the same time he made a threat that he would kill his father-in-law, the first time he got his eyes on him. Yeager was on a load of hay at Loudon last Thursday when he saw his father-in-law, John Rothrock, approaching. He got down and went to the side of the highway where he gathered up several stones. Then he awaited his approach and began firing several stones when not far apart. One of the stones struck Mr. Rothrock on the head and injured him severely. Yeager then jumped upon him and it is believed was about to carry out his threat when a number of neighbors caught him.

Our old friend Joseph B. Chambers, formerly of the Cove, but for several years a resident of South Wayne, Wis., in sending the cash to renew his subscription says, that they have but little snow this winter, and but few cold days. Just at this time the ground is covered with a coating of ice. Mr. Chambers underwent a surgical operation for an attack of appendicitis recently, and is just beginning to be out again.

Rev. S. B. Hoffman, of Clarendon, Pa., formerly of Dublin Mills this county writes that he has had several letters of condolence from friends in this county, and desires to say through the News that he is thankful that he is able to say that there has not been any circumstances in his family lately to call for such letters. The misunderstanding came from our Dublin Mills correspondent of the issue of January 28th saying that Ada, a daughter of Rev. Hoffman, had died. We are informed that a child of Rev. Frank Strayer, a former pastor of the U. B. congregations in this county, died recently, and we suspect that the Dublin Mills correspondent was incorrectly informed.

In remitting the cash to advance her subscription to the FULTON COUNTY NEWS into the year 1912, Mrs. J. E. Carberry, of Canonsburg, Pa., says: "The NEWS is a welcome guest into our family every Friday. It comes like a letter from home telling us of old friends who have crossed the river or of those who are starting out joyously in matrimonial ventures. The common place gossip of the correspondents all means much to us when we get away from the county. In our town we have two tin-mills, one bridge works, one large pottery, and another in course of erection. We have the Buffalo coal mines here, but they are only working two or three days a week. Everything else is running full time."

Andrew Musselman, a farmer near Milnor, Franklin county was killed by lightning during an electric storm last Friday evening. Andrew had been at the store at Milnor during the evening and started to go home. He was walking along a wire fence on the road when the bolt hit the fence. The lightning then jumped over onto his head. The burns on his body showed that it ran down his back and one leg to the knee. Then it jumped over to the other leg and ran down it and into the ground. In entering the ground the electricity had torn off the man's shoe and hurled it across the fence into the field. Mr. Musselman was smoking a pipe and chewing tobacco and when he was found Saturday morning both were still in his mouth, indicating that death had come instantly. His body was horribly burned. The fence was also torn.

Table Manners.

"Table manners in their simplest form are so taken for granted by well-bred people that at the first impulse it seems almost unnecessary to give instructions concerning details of behavior," says Christine Terhune Herrick in Woman's Home Companion for January. "But the offenses against convention we all see at times prove that everyone does not know exactly what constitutes good conduct at meals."

"Is it needful at this stage of civilization to say that one should not eat with the knife? It ought to be, but I am afraid it is not. Those of us who are accustomed to eating only in our own homes or at tables of our friends are prone to think that none but barbarians eat with their knives. A little foreign travel is likely to cure us of that notion. Not only foreigners whom we meet at hotels or in prisons shock our sensibilities by such offenses, but our own countrymen often show us examples of their skill in sword-swallowing exploits. "Yet in no circumstances is eating with the knife anything but a crime against good manners. The knife is to cut with, the fork to be used in eating."

During the months of July, August and September last the number of persons killed in train accidents was 321, while 3,892 were injured.
