Samuel Birch, of Beetown, Wis., had a most narrow escape from losing his leg, as no doctor could heal the frightful sore that developed but at last Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it completely. Its greatest healer of ulcers, burns, boils, eczema, scalds, cuts, corns, cold-sores, bruises and piles on earth. Try it. 25c. at Trout's drug Store.

LOCAL HISTORY.

he visited his traps to secure the catch. The foxes, opossums, minks, muskrats, etc., which were found in his traps, he brought to the school house, and at the noon recess, the boys had no end of rare fun and enjoyment while skinning them.
In 1806, a school house, the exact location of which I have been unable to ascertain, stood near the home buildings on the old Thomas Griffith place. School was "kept" in it for several years, A Mr. Young was one of the teachers there.

In 1809, three schools, up-to-date in character of work done in them, and very well patronized, were in operation in Wells Valley. The teachers were John Alexander, — Ryan and — Roach.
The common school system was established in 1834; and according to the law governing the operation of the same, the qualified voters in each borough and township might adopt or reject the system at an election held to determine the matter. In accordance with this law an election was held in Hopewell township, Bedford county, of which Wells Valley was a part, early in 1835. The election resulted in the adoption of the school system by a decided majority. It would be very interesting to know how Wells Valley voters stood at that election. Very soon after this election, six school directors were elected in Hopewell township, of which number Thomas Speer of Wells Valley was one. He owned and occupied the farm now owned by George W. Sipe. He was the father of the late W. A. Speer of Salvia. Immediately after the organization of this board, they decided to build a number of school houses, two of which were to be in Wells Valley. These two were built in 1835—one at Gibson's, the other at Biven's. The first stood at foot of a steep hill field close to Gibson's Run, and near the present residence of Mr. J. W. Gibson. The other was located in an angle formed by the intersection of main valley road and Roaring Run on left of run and left of road looking toward New Grenada where run is spanned by a bridge near U. B. church.

Because these houses were frame weather-boarded buildings, inside walls and ceiling plastered, larger than school houses usually were and warmed by old fashioned ten-plate stove instead of chimney fires, they were considered very fine. Each was lighted by three windows—one on each side and one in end opposite the door. These windows were long ones, extending nearly the length of the building and wide as the breadth of three 8 by 10 panes of glass.
The Gibson house was used for school purposes until end of term of 1857-8, when it became the property of Mr. Alexander Gibson, who used most of it for fuel; but parts of it can now be seen as part of the granary in Mr. J. W. Gibson's barn.
The Bivens house did duty as a school house until close of term of 1861-2, when it, too, became fuel. What memories and associations the thought of those old school houses call up.
The seats in those old school houses were made of slabs—flat side up—supported on stout sticks firmly fixed in auger holes bored in the slabs. There were no back supports to any of those seats, except in case of one at Gibson's. The desks were made of boards resting on strong supports fastened to the walls on both sides and one end of the building. When seated at the desks, pupils faced the walls with their backs toward the teacher. The only exception to this style of desk was on the "boys side" at Gibson's. Near the wall extending length of building was a double desk at which the boys sat facing one another.

The intention was to open free school in those houses in fall of 1835; but it was found that the cost of construction of such fine buildings had exhausted the school funds; therefore, the opening of free schools was postponed until more taxes could be levied and collected. During term of 1835-6 subscription schools were taught in the new school houses by Messrs. Wm. Gray, sr., at Gibson's, and Ebenezer Droneberger at Bivens.

Exciting Story.

Elk lake, in Sullivan county, concealed for a time one of the deepest of Pennsylvania's criminal mysteries.

Nearly fifty years ago John Ventengruber, a little old cobbler, who lived near the lake, disappeared. No trace of him could be found. All during the snow-covered and ice-bound winter officers of the law made search for the little old German or his body. He seemed to have vanished as completely as if the earth had swallowed him up.
The story is one of the most exciting of The North American's series of Pennsylvania crime mysteries. All who are interested in the criminal mysteries of the state will want to read this number of the series.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

WHIPS COVE.

Easter gave us some very interesting weather—snow, rain, snow, then a little sunshine to season the mixture—was the order of the day.
An excellent sermon was delivered at the Whips Cove church Sunday evening by Rev. Kauff man on the resurrection, after which the Foreign Missionary offering was taken, the people responded very liberally, the contributions amounting to $13.35—almost four times the amount contributed at any time here-tofore.
The Sunday school is progressing nicely.
M. E. Barton and daughter Miss Ada of Crystal Springs were in the Cove last week.

Sunday visitors and visited:—Sherman Truax and wife in the home of Ed Diehl; Robert Diehl and family in the home of Will Diehl; D. C. Mallott and family in the home of J. M. Truax; Watson Plessinger and wife in vicinity of Emmaville; "Listen for wedding bells;" Alfred Layton and wife in the home of S. Logue Wink of Sipes Mills; Leslie Hart who spent the winter at a Philadelphia Hospital returned home a few days ago little if any, improved in health.
George Layton has improved his dwelling with a new kitchen. Curtis Diehl was partly run over with a wagon but fortunately was not seriously injured.
The farmers generally have little if any, corn ground broken yet. Hustle up Mr. Farmers or you'll come out like a cow's tail. Stock dealers were in the Cove a few days ago and bought quite a number of kine.
Billy Stetler has about completed his lumber job in the upper end of the Cove.

DUBLIN MILLS.

Harvey Bergstresser Jr., was seen in our town last Saturday evening.
Some of the young people of this community attended Easter services at Center church last Sunday.
The miners of our town have little or no work now since the mines have nearly shut down.
Dorsey Brown purchased for himself a fine horse recently.

William Summers has made sale and moved onto a farm in Delaware. He is located within a few miles of Bridgeville, and near to the home of his brother-in-law, Samuel C. Yeakle, who moved from Mercersburg a few weeks ago.

MAKE THIS TEST.

How to Tell if Your is Diseased.

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent. of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. Leslie W. Seylar.

WEST DUBLIN.

A number of our young people attended the Easter service at Center on last Sunday forenoon and report a good attendance, pleasing decorations and a well rendered program.

Rev. McGarvey preached an Easter sermon at Fairview on Sunday afternoon from Luke 24:15.

Viola Mumma of Hustontown was a visitor in the family of her uncle Hiram Clevenger last Sunday.

T. Franklin Davis spent Sunday with friends in Wells Valley.

There was quite a small attendance at the Sunday School convention on Wednesday afternoon. Wednesday evening the attendance was much better, and it is hoped that the earnest talks of Rev. Diehl and Miss Robinson left an impression for good that may be lasting. A number of the Sunday school officers and scholars present agreed to join a Teachers Training class.

E. H. Kirk has been ailing the past few days with a bad cold.

The friends of James Doran in this community were sorry to learn of his death on last Wednesday. Mr. Doran was one of Taylor township's oldest citizens, a veteran of the Civil War and an honest and upright citizen.

G. C. Melius another of our Civil War veterans is quite poorly.

DOTT.

Easter is over and—how many eggs did you eat?

The schools are all closed in this township. And the teachers have gone home.

Milton B. Hill and family spent Sunday with his brother Howard and family at Warfordsburg.

Bert Truax who had the misfortune last winter while loading cross-ties to slip and break his arm is slowly improving. Wilbert Layton who cut his foot at Bridges saw mill several weeks ago is mending slowly.

Bub Hess wife and son Ray spent Easter with D. Garland's. There has been but very little ploughing done through here. We wonder if the farmers will have their corn planted this year till the first of May.

Those who spent Easter with Maye Carnell were Bessie Morton, Opal and Verdie Sharpe, Belle Mellott, Lemuel Hendershot, George Deshong and Sherman Sharpe.

Every body is glad to hear that the state road is expected through Fulton county.

Prayer Meeting at Cedar Grove next Sunday morning at 10:30.

Fruit trees have not been injured by the backward spring. The conditions have been favorable for a good crop. The buds have not been pushed forward sufficiently to be injured by the present cool weather, and when they do open we will not be likely to have frosts severe enough to injure them. About the only thing now possible to injure the crop would be drowning caused by continued wet spell just while the blossoms are open.

Mrs. Charles Mellott, of Hustontown, called at the News office a few minutes while in town doing some Easter shopping last Saturday.

THOMPSON.

The sick in our community are all slowly improving.

J. C. Comer and daughter Miss Anna, of Plum Run, spent a day in Hagerstown recently.

Miss Annie Douglass is spending a few weeks with her sister Mrs. Will Philips at Warren Point.

Miss Nellie Hess spent last Sunday with her sister Miss Mamie at Warfordsburg.

A. B. Gordon had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse recently.

Miss Bess Simpson has gone to Mercersburg to assist her sister Mrs. Atkinson in her spring millinery work.

The Easter entertainment held at Rehoboth last Sunday evening was largely attended. The music and recitations were excellent, and the Sunday school was fortunate enough to have with them the Hon. D. T. Humbert, who made an address which was appreciated by all who heard it.

Elder C. L. Funk will preach at Damascus next Sunday at 10:30.

D. Carl Mallott, Whips Cove's irrepresible typewriter man, stopped a few hours in town Monday on his way to Mercersburg. Besides selling a good type writing machine, he is agent for a good life insurance company. While most of the older men carry life insurance now, there is a crop of young fellows coming on, and they cannot begin too early in life to provide that protection which means so much in case of unlooked for misfortune.

The Wisconsin Legislature has passed an act submitting the question of women suffrage to a vote of the people at the next election. Under the act, if it receives popular approval, women will have the right to vote for all officers but President. To obtain even this concession is a victory for the suffragists, but it will be a great one to secure a majority for it at the polls.

Preston Everts, who had been working on a farm in Franklin county during the past five years, spent several days during the past week visiting among relatives and friends in this county. On Tuesday, Mr. Everts left for Gilman, Iowa, where his brother Joseph lives, and he expects to work on a farm in Iowa this year. Preston is a good boy, and the News wishes him success.

Eddie Plank, Gettysburg, the Athletic great pitcher, says: "There is more work, actual work in twirling one game of baseball than there is in two days' work on the farm. I get up at sunrise and work until sundown in the country and then sleep like a baby. But let me pitch a game of ball and my arm aches. I'm sore all over and cannot sleep for pain."

Mr. Nathan H. Mellott, of Belfast township was in town a few hours Tuesday. Although Mr. Mellott, has passed his three score years and is the last member of a large family, he does not think it any great trick to walk from his home to McConnellsburg and return in a day—a round trip distance of thirty-two miles.
