after you take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and you'll quickly enjoy their fine results. Constipation and indigestion vanish and fine appetite returns. They regulate stomach, liver and bowels and impart new strength and energy to the whole system. Try them. Only 25c at Trout's drug store.

COVALT.

The crops in this vicinity are poor, caused by the continued dry weather. There have been a few rains, but they came too late to benefit the growing crops.

Singing at Antioch Sunday evening was well attended, several people stopping on their return from the dedication of the Christian Church at Laurel Ridge.

James Shives spent Sunday evening at the home of William Sigel.

Ira Gordon and Mary Bishop attended singing at Antioch Sunday evening.

John Lanehart and wife and T. B. Mellott and wife attended the dedication at Laurel Ridge last Sunday, and report a very large crowd.

Mrs. Clarence Brewer, who had been suffering from tuberculosis was buried on the twelfth at the Baptist church at Tonoloway.

The farmers and lumbermen are kept busy now delivering Harry Balser's ties and lumber to market. Some of the teams make a trip every day.

T. B. Mellott purchased a new buggy and horse a few days ago.

Elmer Edwards and Mabelle Hill spent Sunday at Laurel Ridge.

Army Peck and Etta Mellott, both of Sharpe, were married last Sunday.

Miss Lola Wilson, after having spent some time at her home near Knobsville, has again returned to Hustontown, and resumed her duties as postmistress.

CIRCUS AT CHAMBERSBURG.

Many From This Section Will Visit Forepaugh and Sells Bros. Show.

Many people from McConnellsburg and immediate neighborhood will see Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' big circus at Chambersburg next Monday. Transportation lines are preparing for the day and the indications point to a great circus event.

The Forepaugh & Sells Brothers' organization this season is remarkably attractive, more so than ever before in its fifty years of travel. The performance is being given by the world's 400 best artists, the menagerie has been newly reorganized and the forenoon parade is a masterpiece of pageantry. The thrillers of the show are the double somersaulting automobile, the Ty Bells "Human Butter" act and the sensation wild riding of the Pajara family of Gypsies.

Capt. Webb's two troupes of riding and juggling seals, Taylor's wonderful monkey and dog circus, the Hines-Kimball troupe of acrobats, the Alvo, the Alpine and the La Fayette families of aerialist and the fifty funniest clowns on earth are a few of the more prominent features. There are over 100 big acts, all novelties and the entire show is newly equipped and costumed. Over $3,000,000 has been spent in building the new outfit and the result is dazzling.

For many years the Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' circus has been the pattern of excellence. This year it is vastly improved and enlarged. It now travels on a train more than one mile in length. Its many tents cover ten acres of ground and it gives employment to 1,124 men, women and children. In the menagerie are 728 of the rarest specimens of animal life and in the canvas stables are 550 of the finest horses in the world. The parade equipment was all built last winter in the foreign workshops of the show near Liverpool. The work was done by the best artists, designers, sculptors and spectacle builders of France and Italy.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Pennsylvania Demonstration Orchards.

Are you aware of the fact that Pennsylvania is rapidly moving toward the very front of fruit-producing states? To say that this is true is making an important statement, which is now beyond question. It has been demonstrated in every county of Pennsylvania, that there is not one of the sixty-seven counties of this Commonwealth that is not adapted to the successful and profitable growing of fruits, especially apples.

It is true that the same varieties of apples will not grow profitably in all of the Counties of Pennsylvania, but the grower who understands his business can select those varieties suited to proper local conditions in each and every county, and can by the methods which are now being demonstrated by the State Zoologist, H. A. Surface, and his assistants, in the Department of Agriculture, grow fruits as fine in appearance, and much better in quality, than those grows in the Far West.

Recently in a conversation with a member of the Pennsylvania Senate, who is much interested in the possibilities of this State, Doctor Surface said, "For profitable apple growing in Pennsylvania, one point is the selection of site or location, another is the selection of proper varieties; and eight points are in the proper care of the trees, to make up the ten essential points for success."

"In the care of the trees we must consider planting, pruning, spraying, fertilizing, cultivating, thinning, picking, and packing. Pests can be and must be absolutely controlled. The fruits must be not only first-class, but 'fancy,' and must be gathered and packed in not only an honest, but in a very attractive and strictly business-like manner.

"Pest control is the most important of all these features, but for complete success each is essential, and it must be thoroughly modern and correct. Knowledge is power only when practically applied. Let our beginning as well as our advanced fruit growers keep their eyes on the 1200 Model Orchards established by the division of Zoology of the Department of Agriculture in this State, and see what they can learn that will benefit them.

"The dormant spraying for scale insects has just been completed, and the spring spraying for the Codling moth, the Curculio, canker, worm, and plant diseases is now being arranged."

Announcements will be made later through the public press.

Self Control.

There is really no law like the law of self control. It is beyond all dispute that the very first lesson to be taught a boy is self-mastery, says the Lancaster News. There is no sight calculated to awaken such contempt as a kicking two-year old whose wild anger, as he pounds the floor with his heels, is allowed to go unspanked by the coddling parent. Tell that little, sweet barbarian that this world is so put together that he had better die young than attempt the world with such a temper. If those who love him most fail to get in this idea, it will be got in by a later surgical operation performed by society for its own protection. Frequently this later surgery proves fatal.

Soberly stated, an ungovernable temper is without excuse, is a curse to its owner and all his kin, and is simply intolerable to everybody else. There never was a child, probably, who did not start to try the thing a few times. It is a universal inheritance. There never was a child—unless unnatural—whose bad temper could not be wholly cured by wise, patient, affectionate, constant and firm parental teaching. The adult mind should place its own strong will at the disposal of the small chap, till he gets hold of his strong will.

That is the whole story. Revolvers and knives are not the fault. It is the rotten self-control that is at fault. And not only as regard homicides, but a word of other passionate and quick offenses.

It is unbearable when one has schooled himself to be a master, often with the most exhausting and constant struggle, to have some wild man let fly, and then creep back to "Beg your pardon; I have a quick temper." "Have you? So have I. Saw yours off. I am sawing mine off, painfully, every day. No, I will not pardon you, in what I would not pardon myself."

DR. DIXON DEFENDS DAIRY FARMERS

Declares Milk Often Becomes Polluted After Leaving Their Hands on Way to Consumer.

SANITARY LAWS ARE BROKEN

"Don't let's put too much blame on the farmers," says State Health Commissioner Dixon, in discussing the question of a pure milk supply, a problem that is troubling so many municipalities throughout Pennsylvania.

"As an old farmer myself who has led the reapers around the wheat field, swinging a cradle and then in the evening milking my share of the cows, I am naturally favorable to the dairy farmer, but it is the close study of actual conditions that convinces me that the first disease germs often, perhaps most frequently, get into the milk after it has passed out of the farmer's control.

"The farmer appreciates more today than ever the necessity of keeping milk clean. He knows that if it reaches the market sweet and pure the demand will be increased. He is up against a difficult task to make money out of his milk dairy when he has to constantly buy new cattle to take the place of those that have gone dry, become sick or died.

Dairyman's Problems.

"He must produce or purchase food for them, keep up the stable, pay his help, constantly replenish his supply of pans, buckets, etc., and haul this milk over all kinds of roads, through all sorts of weather and then receive for all this 4 or 4½ cents a quart from the dealer.

"The milk often begins to receive pollution on the railroad, when an attendant takes off the lid of a milk can, helps himself to a drink and then replaces the lid, drippings of milk which have reached his lips going back into the can.

"Does this sound like an exaggeration? Let me cite you a case. I remember a baggage-master who once called upon me for medical advice. I found him suffering with pulmonary tuberculosis. When I advised him to drink plenty of milk he informed me that he was drinking a great deal of it. He said he hauled milk in his baggage car and that he was in the habit of drinking out of the lids of the cans.

"At the stations and along the streets the milk dealers often purchase from each other. The purchaser sticks his finger into the milk and then into his mouth to determine the sweetness and then into the second can until he tests as many cans of milk as he proposes purchasing.

Unsanitary Methods.

"Only a few days ago a gentleman came into my office to tell me he had just witnessed his own milk man hand a street cleaner a drink of milk contained in the lid of his can and then replace the lid.

"I have witnessed over and over again milk men collect bottles from their customers, poke the index finger in the mouth of one and the thumb in the other to carry the bottles to his wagon. Trusting that they had been properly cleaned by the housewife, the bottles were at once refilled, caps taken out of a pocket which also contained a handkerchief and then these bottles of milk were delivered to the next customers. It is not worth while to enumerate other instances to make my point clear, that is, we must not confine ourselves to the dairy farm in looking for conditions that render milk impure. Our municipalities throughout the state will have to keep their eyes open to the way in which the dealers and others are handling the milk after it has left the farmer's care."

PERSONAL TAXES.

Joining Mayor Gaynor, of New York City, in his opposition to the personal property tax, F. W. Upham, a member of Chicago's Board of Review, declares the law as enforced in his city is a farce. "My opinion is that only tangible property should be taxed," says Mr. Upham. "It is absolutely out of the question to make every man in Chicago declare the value of his personal wares. And at the same time this works a great hardship on honest men. When we took hold of the board we found that only $21,000,000 worth of personal property was listed. Now we have $500,000,000 worth, and I think we are cheating the people at that. If we were able, or if there was a human possibility, to collect all of the personal taxes, Chicago would be so rich that it wouldn't know what to do with the money."

Men who stand prosperly never get the credit they deserve; it looks so easy and is in fact so hard.

Some girls can't even wear an air of innocence without making it conspicuous.

WEST DUBLIN.

Mrs. Susan King is visiting her sick sister Mrs. Ripple at Shirleysburg.

Edwin Brant attended Children's Day Services at Zion M. E. church near Waterfall last Sunday.

There was an interesting baseball game on the Laidig ground Saturday afternoon. The team which had been expected to play with Laidig not having come as nearly an equitable distribution as could be made was made from the professionals and amateurs of Hustontown, Laidig, and vicinity. The result of the game was 2-0 in favor of Laidig.

Ernest Berkstresser and brother, of Waterfall, spent a recent Sunday afternoon at David Hershey's.

Mrs. Eliza Hoover spent a few days last week with friends and relatives in McConnellsburg and Licking Creek township.

Mrs. Joseph Laidig of Minersville, spent a few days last week at their farm in this township.

A force of carpenters from Hustontown with W. F. Laidig as foreman were busily engaged at J. E. Lyon's last week.

Sunday was the hottest day this year, and we believe the hottest for several years in this vicinity.

Grant Hoover spent Thursday last week with relatives at Dane.

TWO CARLOADS.

Two Carloads of Buggies at one time, seems pretty strong for a Fulton county dealer, but that is just what W. R. EVANS, Hustontown, Pa., has just received. In this lot are 5 different grades and styles of Buggies and Runabouts including the Millinburg. He has on hand a large stock of Hand Made Buggy Harness.

The Prices? Don't mention it. If the prices were not below the lowest, he would not be selling by the carload.
